Seek POW release speedup

TORNADO WRECKAGE — Bobby Riley pokes through ruins of his radiator shop which was demolished by an early-morning tornado that struck the central Texas town of Burnet. Riley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Riley occupied the living quarters, the wreckage of which is at right, and were asleep when the twister hit. Mrs. Riley received only a slight cut on her head. Her husband was unhurt.

Texas tornado toll hits seven

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The twisters that tore through central Texas over the weekend have claimed seven lives with the deaths of two more persons Sunday.

The tornadoes caused millions of dollars of damage Saturday and severely cripled the Texas towns of Hubbard and Burnet, 150 miles apart between Dallas and Austin.

The weather was somewhat calmer today with warm temperatures pushing into the northeastern states and a late winter snow storm thumping the mountain areas of the West.

Record warm temperatures were recorded over much of the Ohio Valley and into the Great Lakes Sunday. Those temperatures moved over the lower Great Lakes region today. Eastern Ohio, western Pennsylvania and southwest New York had temperatures in the 60s early today.

A band of showers and thundershowers extended from the Florida Panhandle along the Atlantic coast to Long Island. A few showers dampened areas over the Ohio Valley and lower Great Lakes.

In the West, heavy snow hit the mountains of California, Arizona, Utah, Nevada, southern Idaho and southwest Wyoming. Ely, Nevada, took on 2 inches of snow while Pocatello, Idaho, and Reno each received 1 inch.

Southern California, Arizona and the Pacific Northwest coast were soaked with scattered showers and thunderstorms.

Sleet, hail and rain soaked coastals areas of southern California and snow up to 12 inches blanketed mountain areas.

In the Los Angeles suburb of Glendale, snow, ice and hail contributed to dozens of traffic accidents on the Ventura Freeway.

Heavy rains pounded some coastal roadways so hard that state police had to guide motorists through.

In the Midwest, rains and melting snow in Wisconsin caused river banks to overflow, blocking several roads and chasing many residents from their homes.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 13 at Butte, Mont., to 77 at Key West, Fla.

Ohio agency for job safety being proposed by Gilligan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new division of Occupational Health and Safety to police Ohio's on-the-job safety laws is to be proposed this week to Gov. John Gilligan.

The proposal, prepared by two Ohio State University professors, is expected to be put in bill form and readied for introduction into the legislature by April 15.

Gilligan had requested the proposal as a way to get federal approval of the state's safety program and 50 per cent matching funds.

The proposed new division must first gain legislative approval, then approval by the U.S. Department of Labor, before the federal government will share in the cost.

OSU professor Robert C. Miljus said the federal government may phase out its four regional safety offices in Ohio if the state develops its own safety enforcement program.

Any bill that emerges from the proposal will include a penalty section, a source said. Miljus said there is presently no state penalty for violating industrial safety laws.

The Division of Safety and Hygiene, currently financed by a percentage of unemployment compensation paid by employers, will be delegated to "technical and education" functions under the proposal.

"The main thrust" of the new division will be enforcement, Miljus said.

Gilligan pledged action in the area in his state-of-the-state message to the 110th General Assembly. He said 300,000 Ohioans were injured each year in on-the-job accidents.

In other action this week, the House Finance-Appropriations Committee is expected to wrap up initial hearings conducted by various subcommittees on the administration's $9.7 billion biennial budget.

The House is expected to vote Tuesday on a bill that would provide up to six months in jail and a $1,000 fine for anybody tampering with any safety device.

Gray hearing winds down in senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee today expects to complete its hearing of public witnesses on the nomination of L. Patrick Gray III to be FBI director. Then will come an attempt to get testimony from White House counsel John Dean.

Scheduled witnesses include Edward Scheidt of Reston, Va., an FBI agent for 22 years before his retirement in 1953; Stephen I. Schlossberg, general counsel of the United Auto Workers, and Quinn Tamm, executive director of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

The committee is expected to meet in executive session Tuesday to vote on a motion by Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., to ask Dean to testify about his role in the FBI's investigation of the break-in and bugging of Democratic offices in Washington's Watergate complex.

Tunney says he believes he has the votes to invite Dean. But President Nixon has said he will not permit Dean to testify, on grounds that any discussions Dean had in the capacity of heading a White House investigation of the Watergate affair or as the President's attorney should remain confidential.

John D. Ehrlichman, assistant to the President for domestic affairs, said Sunday that the White House has not wavered on the Gray nomination and called Tunney's actions political.

"The same kind of John Tunney politics is being played as he played in the ITT case and I think the outcome is going to be the same," Ehrlichman said on ABC's "Issues and Answers." "Senator Tunney is going to be repudiated by the Senate the same way he was in the ITT case."

Weather

Cloudy, windy and cooler with a chance of showers north and central, highs in the 50s and low 60s. Clearing and cooler tonight, lows in the mid 30s to the mid 40s. Sunny and warmer Tuesday, highs in the 60s.

Viet Cong promises more lists

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam today delivered a list of 108 American prisoners it will release in Hanoi on Wednesday; meanwhile, the United States again suspended the withdrawal of American troops to insure the Communists release all 286 Americans they still hold.

The Viet Cong promised a list on Tuesday of approximately 30 prisoners of war captured in South Vietnam who will be released in Hanoi on Thursday.

The U.S. delegation radioed the list from the North Vietnamese to Washington for notification of the prisoners' families. The list was to be made public by the Defense Department later today.

Bui Tin, the chief North Vietnamese spokesman in Saigon, said all those to be released on Wednesday were airmen shot down in late 1967 and 1968. He said they included Lt. Cmdr. John S. McCain III, son of the former commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific.

Those to be released on Thursday are expected to include Maj. Floyd Thompson, the POW who has been held longest, and Philip Manhard, the highest-ranking civilian POW.

Those turnovers will constitute the third phase of the POW release, leaving one group of about 156 to be freed by March 28, two months after the Jan. 28 start of the ceasefire. March 28 also is the deadline for the withdrawal of all American and other foreign allied forces.

A U.S. spokesman said troop withdrawals were suspended to "make damn sure we get all of the prisoners." He said he foresaw no problem and noted that both North Vietnam and the Viet Cong have said they will comply with the agreement. But "we want to make absolutely certain," he added.

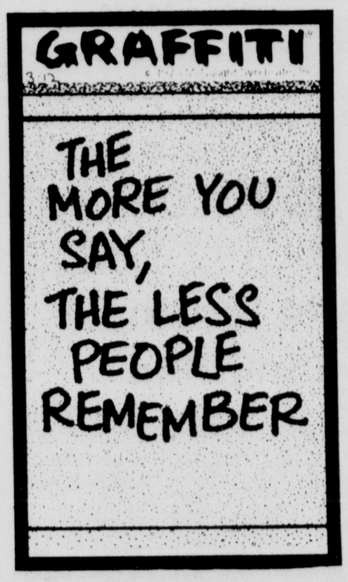
The spokesman said U.S. troop strength in Vietnam now totals 6,935 men, compared with 23,516 on Jan. 28. Foreign allied troops, primarily South Koreans, have dropped from 35,509 to 5,607.

"We've withdrawn our troops at a steady flow, and we haven't been getting a steady flow of prisoners," the spokesman added.

The Communists have released 299 Americans in three groups, on Feb. 12, Feb. 18 and March 4-5. This is a little more than half the 585 American prisoners they admitted holding.

The United States also suspended troop withdrawals on Feb. 28 when the Communists delayed release of American prisoners for five days in a dispute over other provisions of the cease-fire agreement.

Meanwhile, the Vietnamese-American Joint Military Commission sent to the International Commission of Control and Supervision a request today for an on-site investigation of Communist charges that South Vietnamese forces have been attacking Duc Pho. It is an exchange point for Vietnamese prisoners on the northern coast 100 miles south of Da Nang.



THE SCOREBOARD TELLS THE STORY — Miami Trace cheerleaders, players and coaches race onto the floor after the final buzzer in the Panthers' electrifying 43-40 district championship win over eighth-ranked Chillicothe Saturday night at the Ohio University Convocation Center. The Jan Stauffer coached Fayette Countians parlayed a tough zone defense with some timely scoring to upend the Cavaliers, who defeated them earlier in the season. The Panthers will now face Columbus South in the opening round of the Regional Tournament at the Fairground Coliseum Friday. The win gave Miami Trace their first district crown in three attempts.

Ticket sales set for regional

Ticket plans for Friday night's game between Miami Trace and Columbus South in the Class AAA Regional basketball tournament at the Fairgrounds Coliseum in Columbus have been completed by school officials.

Delmar Mowery, athletic director at Miami Trace High School, said that Miami Trace has been alloted four sections of reserved seats and nine sections of general admission seats. The MT seats are located at the east end of the Coliseum.

The entire pre-sale of tickets for the tournament game will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The reserved seats, which are located in sections 1-4, are priced at $2.50 per person, while the general admission seats, situated in sections 5-13, are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Mowery noted that at the main entrance there will be both student and adult gates. Adults, holding student tickets, will not be admitted to the Coliseum, he said.

A pre-sale of adult and a limited number of student tickets will be held Tuesday and Wednesday only at the Washington Paint and Glass store, 124 N. Fayette St., Mowery said. A student ticket sale will also be held at Miami Trace High School on those days.

MIAMI TRACE has been alloted a total of 2,500 tickets. Only adult general admission and reserved seats will be on sale at the door, if available.

The Fairgrounds Coliseum has a seating capacity of 6,300.

A 25-cent fee will be charged to persons parking at the state fairgrounds.

Miami Trace (16-6) will meet fifth-ranked Columbus South (19-2) at 5 p.m. Friday. Newark (20-2) and Findlay (16-6) will play at 8:30 p.m. The two winners will meet at 7:30 p.m. Saturday for a trip to state basketball tournament at St. John Arena on the Ohio State University campus.

Persons attending the Miami Trace-Columbus South game will be cleared from the gymnasium prior to the Newark-Findlay game, Mowery said.

Bermuda governor, aide slain

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — More Scotland Yard detectives were due in Bermuda today to join the investigation of the murder of the island's British governor and his aide-de-camp. Police said they were questioning a number of persons but had made no arrests.

Gov. Sir Richard Sharples, 57, and Capt. Hugh Sayers, 25, were shot shortly before midnight Saturday. Their bodies were found outside the front door of Government House, the governor's residence.

Police said they did not know how many gunmen were involved in the slayings, which occurred after a small dinner party while the men were walking Sharples' pet great Dane, Horsa. The dog also was killed.

There were no security measures in effect at the time for the 15 acre park that surrounds the residence about a mile from Hamilton. Only the usual unarmed guard was on duty at the mansion.

A state of emergency was declared immediately, giving police the power to keep suspects from leaving the island. It appeared to have virtually no effect on the thousands of tourists jamming hotels.

Nearly all sporting events were cancelled Sunday; but other activities were normal, though many persons expressed grief or shock over the killings.

Sir Edward Richards, the government leader in the island's legislature, told a news conference he could not say if the murders were politically motivated.

Two Scotland Yard men who had investigated the murder of Bermuda's police commissioner last fall returned to the island Sunday. Det. Chief Supt. Bill Wright and Inspector Basil Hadrell had returned to Britain two weeks ago, and there has been no word of the results of their investigation into the killing of Commissioner George Duckett and the wounding of his 17-year-old daughter. They were shot during the evening outside their home six months to the day before the killing of the governor.

Officials said they had not established any link between the two incidents.

Coffee Break . .

THIS SPRING-LIKE weather of the last few days of course won't last until summer, but it's a tipoff of what's to come before long . . . With the spring flowers will come grass . . . And with the grass will come the mowing . . . Superintendent John Spengler, of Washington Cemetery, already has the mowers in shape and ready for the caretaking crew to move in . . . There's one more thing to be done, however . . . The vases, pots, faded wreaths and blankets and artificial flower arrangements must be gathered up by the families to clear the way for the mowers . . . Spengler did not set any deadline for their removal .. . But he did say if they are not picked up they probably will be thrown away .. . The crews just can't take time to mow around or move grave memorials, he explained . . .

IT'S A SHAME such an active and imaginative mind should get off on the wrong track . . . It seemed like a good idea this youngster dreamed up . . . But it only got him in trouble again . . . He's only 15 or 16 years old and already was on probation for previous misdeeds . . . So, the identity of the boy who stationed himself at the Fairground gate and started charging 25 cents per car going through was nabbed after he had put the touch on five cars . . . It could have been easy for him to get away with his little scheme because there is a 25-cent gate charge for the summer shows, but none for the winter shows . . . The youngster didn't even get to keep the $1.25 he had collected . . .

Freed American flies home from Red China; mother ill

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — John T. Downey, the last American prisoner of the Korean War, was freed from China today and flew home to see his seriously ill mother in Connecticut.

Peking let the CIA operative go after an appeal from President Nixon that he be allowed to join his 75-year-old mother, Mary Downey of New Britain. His release had been expected as a result of the visits to Peking by Nixon and Henry A. Kissinger but not until later this year. The other two Americans known to be held in China, Air Force Maj. Philip E. Smith and Lt. Cmdr. Robert J. Flynn, are scheduled to be freed on Thursday. Downey told Red Cross representatives that he was in the same cell block with them and both appeared to be in "excellent spirits and health."

Both Smith and Flynn were shot down on missions in Vietnam when they strayed over China. Downey, who has spent nearly 21 of his 42 years in Chinese prisons, looked pale but smiled continuously when he arrived at Clark Air Base from Hong Kong. He told newsmen he was "fine."

At Clark he found his brother William, a New York attorney, who arrived several hours earlier.

"I just want to say how grateful I am for being released," Downey told newsmen. "And I appreciate the Chinese government letting me go at this time, and President Nixon for his efforts on my behalf, and Dr. Kissinger. I'm very pleased to be out; and at the same time, I'm very anxious to get home and see my mother."

William Downey said a doctor had examined his brother on the flight from Hong Kong and "he checks out fine on a preliminary examination. He certainly feels and looks good."

Hopes for peace at Wounded Knee apparently gone

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — The shooting of an FBI agent and an Indian declaration that no federal officials will be permitted to enter Wounded Knee have dampened hopes for a permanent peace.

Interior Department officials said they would not comment on issues until midafternoon today, and there was no indication that talks were scheduled with Indian leaders.

Meanwhile, a grand jury was to convene today in Sioux Falls, S.D., to investigate the Feb. 27 takeover of the historic village by about 200 Indian militants. Warrants were issued Sunday by a U.S. magistrate in Rapid City for the arrest of five leaders of the occupation.

The Sunday gunplay came less than 24 hours after federal forces pulled down their roadblocks and withdrew from a perimeter a few miles from the center of the village.

The shooting involved a small truck the Indians smeared with mud and dubbed their "tank." Several FBI vehicles maintaining surveillance on roads into the village saw the truck about five miles west of Wounded Knee, officials said.

The FBI agents, who said they believed the vehicle was stolen, pursued the van, and there was an exchange of gunfire. Agent Curtis Fitzgerald of Chicago was struck in the right arm and was evacuated by helicopter.

The car in which Fitzgerald was riding had six bullet holes in the windshield—one on the passenger side and five on the driver's side, the latter apparently made by another agent firing from inside the car.

Indians said bullets smashed the rear windows of the van and flying glass cut an Indian's hand.

"The FBI is trying to provoke the situation," said Dennis Banks, a leader of the American Indian Movement, which led the takeover.

Each side said the other fired first.

It appeared briefly that the incident would detonate the explosive situation that has existed since the takeover — 250 Indians, many of them armed, facing off against 300 federal lawmen armed with high-powered rifles and automatic weapons. Indian reinforcements have slipped into the village since the takeover.

FBI agents donned flak jackets and used binoculars to survey each vehicle that approached their checkpoints, which were set up Sunday several miles from here.

The crisis dissolved after the Justice Department in Washington said the shooting would not create an armed confrontation. Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst said agents would remain away from the immediate area of Wounded Knee and would not shoot unless their lives were endangered.

The Indians said four men identifying themselves as U.S. postal inspectors entered the village Sunday and were held in custody before being released. The Indians said three pistols were found on the men. It was later verified that two of the men were postal inspectors.

The government had no comment on the incident, but Banks said: "They didn't come here to protect no mail boxes."

Russell Means, an AIM leader, announced over a loudspeaker system Sunday that the village was "now the Oglala Sioux Nation, a sovereign state."

Means told a crowd of a few hundred, "If any foreign official of any foreign country, specifically the United States, tries to enter the village, it will be treated as an act of war and treated accordingly."

He also said, "If any spies enter the village, they will be treated like spies everywhere and will face a firing squad."

AIM leaders said they would issue visas to all nonresidents of their "sovereign nation".

Wider currency 'float' planned at money meet

BRUSSELS (AP) — Six of the Common Market nations agreed early today to a joint, partial float against the dollar, maintaining a schedule of exchange rates among each other but ending obligatory purchases of the dollar to support it.

The other three member nations—Britain, Ireland and Italy —are already floating their currencies against all others. They said they would join the joint float as soon as economic conditions permitted them to peg their currencies against the other Common Market monies.

West Germany also agreed to revalue the mark upward three per cent. There was speculation that the Japanese yen, the other strong currency, also would be revalued somewhat.

The decision by West Germany, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Denmark was easing the latest monetary crisis that closed foreign currency exchanges 10 days ago.

A communique after a meeting of finance ministers from the nine Common Market nations said the float would go into effect March 19, when the exchange markets reopen.

Four other nations with strong currency—Switzerland, Sweden, Norway and Austria— reportedly were considering joining the float even though they are not members of the Common Market.

By floating, the currencies are free to find their natural levels in terms of the dollar through pressures of supply and demand. No longer will the central banks have to buy huge quantities of dollars from speculators and the money managers to keep the dollar from sinking below a fixed level. However, West Germany's finance minister, Helmut Schmidt, said a central bank may continue under the agreement to support the dollar to prevent its own currency rate from going higher than desired.

The agreement calls for a maximum fluctuation of 2.25 per cent among the values of the six floating currencies. It is considered a key step toward eventual creation of a single European currency.

Belgian Finance Minister Willy DeClercq said the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Belgium will discuss possible revaluation of their currency later this week.

Congressmen costlier to maintain

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It costs taxpayers an average of $188,000 a year to keep a representative in Washington and pay for his office staff. Senators come somewhat higher, about $30,000 each.

Those basic costs include the $42,500 annual salary of each of the 100 senators and 438 representatives and delegates, plus staff payrolls.

Each House member is allowed about $165,000 per year to pay up to 16 employes in his Washiington and district offices.

A senator's clerical allowance varies according to the size of his state, ranging from $327,000 to $586,000 per year, with no ceiling on the number of employes but a top on the salary of his No. 1 staffer. Currently the top is $35,900 for the Senate and about $32,600 for the House.

Not all members use their total allowance. The unused balance reverts to the Treasury.

Neither do all members use all of the allowances for fringe benefits, which are not included in the average cost of keeping up a congressional office.

Basic costs in the legislative appropriation bill enacted last year included $62 million for salaries of House members' office staffs and $20.4 million for the salaries and travel allowances of members. The appropriation for senators' office staffs was $34.2 million and $4.7 million for senators' salaries and mileage.

Fringe benefits which add to the over-all cost of running Congress include:

—Franked, or free, mail for official correspondence. The estimated cost for fiscal year 1973 was $21.2 million for both branches.

—Stationery allowances of $4,250 per year per member for the purchase of office supplies at reduced rates. Not all members use this allowance. Some draw it in cash.

—Telephone and telegraph allowances amounting to the equivalent of 40,000 minutes of long-distance talking or 160,000 words of telegrams for every two years, plus unlimited longdistance calls in evening hours and all day on weekends, on leased government lines for representatives. The long-distance allowance is the same for all members, whether they live in Virginia or California.

—Travel allowances of 18 round trips home per session for House members and 45 for senators. This is in addition to foreign travel available to most members for official business, and for trips to home states or districts for staffers.

—Members are allowed free office space in federal buildings in their home states or districts, or limited rental allowances and office expenses if free space is not available. Monthly district-office rental for House members may go as high as $350 in some cases.

Life insurance, health insurance and retirement annuities are available for any member desiring them and paying part of the cost, up to eight per cent of monthly pay for the retirement program. The pensions are generous, ranging up to $36,000 a year for members of Congress who have served 32 years or more.

OBES cuts still slated by Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Bureau of Employment Services still plans to lay off approximately 200 employes, despite a court order last week that ordered the OBES to reinstate 200 employes it had layed off earlier.

Stan Wyman, OBES public information director, said Sunday the OBES would be forced to furlough about 200 employes and that the number may be increased because of financial losses incurred by the bureau in the court ruling.

Franklin County Common Pleas Court Judge Fred Shoemaker ordered the jobs of 200 reinstated and that they be awarded back pay for the nine days they were laid off.

Shoemaker's order, however, did not prohibit OBES from making future layoffs. It only said such action must be made in compliance with state civil service statutes.

"What people must realize is we still must make cutbacks in the bureau to make up for our loss of federal revenues," Wyman said. "The longer we keep more people on the payroll than we can afford, the further we go in debt, and the more cutbacks we have to make."

A state Senate hearing on the firings has been scheduled for Tuesday.

Deny Boyle set for testimony in Prater case

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — An attorney for ousted United Mine Workers Union President W.A. "Tony" Boyle says no arrangements have been made for Boyle to testify at the trial of alleged Yablonski slayer William J. Prater.

Attorney Plato Cacheris said Sunday night in a telephone interview from his Washington, D.C., home that he had been contacted about two weeks ago by an assistant to the special prosecutor in the case, Richard Sprague.

"Somebody from Sprague's office called me about two weeks ago and said they'd like Mr. Boyle there," Cacheris said. "I suggested Sprague, himself, call me back about it."

"He hasn't," Cacheris added, "and there has been no subpoena and no further conversation. Sprague is just playing games with the news media for the publicity."

URGES SUPPORT FOR GAULLISTS — French President Georges Pompidou urges voters in a television address to spurn the Communists in national election. His entry into the campaign rhetoric was the clearest indication yet of how worried the Gaullists are that their 15-year rule over France may end.

Deaths, Funerals

Arthur (Cy) Willison

Services for Arthur (Cy) Willison, 70, of 736 High St., will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Parrett Funeral Home, with the Rev. Gerald Wheat, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating.

Mr. Willison, a lifelong resident of Washington C. H., died at 11:42 a.m. Saturday in the Margaret Clark Oakfield Convalescent Center, where he had been a patient since Feb. 26.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert (Jake) Ellison. He was a cook in the Maddux Restaurant at one time and a retired employe of the Cudahy Packing Co. He attended the Presbyterian Church. Surviving is a sister, Mrs. Minnie Fackler, 718 High St.

Burial will be in Washington Cemetery. Friends may call any time at the funeral home.

Mrs. Ida Watkins

BAINBRIDGE — Services for Mrs. Ida Watkins, 80, of Rt. 10, Chillicothe, will be held at 1 p.m. Tuesday in Beulah Chapel, with the Rev. Theodore Mendendall and Rev. Elmer Hurles officiating. Mrs. Watkins, with widow of Charles H. Watkins, who died in 1951, died at 11:50 a.m. Saturday in Greenfield Municipal Hospital.

Born in Wayne, W. Va., she had resided near Chillicothe most of her life. She was the daughter of James C. and Nancy Crockett Bond, and was a member of the Bethel Church of the Nazarene at Brunswick, Ga.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Howard (Flossie) Schiller, Rt. 1, Washington C. H., Mrs. Russell (Nancy) Ross, Leesburg, Mrs. Clarence (Goldie) Pollock, Greenfield, Mrs. James E. (Betty Jean) Burnem, Brunswick, Ga., and Mrs. Mary White, of Chillicothe; four sons, James, of Sabina, Frank, of Chillicothe, Fred, of Waverly, and John, Bainbridge; 36 grandchildren and 42 great-grandchildren, and a brother, Henry Bond of Ironton. Three sons and one daughter are deceased.

Friends may call at the Smith Funeral Home until noon Tuesday.

HARRY A. BUTCHER — Services for Harry A. Butcher, 76, of Bloomingburg, were held at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Church of Christ in Christian Union with the Rev. Charles Williams officiating. Mr. Butcher, owner of Pop's Fixit Shop in Bloomingburg, died Wednesday.

Two hymns were sung by James Bick and Leroy Crabtree with Mrs. Kenneth Bonecutter at the organ.

Pallbearers for burial in Bloomingburg Cemetery were Larry, Terry, Steven and Fredric Butcher. Donald Whitmer and Russell Harding.

Stock list posts gain

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices pushed upward today, riding the news of six Common Market countries, agreement on action against the international monetary crisis.

Analysts said they expected a generally bullish reaction from investors to the news of a joint float of currencies by the six countries. The plan, announced Sunday night, also calls for one of the six — West Germany — to revalue its mark 3/8 per cent upward.

The action is widely seen as a reasonable, if temporary, solution to world monetary troubles, brokers noted.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up a fraction, and gainers took a 3-2-to-2 edge on losers in trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Prices included Pan American World Airways, unchanged at 8 3/4; Memorex, ahead 1/4 at 11 1/4; First National City Corp., down 1/2 to 77 3/4; Occidental Petroleum, up 1/8 to 12, and U.S. Industries, down 1/4 to 15 3/4.

Auto larceny charge filed

Auto theft charges were filed against a 40-year-old Washington C. H. man after he allegedly stole a car from a Jeffersonville gasoline station Friday evening.

Sheriff's deputies said William H. Burke, 40, of 318 S. Fayette St., was charged with the theft of a 1965 model car owned by Phillip Leavenworth, Cleveland. Burke was arrested Saturday evening after deputies recovered the stolen auto in Jeffersonville.

He is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Monday afternoon on the complaint.

Gaullists win majority in French vote

PARIS (AP) — French voters have given the Gaullists another five years in control of the National Assembly but have reduced the government coalition's majority to less than 60 seats.

The outcome was much more favorable to the Gaullists than had been expected. President Georges Pompidou was so worried by the strong leftist showing in public opinion polls and the first round of voting last Sunday that he made a last-minute television appeal to the voters Saturday. Pompidou himself was not up for re-election.

The economic achievements of the Gaullists over the past 15 years plus the basic conservatism of many Frenchmen pulled the government through. But the result was a warning that the left's calls for a better deal for the poor and for more equalization of economic gains had sympathetic echoes throughout the country.

"It is correct that these elections reflect a will for renewal by a large number of voters," Premier Pierre Messmer admitted.

The Gaullist majority in the assembly took a monumental dive from the 284-seat margin won in the 1968 landslide. But that occurred after the May student riots scared the French voters badly. The Gaullists could take some comfort from their new majority's being considerably better than the one-vote edge they won in the last "normal" elections in 1967.

Significantly, the heaviest losses were suffered by the Union for the Defense of the Republic, the Gaullist party. It fell from 293 seats to 181, making it more dependent on its partners, Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing's Independent Republicans and Jacques Duhamel's Democratic Center party.

Catholic bishop dies

POMATA, Peru (AP) — The Most Rev. Edward L. Fedders, a Maryknoll Missioner who was born and reared in Covington, Ky., and later was named a Bishop in the Catholic Church, died while saying Mass Sunday, officials reported.

Bishop Fedders, in his late 50s, was saying Mass at a church in Pol Pomata, one of the areas in the prefecture of Juli, Peru, where he presided.

Bishop Fedders entered the Maryknoll order in 1934 after education in elementary and secondary schools in Covington and Cincinnati.

He was ordained a priest in 1944, and went to Peru three months later.

He became a bishop in 1963.

Funeral arrangements were not immediately announced.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service.

A low pressure area that brought showers and thundershowers to the state overnight was forecast to move northeastward out of the state today.

Skies were expected to begin clearing this afternoon over southern counties and across the rest of the state this evening or tonight.

Cooler air was expected to continue spreading through the state today, although temperatures were expected to remain above normal.

Temperatures Tuesday will begin climbing again as warmer air from the south begins to push back into the lower Great Lakes region.

Temperatures across Ohio at dawn today were generally in the upper 40s and low 50s under overcast skies.

Mild Wednesday through Friday with showers Wednesday and Thursday. Highs generally in the 60s. Lows in the 40s.

Young mayor resigns post

NEWCOMERSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Newcomerstown Mayor Ron Hooker, who became the second-youngest mayor in the nation when he was elected in 1971 at the age of 19, has resigned, according to City Council President Charles Holdsworth.

Holdsworth said Saturday Hooker had submitted his resignation effective March 15, citing the burden of his full-time teaching job at St. Joseph's in Dover.

Hooker was not available for comment on the resignation or a report that a feud in the police department was a factor in his decision.

Hooker has said recently he wants to go to law school next fall and has no plans to continue in politics.

Social Security book ads rapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Magazine publisher Ralph Ginzburg, who spent eight months in federal prison last year for mailing obscene materials, is in hot water with the government again.

The Social Security Administration is calling for federal and New York State investigations into Ginzburg's new manual entitled, "Stake Your Claim! How to work the Social Security Gold Mine."

The agency contends the promotional ads, carried in about 300 newspapers and a dozen mass-circulation magazines, are "replete with misleading references and innuendoes." Ginzburg says the ad campaign cost $1 million.

More women have blues or admit it oftener

NEW YORK (AP) — Twice as many women as men dial a special New York telephone number to reach a sympathetic ear, a crisis-intervention center reports.

H. Leslie Christie, executive director of Help Line Telephone Center, said women callers out-number men two to one, and he said 50 per cent of the calls are from persons under 30, most of them female.

Help Line, which averages 50,000 calls a year, was started in Feburary 1970 by Marble Collegiate Church at the direction of Dr. Norman Vincent Peale.

Christie said about 35 per cent of the calls concern mental-health problems, while 16 per cent involve marital and family difficulties.

Canada has some 70,000 miles of pipe lines.

Sheriff's badge is in the family

By ROGER PETTERSON
Associatied Press Writer

PARSONS, W. Va. (AP) — The sheriff's badge in Tucker County in West Virginia's forsted northern mountains has been transferred from a trim uniform dress to a trim uniform jacket. Last time it was vice versa.

Sheriff Mary Jane Hedrick has been succeeded by her husband Carl and she is returning to the family farm. Her husband was sheriff of the 7,000-person county from 1964 to 1968 and, according to Mrs. Hedrick, began to put the county's bank account in the black.

He couldn't succeed himself, so Mrs. Hedrick was talked into running.

"The more we talked about it, the more excited I became," she says of her decision to go up against well-known male candidates and win.

In November, her husband was easily elected, continuing the family name in Tucker County government.

SHERIFF MARY JANE has returned to her three school-age children and care of her house, but she is happy she did her civic duty and held the full time post.

The U.S. Forest Service owns 42 per cent of the county and that land doesn't contribute taxes to the county treasury. There are a few small industries, but the number of plants — and jobs — is dwindling.

Keeping money in the county's bank accounts under those conditions is tough, and the Hedricks feel they've done a good job.

"You've got to make every dollar count," says the 37-year-old former lady sheriff.

The sheriff's duties here are more tax collection and bookkeeping than law enforcement, but "I wouldn't have been affraid to put on a gun if the need had arisen," she added. She and her one deputy — who had threatened to quit back in 1968 if there wasn't a Hedrick in office — were responsible for the jail and she worked with female prisoners and juveniles.

"Petticoat government" is what she calls Tucker County. Along with the sheriff, ladies have also served as county clerk, circuit court clerk, county commissioners and president of the Board of Education.

MOST MEN could not support a family on the low salaries paid in county offices, she says. She received $4,000 a year as sheriff, and the real family income is from their farm.

Would she run again to succeed her husband a second time?

"It would depend on the conditions at that time and who the other candidates are," she said.

"Women should have equal rights, but I think there's a place for them," she says. "Some things I think men should do. Women . . . should not lose our place as women."

No matter which Hedrick is wearing the badge, "In our marriage, we have equal rights . . . we respect each other."

PARSONS is also a hotbed of environmentalism, numbering among its residents the heads of the state Izaak Walton League and of the state chapter of the Sierra Club. The Hedricks are leaders of a group fighting the proposed construction of a U.S. Corps of Engineers dam at Rowlesburg on the Cheat River.

The 560-member Cheat River Conservancy contends the dam would flood nearly all of the county's usable farm land and a good chunk of what taxable property remains. The Hedricks' farm would also be taken.

"We believe that the project will cause more damage than good to the natural environment of Tucker County and West Virginia," Mrs. Hedrick recently told a senate appropriations committee. "Our county government will lose tax revenue, our school system will suffer from tax loss."

INSTEAD of a pistol or a can of mace, Mary Jane has carried reams of statistics and reports to enforce her group's belief that the dam would mean the economic end of Tucker County.

A massive power company dam proposed for the Canaan Valley on the eastern side of the county is opposed by many environmentalists but former Sheriff Hedrick supports this reservoir.

"It would mean a lot of employment . . . quite a lot of development," she says, and a good dose of tax money for the county coffers.

'Babar' opera sellout

NEW YORK (AP) — The second pair of programs in the Little Orchestra Society's series of concerts for young people was sold out four months in advance.

The program is "Babar the Elephant," an opera for children by Nicolai Berezowsky. It is based on the Babar children's books by the late Jean de Brunhoff and Laurent de Brunhoff.

The opera version was commissioned by the Little Orchestra Society and first performed in 1953.

Opinion And Comment

Campaign spending reform

One school of thought on presidential and congressional campaign spending holds that the law should control how the money is spent but place no limit on the total amount. Others propose a ceiling on the total outlay, without regulation of what the money goes for.

The reform legislation enacted last year essentially follows the first of the two lines: while cents-per-voter limitations were placed on spending for print and broadcast media exposure, and billboards, there was no curb on such things as direct mail and grassroots organizations. In consequence, presidential candidates were limited to spending 14.2 million dollars apiece on the media, but spent many millions more on other things. President Nixon's campaign effort wound up costing somewhere between 40 and 46 million, and Sen. George McGovern's forces spent a little over 31 million.

A different approach is proposed by Sen. John O. Pastore of Rhode Island in his bill to amend the 1972 federal election law. Pastore would limit the total amount of spending by candidates for president and for the Senate and House of Representatives. He would allow each candidate to spend 25 cents per voter and would place no restriction on how this sum was spent. Thus it would theoretically be possible for a candidate to spend every penny on the media; as a practical matter it would at any rate very likely increase those outlays.

Under this formula each presidential campaign organization would have $34,910,500 to spend as it pleased. The amount permissible for congressional campaigns would depend on the number of voters in a state or district; a Senate candidate in Vermont, say, would be limited to $77,250, while a candidate in Texas would be allowed to spend $1,920,250.

There should be renewed consideration of the whole broad matter of campaign spending reform. Last year's act was an advance but there is plainly need for further improvement, especially as regards sources and accountability. Pastore's bill should be taken as the springboard for another round of debate.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Bargaining on Soviet exit visas

WASHINGTON — In the President's office the other day that tireless grandmother, Prime Minister Golda Meir of Israel, was given, along with promises of continuing aid, a warning of conflict ahead. Tht Government of the United States, she was told, cannot dictate the emigration policy of the Soviet Union.

The Administration wants to give the Soviet Union "most-favored nation" tariff treatment together with credits through such agencies as the Export-Import Bank. Opening the way to greatly expanded trade, this was the heart of the agreement reached in Moscow last May.

That agreement is now clouded by a controversy that has its roots deep in domestic politics. Although the Administration has not yet sent up a Soviet trade bill, the opposition is waiting with a trap to sidetrack it. This is an amendment by Sen. Henry M. (Scoop) Jackson denying the concessions unless the Soviets stop applying an exit tax on Soviet Jews emigrating to Israel.

Jackson's girl Friday, Dorothy Fosdick, says he already has 60 signers, well over a majority. In the last Congress 76 senators endorsed a similar amendment. With this roadblock looking so large, Moscow will find a way to call off the exit tax.

HOWEVER, those in the White House directly concerned are less optimistic. They point out that this is intervention in the domestic affairs of the Soviet Union and, moreover, it is not alone the Jews who want out. Other minorities, the Catholics in Lithuania, for example, would be quick to take advantage of any relaxation of exit-visa controls.

The key figure is Leonid Brezhnev, No. 1 in the Kremlin. He told the Americans in Moscow in May that the charge levied against Jews leaving the Soviet Union — the equivalent of the cost of their education, as high sometimes as $25,000 — was an error. He described it as a "bureaucratic bungle."

But he went on to say that, since it had received such wide publicity with angry denunciation from Jews around the world, his government could hardly seem to yield to U. S. dictation. What, as one Soviet official put it, if we should say to you that we cannot reach agreement on any matter unless you desegregate all the schools in Mississippi and give the blacks free access to higher education?

Look, say the proponents of the Jackson amendment, that is all very well as a theoretical case, but the economic plight of the Soviet Union is so dire that Brezhnev will find a face-saving formula to end the exit charge. The Kremlin may be on the verge of such a formula and, therefore, it is wrong with so much bargaining power in Washington to bring the matter up at all.

THE ORDER to bomb North Vietnam and mine Haiphong harbor came only days before the Nixon mission to Moscow. Would Moscow cancel the visit? It could happen, as Henry A. Kissinger, the President's adviser on national security affairs, and others most in the know understood.

But it went through on schedule. In the background was the Nixon spectacular in China, which Moscow could hardly ignore. And so it will be in the controversy over the exit visas.

There is, it seems to me, room for doubt. The agreements signed in Moscow were largely to the advantage of Washington. The Berlin agreement, impossible without Moscow's sanction, was a plus for the West. A certain amount of East-West pacification, though, would have taken place without the Moscow accords.

All important for Moscow was trade — the need for grain to overcome the food shortage; the need for computers and every form of advanced technology to boost a halting economy. If this is ruled out by denial of the concessions such as "most-favored nation" that go to America's trading partners, little or no reward is left for the Soviet Union.

So, others in the Soviet hierarchy, perhaps rivals, can say: What was all the fuss about and where has it got us?

A bit of history may be instructive. Nikita Khrushchev was invited to America by President Eisenhower, who was seeking to ease off the cold war. Then came the shooting down over Sverdlovsk of the U-2 spy plane and Eisenhower's fumbling response. It marked Khrushchev's end and the end of the initiative.

Could this same thing happen again? With all the factors weighed in, conspicuously the Sino-Soviet quarrel, the odds are against it. But a categorical "no" is hard to come by.

WASHINGTON REPORT

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHA

Representative To Congress
6th District, Ohio

WASHINGTON — Recently the Veterans Administration proposed budget cutbacks for several of its programs. By planning to eliminate some $160 million from the budget, VA medical care and research, hospital construction, outreach, education and employment programs would have been adversely affected.

But, the most astonishing cutback of all would have been for disability compensation. Some disability ratings would have dropped to less than half their original amount. For example, a veteran's disability rating for loss of a leg would have meant a loss of $169 per month in compensation.

I was shocked by these proposals, especially since Americans were preparing to welcome home some of their most dedicated and long-suffering veterans of recent times, the Vietnam POWs, at the time these cuts were announced. Fortunately, the public outcry against these cutbacks and strong congressional pressure forced the VA to withdraw these incredible proposals.

THE THREAT of future cutbacks is not over, however, and Congress will soon be considering legislation to avert any such reductions and to protect the interests of our veterans. Under the present law, the VA has the authority to revise the schedule for rating disabilities and to promulgate such schedule changes. Legislation has been introduced in both the House and the Senate which would bar any change in veterans disability payments without congressional consent.

It is important to note that cutting back on disability compensations would have hit the younger Vietnam veterans the hardest. About 10 years ago, Congress froze the rates for any veteran who had held his disability rating for 20 years. Consequently, most World War II veterans and many veterans of the Korean conflict are protected and would not have been affected by such reductions.

The sheer inequity of such a cutback would be that a young Vietnam veteran, returning from one of the most controversial wars in American history with a combat disability, would not be protected for an identical disability. Instead, he would receive substantially less.

OTHER INEQUITIES would also surface with such disability reductions. The gap in veterans benefits lies at the 50 per cent level. A veteran with a 50 per cent rating receives $149 a month for himself, which is only $33 more per month than the 40 per cent disabled veteran. However, at 50 per cent disability and above, a veteran also receives additional compensation for his dependents and certain other benefits.

Most of the proposed disability reductions would have brought the ratings below this 50 per cent mark.

This cannot be allowed to happen under any circumstances. Furthermore, I do not believe that fiscal responsibility warrants cutbacks in other veterans programs either.

ONE PARTICULARLY important area of concern for veterans of all wars is the effect increases in Social Security or Railroad Retirement benefits have on recipients of VA pensions. In the past, Congress has made such adjustments as are necessary to protect VA pensions when such increases have been approved. Since both Social Security and Railroad Retirement benefits were increased last year, Congress must once again consider this matter. I have recently introduced legislation which would insure that no VA pensions would be reduced or terminated as a result of these increases.

There are 200,000 disabled Vietnam veterans. There are many thousands more who, in returning from Vietnam, face many readjustment problems such as education and employment.

While America is engaged in a serious battle with inflation, our armed service veterans must not bear the brunt of this conflict, and I will oppose any arbitrary and irresponsible efforts to sacrifice their hard earned and needed benefits in the name of economy.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The auto is now a bigger cause of mortality among deer than people. It is estimated that 120,000 deer and 1,200 other big game animals are killed in highway traffic mishaps each year. That's more than twice the toll of human lives.

Your fingernails are made of the same kind of material as your hair. So are the hoofs of animals, the claws of birds, and the scales of snakes.

People are more likely to be fatally violent against themselves than anyone else. A 30-year study in Cleveland found that 4,065 persons died by homicide during that time and an additional 5,807 committed suicide. But during those three decades the homicide rate rose by more than 500 per cent, from 7 per hundred thousand people in 1940 to 38 per hundred thousand in 1970.

Romance may bloom best among the young, but marriage still flowers among the old. Each year there are some 35,000 marriages in the United States among persons 65 or older. Why do they marry? They say it's for companionship and economy — and love.

Quotable notables: "I got all the schooling any actress needs. That is, I learned to write enough to sign contracts." — Hermoine Gingold.

When you forget: One of the things people complain about as they get older is that their memory isn't as good as it used to be. Studies show that shortterm memory lapses usually come at two stages, one around 40 and the other around 60.

Know your language: Some of our best known products get their names from the geographical place they were first produced, such as Cologne, from Cologne, Germany, bouillion, from a former duchy in Belgium, and the tuxedo, the dinner jacket which first was worn on the lavish estates of Tuxedo Park, N.Y. How about the word denim? It comes from "serge de Nimes — cloth of Nimes — because it originated in that French textile center during the Middle Ages.

It was Somerset Maugham who observed: "Love is the dirty trick nature played on us to achieve the continuation of the species."

A major complaint

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — The city's community relations desk received 65,200 inquiries in 1972 as compared with 64,744 in 1971. Hal Pawson, director of public relations in charge of the desk, said, "Road maintenance was the major complaint."

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Making her an offer she ought to refuse

DEAR ABBY: Greg and I have been married for six years (no children) and I thought we were getting along rather well when suddenly, after a trivial argument, he walked out and didn't come home that night. I was frantic.

The next day I called him at work and his receptionist said he was busy and would call me back. He never called. And he didn't come home that night either. I phoned his office again and got the same treatment.

Finally I went to his office and waited for him outside. He said he was fed up with married life and he was coming for his clothes that night, which he did.

All he said was he would stay married to me if I agreed to let him come and go with no questions asked. Also, if he felt like taking me somewhere he would, but I wasn't to ask HIM. Finally, he didn't want to see my face around his place of business.

I have seen a priest and a lawyer. They both said I should either accept Greg on his terms, or let him go. I am 35 but people say I look 25. He's 32, and looks 45. What do you think?

BEWILDERED

D E A R BEWILDERED: I think your husband's terms are absurd. If I were you I'd say "bye, bye" while I still "looked 25."

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine told me that her husband has a very coarse and heavy beard, so he shaves every night before he goes to bed so his stubbles doesn't irritate her tender face when they cuddle during the night.

When I told my husband how sweet and considerate I thought that was, he said, "He sounds like a first-class jerk to me."

You see, I told my husband that story for a reason, but he didn't get the hint. Maybe if you print this, he'll catch on.

TENDER FACE

DEAR FACE: Sometimes the best approach is the direct approach. Quit hinting, and tell your porcupine what's on your mind.

DEAR ABBY: I am a school teacher with a serious bronchial condition. The doctor told me I should not even be where others are smoking. Well, I put a sign up in my apartment reading "Thanks for not smoking."

Everyone who has come to visit my has respected that request, and I really appreciated it. Last week I had a few guests who had never visited me before. When one of them saw the sign, she said, "Don't think I am staying here and not smoking. Give me an ashtray!"

When I told her I didn't have any ashtrays she asked for a dish. I refused. I served coffee, and she and the others smoked and used their cups for ashtrays.

Abby, I couldn't believe it. I didn't want to hurt them, but I hurt myself. That night I couldn't sleep and the next day I couldn't use my voice to speak to my students.

So what can I do about rude, inconsiderate people who smoke regardless?

INSULTED IN SOUTHBRIDGE

DEAR INSULTED: You can tell THEM (not me) that you cannot tolerate smoke, so they will have to make a choice between your company and their cigarets. But say it like you mean it!

Your Ohio Income Tax

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth in a series of releases dealing with the most frequently asked questions about the new Ohio personal income tax prepared by the Ohio Department of Taxation.

Q. — Are there any provisions regarding a part-year resident with respect to filing an Ohio individual income tax return?

A. — Yes, a part-year resident is defined as a taxpayer who during a portion of the tax year was not a legal resident of Ohio and did not earn income in Ohio during that time. The taxpayer is thus entitled to deduct from his federal adjusted gross income the amount of income earned out of Ohio while a legal resident of another state. This deduction is shown on Line 2, Part C, Line 3 of the long form for Ohio.

Q. — Is there a minimum age or amount earned before a person has to file the Ohio income tax return?

A. — There is no minimum age or income requirement, however, every taxpayer who files the Ohio income tax return is entitled to the $500 personal exemption. In addition, if the personal exemption equals or exceeds the Ohio adjusted gross income the return does not have to be filed, unless a refund is due.

Q. — If a child, who qualifies as a dependent of his parents for purposes of the parents' federal income tax return, is a taxpayer for Ohio income tax purposes, may the child claim the $500 personal exemption for himself on his Ohio income tax return and the parents also claim the $500 dependent exemption for the child on their Ohio income tax return?

A. — Yes. Under the Ohio law a person is entitled to the exemption for himself if he is a taxpayer, and the parent is entitled to an exemption for each person qualifying as a dependent under federal income tax law.

Q. Is bank interedt taxable for the Ohio income tax, even if the bank pays the intangible tax?

A. — Yes, bank interest is taxable in Ohio because the income would be included in the taxpayer's federal adjusted gross income and in order to take the deduction for the intangible tax the taxpayer must be liable for and pay the intangible tax himself.

Q. — Do partnerships file an Ohio income tax return?

A. — No, partnerships are not subject to the Ohio income tax, but must file a copy of the federal partnership return (1065) with the State of Ohio. However the amount of income reported by each partner on their federal return will also be taxable in Ohio according to the special instructions regarding allocation and apportionment of business income. Note: For special instructions on allocation and apportionment write to: State of Ohio, Department of Taxation, P.O. Box 2476, Columbus, Ohio 43216.

Q. — What is the difference between the non-resident credit and the part-year deduction?

A. — The non-resident credit is used where the taxpayer is a legal resident of another state and earns income in Ohio. The credit is computed as explained on Page 13 of the instruction booklet and is computed using Schedule B on Page 27 of the instruction booklet.

All watercraft in Ohio must be registered

The Department of Natural Resources has announced locations throughout the state where 1973 boat and outboard motor registrations can be obtained.

In Fayette County, registrations can be obtained from Harold Stewart, Stew's Automotive, 717 Western Ave., in Washington C. H. Hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 8 a.m. to 12-noon on Saturday.

All watercraft operating in Ohio waters must have an Ohio identification number displayed on each side of the bow of the watercraft. Registration papers must be available on board at all times when the watercraft is in use.

The watercraft registration number is different than outboard motor numbers which are issued to each owner at the time of registration with a tag bearing that number. The tag showing the outboard motor number must be on the motor in a place where it can easily be seen.

Annual fees for watercraft and outboard motor registration are: outboard hull, rowboat, canoe, barge or raft, $1; sail boat, $3; inboard with motor under 100 horsepower, $7.50; inboard with motor 100 horsepower and above, $10; outboard motor, $3 and duplicate registration, $1. Licensing agents receive an additional 35-cent fee for each registration issued.

Boaters are reminded that 1972 registrations expired March 1, and are urged to obtain their 1973 registration early to avoid the summer rush.

Any questions concerning watercraft regulations in Ohio should be directed to the Department of Natural Resources, Division of Watercraft, 1350 Holly Ave., Columbus, Ohio 43212.

Revival services are scheduled

JEFFERSONVILLE — A three-night revival will open in the Church of God here next Friday and continue through Sunday. The evangelist will be the Rev. Max Howell, of Columbus, the church's associate pastor. The Burns Sisters will sing at all services.

Saturday will be youth night. Services Friday and Saturday will begin at 7:30 p.m. and on Sunday at 6:30 p.m.

Weight Watchers Day is Thursday

"Weight Watchers" Day is coming to Washington Court House Thursday. The public is invited to attend a free open meeting at the Washington Court House Junior High School. Located on the corner of North and Temple Streets. The program is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Major losers from the Washington Court House area will receive awards. Included among the major losers will be members of "Weight Watchers" who have lost 100 pounds or more.

A "Goodbye Fat-Hello Fashion" Show will feature successful members of "Weight Watchers" from this area as models. Fashions for this event will be supplied by The Martha Washington Shop and by Soldan's; both outstanding retail outlets in Washington Court House.

"Weight Watchers" area director, Adrianne Levine, who has lost and kept off 37½ pounds for over 5 years will address those in attendance at the Junior High School.

The evening will be topped off when Barbara Chandler, of Cincinnati "Weight Watchers" first 200-pound loser, tells her often hilarious and sometimes heart-breaking story of how she came to change her entire life by virtue of her enormous weight loss.

Class times and locations and information on how "Weight Watchers" classes work will be available to all who attend. Copies of "Weight Watchers" Magazine will be given out free to the first 50 guest to arrive. Also, free recipes and the "Weight Watchers" newspaper will be given out to all who want them.

Austin Church Women meet

Austin United Methodist Church Women met in the church annex for the covered-dish dinner and all-day sewing, when lap robes and cancer pads were made.

Mrs. Joe McQuiniff and Mrs. Gene Cockerill reported on the World Day of Prayer services, which they attended in the Frankfort United Methodist Church.

The women of the church are to provide the lunch at the annual consignment sale which will be held this year at the Austin Grain Co. The sale set for April 7 is sponsored by the men of the church each year. Anyone having anything for the sale may call 998-4261, or any member of the church. All proceeds will go to the church.

The next meeting will be April 12 in the church annex. Mrs. Tom Starr will present the program and Mrs. Wardie Taylor will be in charge of refreshments.

Present were Mrs. Chancey Overly, Mrs. Joe McQuiniff, Mrs. James Starr Sr., Mrs. Forrest Miller, Mrs. Esta McQuiniff, Mrs. Tom Starr, Mrs. Don Sever and daughter, Amy, and Mrs. Gene Cockerill.

Christian Circle holds meeting

Woman's Christian Circle, South Side Church of Christ, held a business session Thursday evening preceding the Youth Revival being held each night in the church sanctuary. Ken Henderson, Lexington, Ky. is the evangelist. There will be a service Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon before closing Sunday night.

Mrs. Dorothy Morton, president, presided. A letter was read from Grundy Mountain Mission Home, Grundy, Va., regarding the three girls the Circle had adopted and sent gifts for birthdays and Christmas a few years ago. The mother had been given permission to take one, and an aunt had adopted the other two, the letter said. Now the Circle is trying to contact a similar home at Wooster to help on special days.

Cleaning the kitchen and the annual mother-daughter banquet were discussed.

Following the revival session, refreshments were served in Fellowship Hall.

The next meeting will be April 12 at the home of Mrs. Robert Dreubaugh, with Mrs. Milton Dodds and Mrs. Jerry Sears assisting. Mrs. Sears will give the devotions and Mrs. Carl Anders will preset a program on "Flower Arranging."

Washington Garden Club makes plans for Fair

The Washington Garden Club met at Anderson's Restaurqnt for dinner preceding the regular March meeting. Mrs. Jim Hutchinson made the table centerpiece arrangement.

The vice president, Mrs. Dale Merritt, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Eugene Cook. Roll call was answered by each member telling in one minute some unusual incident which happened recently in her garden.

The secretary, Mrs. T.N. Willis, reported on recent club activities and the treasurer, Mrs. William Summers, reported club finances. Chairman of the ways and means committee, Mrs. Robert H. Wilson, reported results of recent club sales and made plans for another in the near future.

Tree committee chairman of Region 16, Mrs. Jean T. Craig, reported that several youth group leaders and individuals have placed orders for the spruce seedlings offered jointly by the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs and the State Department of Natural Resources at nominal cost. They are for planting near Arbor Day, the last Friday in April. The club ordered 25 to be given to a youth group.

The County contact chairman, Mrs. Donald Meredith, reported on the March meeting of the garden club Council of Presidents, and read some of the changes made in the schedule for artistic arrangements for the Fayette County Fair flower show.

For the first time, the public viewing the arrangements may vote (by ballot) their opinion of which they think should be the winner in each class, whether it agrees with the OAGC judge's decision or not. Also for the first time, the Fair flower show committee will give added ribbons to the arrangements showing the most originality, creativeness, distinction and beauty as prescribed by the standards in the OAGC handbook.

Fayette Garden Club will provide the educational exhibit for the Fair flower show.

A gardening book was presented to Mrs. Matthew McDonald, of Bainbridge, in appreciation for her hospitality at her country home recently and a book has been ordered for the Carnegie Public Library.

Several members are planning to attend the open meeting of Posey Garden Club at 1 p.m. Wednesday, March 21, in the Madison Mills United Methodist Church for the demonstration by Mrs. Mary Baughn of basket weaving, using natural materials.

Mrs. Orville Hurtt presented the evening program on preparing daffodils for exhibit. Daffodils is the common name, narcissus is the botanical name, and includes all daffodils, jonquils and narcissus. She explained and demonstrated the parts of the flower, such as cornona or trumped, perianth or circle of petals, sepals, segments, pedicel and pose or way the flower is held on the stem. She also described the classification for exhibiting in flower shows, based on the description of the above terms for each individual specie.

All of the information is given in the OAGC handbook, and is required to be memorized by gardeners attending judges and exhibitors school, one of which will be held in 1974. School four will be held in June this year and will stress roses.

Other members attending the dinner meeting were Mrs. Herbert Dawes, Mrs. Walter Wilson, Mrs. Edwin Hidy, Mrs. Eulalia Wade and Mrs. Earl Horney.

Mrs. Bethards WCTU hostess

Mrs. Florence Bethards was hostess when the New Martinsburg Women's Christian Temperance Union met in her home. They first knotted a comfort and then conducted the meeting.

The Crusade Psalm was read for the opening and Mrs. Bethards reported on a meeting in Hillsboro which took in several counties on "Share in Prayer" at the Baptist Church. It was planned by Highland County of which Mrs. Nell Fenner, president, Mrs. Cloyce Copley, Mrs. Alice Bush and Mrs. Bethards attended.

"Responsibilities of Discipleship and the Joy of Witnessing" was the topic for devotions presented by Mrs. Bush and Mrs. Ima Jean Cassell. Other appropriate readings were presented.

A letter from the VA Hospital Chillicothe, thanking the ladies for the 21 dozen of cookies taken to the patients and 24 bibs was read.

The mid-year workshop will be held at the Southern Hotel in Columbus April 3, 4 and 5.

Refreshments were served.

Festive Foods

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Mushrooms have always been a "chic" food, a symbol of the great cuisine. They star in some of the world's most famous dishes, but more and more American homemakers have discovered that mushrooms — fresh, canned or frozen — give festive flavor to meat loaves, sauces, stews, appetizers and a long list of vegetables.

If you enjoy sprucing up foods with attractive garnishes, you'll want to know how to flute mushrooms. Fluted mushrooms are the perfect decorative touch for roasts, steaks and chops. You can flute either large or small fresh mushrooms. Here's how:

FLUTED MUSHROOMS

Rinse mushrooms in cold water; pat dry with a paper towel.

You may remove the stem, but it's easier to hold the mushrooms if the stem is still in place. (Needless to say, don't ever peel cultivated mushrooms. That's a lot of extra work and a sinful waste of mushroom flavor.) Do, however, remove a thin slice from the bottom of the mushroom stem if it looks at all dry or brownish.

Hold a small sharp paring knife motionless in your right hand, with the cutting edge turned away from your body. Wrap your fingers around the handle of the knife and steady the mushroom cap with the thumb of your right hand. Select a spot about halfway down the knife blade as the cutting edge.

Holding the knife in your right hand motionless, bring the crown — the very middle — of the mushroom to the knife edge. Press very lightly against the mushroom skin, turning the cap as you cut away a thin strip of skin. If you've turned the mushroom cap correctly you will have cut a swirling, very shallow groove. Repeat these cuts, spacing them evenly and, if you're lucky, you'll have a handsome fluted mushroom.

Mushroom fluting takes practice, so it's smart to practice fluting when you're cooking a dish that calls for chipped mushrooms. That way you can chop up and use all your botched-up mistakes.

The most famous use for fluted mushrooms is broiled and set on a platter of meat, but raw fluted mushrooms are delicious pick-ups for dips of one kind or another, so next time you're serving hors e'oeuvre, flute the mushrooms. Refrigerate until needed.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY, MARCH 13

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Certain events can act as guideposts for the future. Keep attuned to new trends and don't miss a trick.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Personal relationships at their most congenial. In fact, a resourceful friend may even help you to attain a long cherished desire.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Face possible changes with equanimity. With YOUR know-how and ingenuity, you can cope. Romance in high favor.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Keep on your toes now. Sudden intrusions or interruptions will call for unusual diplomacy in handling.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

A potentially fine day. Through sheer force of personality, you can break down opposition and get what you want.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

An excellent day for both business and personal interests. Even if you have to make some compromises, it will be profitable in the long run.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

You may not size up occupational situations as accurately as usual. Better double-check! On the personal side, romance and travel favored.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Some seeimingly ungovernable moments indicated, but you can handle with your native intelligence and astuteness. Just be sure to keep emotions under control.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

A good day for attaining one of your cherished goals. Someone behind the scenes is working in your interests.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

A fine day for teamwork. Many useful ideas will result from an exchange of views with associates. Some good news indicated in the p.m.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

A down-to-earth attitude needed. Don't let yourself be drawn into a whirlwind of rumor and speculation — now rife in many quarters.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Don't let surface glitter beguile you now. Search for facts before accepting any proposition — no matter how rosy it sounds.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely intelligent individual, a quick thinker and an idealist, with a flair for the unusual. You have a vivid imagination, a strong will and an outstanding sense of justice. You are one of the zodiac's true humanitarians, and a life of service is almost sure to be in the cards for you. You are creative, too, and could especially succeed in literature, music, painting or interior decoration. Business is not really your forte but if it appeals to you, you COULD make a success of real estate. New methods aid learning Spanish language

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Spanish is fast becoming America's second language and "hablo espanol" may become a more familiar response than "I don't speak Spanish."

The need to communicate with a growing population of Spanish-speaking people and the importance of other languages in travel and business are providing impetus for many Americans to attend language schools where new methods of teaching are helping to simplify learning.

In fact a language school explosion has resulted. So says Irene E. Gorman of Palo Alto, Calif., former security analyst and school teacher, in explaining the rapid growth of the 26 language schools she heads as president — all directed by women — and the plans to open 10 additional schools this winter. The schools use a system based on one devised by linguist Maurice Sullivan when he was charged with training American officers in German for the Nuremberg trials.

"People are studying Spanish for a variety of needs," she observed. "Doctors, attorneys, professors, nurses, pilots, stewardesses, real estate operators are using Spanish in their work."

POLICEMEN and government agency people in California are studying it to deal with Spanish-speaking people. Rudy Vallee studied it to incorporate Spanish songs into his act. Even the Japanese are learning Spanish to cope in bi-lingual areas. Kathy Crosby studied Spanish because she has a house in Mexico — and she went on to learn German in two months before she went to Olympic games. For his role in "The Cop," Richard Crenna studied French.

Many business firms are enrolling employes, Miss Gorman explained. Sears Roebuck has begun projects in Spanish and French for buyers and management people who work with foreign nations. Some businesses are giving language breaks for study instead of coffee breaks. And apparently one is never too old to learn — there are many septuagenarians in the classes.

Languages taught at the Sullivan Language Schools are limited to Spanish, French, German or English, which satisfy the needs of 90 per cent of applicants. The scientific approach used to develop the courses — now being introduced in some public schools — takes many years of evaluation.

Sullivan's original method of teaching during the trials was with wire recorders, forerunners of today's tape recorders. In 1958 with a grant from the Carnegie Foundation, he engaged in a pilot study to relate his method to teaching machines which are now used at the schools.

"THE SYSTEM requires nothing to be memorized, no conjugation of verbs, no lists of vocabulary," Miss Gorman explained.

Employes buy Evendale plant

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Employes of Avco Corp.'s Precision Products Division plant in suburban Evendale, Ohio, have purchased the plant for an undisclosed price.

George J. Mealey, general manager of the plant, heads the new corporation called Cincinnati Electronics Corp.

Mealey said major existing contracts were part of the purchase and there will be no changes in jobs, pay or benefits.

The plant produces military electronics equipment including ground and airborne tactical communications, space electronics, radar, antennae, infrared systems and electronic counter-measures hardware.

'Forgotten' levy up for special vote

NEW RICHMOND, Ohio (AP)— Voters in New Richmond, Ohio Tuesday will consider a renewal of the city's 3.5 mill operating levy.

Officials said they forgot to place the issue on the November ballot and asked for a special election.

Estimates rise on U.S. steel products use

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Industry Week magazine says because of "a growing concern among steel users over the availability of steel," customers are "unexpectedly trying to put 3.5 million to 4 million net tons of steel into inventory in the first half of this year."

This, combined with revised estimates of auto production and a predicted cut in imports, is causing forecasters again to raise their estimates of U.S. steel consumption, shipments and production for 1973, IW said.

The new predictions are that consumption this year will total 111 to 114 million net tons, mill shipments 100 to 102 million tons and raw steel production 145 to 150 million net tons—all records.

The previous forecast for shipments of 96 million net tons has been raised to at least 100 million tons, said IW.

The magazine said if production does hit 150 million tons this year, the nation's mills would be "bumping up against effective capacity, which is believed to be 155 million tons a year. The record year for raw steel production was 1969: 141.3 million net tons."

The record for shipments also was set in 1969 with 93.9 million net tons. Total consumption hit a record 105 million tons in 1972, 1969 and 1968.

IW estimated raw steel production for the week ended March 10 at 2,923,000 net tons, compared with 2,919,000 for the preceding week.

"This rate of output is equivalent to an annual total of about 152 million net tons."

Ohio perspective

Socialist Workers content with gains

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Socialist Workers party in Cleveland is predominantly young, heavily radical and enthusiastically involved in the political process.

All of their political efforts are aimed, say SWP leaders, at an eventual socialist revolution. But in the meantime, it's traditional politics with a difference.

The difference, said SWP mayoral candidate Roberta Scherr, is simply that SWP candidates don't expect to win. And they don't expect socialism "to be voted into office" either.

"I don't have any illusions about winning," Ms. Scherr said. "Most people are Republicans and Democrats, and we don't expect that most people will vote for socialism."

Because electoral victory is not expected for the moment, SWP leaders take solace in a socialist vote as a change in tradition and strong evidence of a permanent convert.

Both Republicans and Democrats are scorned by the SWP as "basically representing the same interests" and "both presenting the illusion of democracy."

Socialism is the real alternative, Ms. Scherr said, and 'running an election campaign is one of the best ways of reaching mass sentiment."

It also offers a chance to correct "a lot of mistaken ideas about socialism," she said. "Most people think of socialism or communism as it exists in the Soviet Union. I don't think that's true. I think that's a betrayal of what socialism stands for."

As a socialist mayor, Ms. Scherr said she would use the office as a rallying point for public feeling — "organizing rallies and mass demonstrations."

She would push, she said, for a 100 per cent tax on companies which fail to curb pollution, for "a lower work week and a sliding scale of wages" to eliminate unemployment and for control of police in the black community "by the black community."

She would lobby for women's rights and for gay liberation, she said. She would continue to propose "socialist alternatives."

But there would be a limit to what she could do, she said. Any fundamental change "will take a socialist revolution.

"It will take a mass social upheaval," she said. "What I'm proposing is only a step toward that. I don't think socialism will be elected into office."

But "of course, we want to win," she added.

"But I would rather 50 people joined the Young Socialist Alliance during the campaign than get ..." She stopped, smiling as she thought about the figure she'd started to say.

"Wait a minute. How many votes would it take?

"But winning people to our ideas. That is the important thing."

State park fee boosts under study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A public hearing is slated next month on proposed fee increases for some facilities at Ohio state parks.

The proposed increases by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources would affect boat dock rentals, deluxe camping area fees, golf greens and cabins, according to Department Director William Nye.

The hearing is slated for 9:30 a.m. April 4 at the Ohio Departments Building, Nye said.

Included in the proposal are the following increases:

—A $1 increase in room rates at Hueston Woods, Salt Fork, Punderson and Burr Oak state parks.

—Raising from $40 to $42 a year boat dock rentals on boats 14 feet long or less.

—A 25 per cent boost in the $2.25 Class A camping fee.

—A 35-cent-per-night increase in camping site electrical rates.

—50-cent increases in 18-hole golf course fees at Hueston Woods and Portsmouth state parks. But reductions of 50 cents to $1 in nine-hole green fees at Salt Fork, Punderson and Hueston Woods parks.

Warren County authoress robbed

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Hazel S. Phillips, 76, author and director emeritus of the Warren County Museum was found locked in the closet of her home Sunday after it was burglarized.

She told police three masked men entered her home Saturday night and demanded money. They ransacked the place after finding only eight dollars in her purse.

Police said the men placed her in her wheelchair before locking her in the closet. She was found Sunday by a friend.

Damage and the value of items taken was not estimated.

Stryker blaze loss $200,000

STRYKER, Ohio (AP) — Fire destroyed a harness shop, a beauty parlor and damaged a post office substation early today in this Williams County community in northwestern Ohio, authorities said.

There was no official damage estimate, but deputies and firemen said it appeared it might run as high as $200,000 from the blaze that destroyed Paul's Harness Shop and the adjoining beauty parlor.

As many as 50 men from eight fire departments controlled the 1 a.m. blaze. Cause of the fire was not known.

There were no injuries.

Mushroom firm rips order

SOUTH LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — The owner of Fred Mushroom Products has charged that the U.S. Food and Drug Administration was being "autocratic" when it ordered a total recall on all the firm's products.

The FDA Sunday ordered the national recall of all products produced by the 43-year-old manufacturing firm over the past four or five months.

"FDA tests show the presence of botulinum txoin, type B spores in samples of four-ounce cans of Fred Mushroom Code No. SW 364," an agency spokesman said.

"The recall includes all of the firm's canned mushroom products on the market," the FDA said.

"The truth of the matter has not been brought out," charged Corwin Fred, who said disease was "an industry problem." Fred said the United Canning Corp. at East Palestine, Ohio, had a similar problem earlier this month.

"They only found the botulism in one or two cans," said Fred.

"We have had some problems down at the plant with the new automatic can filling machine. We admit that.

"But we think the recall should be limited to the products that came off the machine," he said. A total recall of all products, including those in glass, and steak and sauces "doesn't make any sense.

"We are trying to negotiate this with the FDA," Fred said, noting his firm would lose about $200,000 if all products are involved.

"But they're pretty autocratic on something like this. We admit there was a problem, but it wasn't our fault. The problem has been rectified and we will continue to can."

He said whole and button canned mushrooms should be exempt too.

The firm packages about 3.5 million pounds of mushrooms annually and does a business of around $3 million.

Fred said the new machine eliminated the jobs of 100 women packers. The problem was in the part of the machine that actually filled cans with sliced mushrooms.

Fred said that mushrooms parts sometimes remained in the machine most of the day. The result was that when these parts were placed in cans, they required a longer cooking time to kill the bacteria.

"It's a mistake," Fred said. "We didn't know about the filler and the industry didn't know about it either.

"No one has become sick or died. We throw these pieces away now," he said, "we didn't know that this would develop into a problem."

Indiana man held in Lebanon slaying

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — A Brockville, Ind., man was held under $100,000 bond today on first-degree murder charges stemming from a drive-in movie shooting Saturday night. The shooting followed an argument over a car door accident.

Douglas W. Willis, 23, is accused of the fatal shooting of Paul C. Cole, 34, of Sharonville, Ohio.

Jeffersonville pharmacist attends seminar

Fred E. St. Clair of Davis Drugs, Jeffersonville, attended a one-day postgraduate seminar on"Legend and OTC Therapy: Interactions and Contraindications," sponsored by the Ohio State Pharmaceutical Association and the Hamilton County Pharmaceutical Association with the cooperation of the Council of Ohio Colleges of Pharmacy,at Holiday Inn, Cincinnati, March 4.

"Responsibility and Liability in Recommending OTC Drugs" was discussed by Dr. Rupert Salisbury, attorney an associate professor of pharmacy and assistant dean at the Ohio State University College of Pharmacy.

"Antiinfective Therapy" and "Peptic Ulcer Therapy" was discussed by James A. Visconti, Ph. D., R. Ph., director of the Drug Information Center at the Ohio State University Hospital and associate professor of pharmacy at the College of Pharmacy.

Thomas A. Gossel, Ph.D., R. Ph., assistant professor of pharmacology at Ohio Northern University College of Pharmacy, addressed the group on "Diabetes Therapy."

J. Richard Wuest, Pharm. D., R. Ph., assistant professor of pharmacy at the University of Cincinnati College of Pharmacy where he teaches the Pharmacy Practices courses, spoke to the seminarians on "Hypertension Therapy."

All four speakers participated in a panel discussion on " OTC Problems Faced in Practice."

A $10,000 silver saddle enclosed in a glass case is on display in the lobby of New York's fashionable restaurant, the "21 Club."

German girl in Indiana must marry

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—A young German girl must find an American husband by March 22 or be deported. And she's willing to pay for blood tests, license, justice of the peace and, if necessary, "even the divorce."

Micki Topper, a 22-year-old fraulein who came to the United States from West Berlin last Sept. 29 as a tourist, says she will do just about anything to stay here.

She even placed an advertisement in a Fort Wayne newspaper saying, "German girl must get married or be deported." And it may work.

The 5-foot-1 brunette, who sports vital statistics of 36-25-36, says she has been deluged with phone calls and now has "dozens" of suitors.

"I never thought I would be so popular," she said Sunday. "I may have to start making appointments."

Miss Topper said most of her callers are in their 20s, but she had one suitor who was 50 years old.

She said she is serious about the marriage offer and plans to be a "good wife and try to work things out."

"I can't believe it," she said. "I've gotten so many calls. They all sound so nice."

Reject proposal for flood levees on Ohio border

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The U.S. Corps of Army Engineers has rejected two flood control plans near Greencastle and Lawrenceburg, Ind. at the Ohio line.

Maj. Gen. William L. Starnes, division engineer, Ohio River Division, said in Cincinnati, the decision followed a feasibility study requested by the U.S. Senate Public Works Committee Dec. 4, 1974.

Two plans were selected were to utilize the elevated levees for Interstate 275 at the confluence of the Great Miami and Ohio rivers for flood protection.

Starnes said neither plan would be economically feasible since the land in question is relatively undeveloped. The corps offered flood plain planning for restrictions if desired.

Plans for meat boycott in April sweep country

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two women who started a chain-letter appeal for a national meat boycott the first week of April say it has drawn such an overwhelming response that they're convinced it will work and drive meat prices down.

In the three weeks since the pair formed an organization called Fight Inflation Together (FIT), they estimate 3,000 persons have written them pledges promising to abstain from eating meat every Tuesday and Thursday and the entire first week of next month.

They say FIT clubs have been started in about 40 cities and they hear of more every day.

"Our phone doesn't stop ringing," one founder, June Foray Donovan, an actress and voice of television cartoon characters, said Friday. "It's sweeping the country."

"We've got a tiger by the tail," said the other, Arline Mathews, a commercial artist. "It's moving so fast it's amazing."

The pair got the idea while talking on the telephone and sent out letters to friends, enclosing form letters to be sent to at least five friends out of state.

"People all over the country tell us they've been wanting to do something and didn't know how," said Mrs. Donovan.

FIT is nonpartisan and nonpolitical, its only aim being to reduce meat prices, the founders said.

"It's irrelevant to us who is culpable," said Mrs. Donovan. "We believe in the domino theory. If we attack at the retail level it's eventually going to have a chain reaction and get at whoever is the culprit."

Mrs. Donovan is the voice of Rocky the Flying Squirrel in the Bullwinkle cartoon series on television, as well as Granny in the Tweetie and Sylvester cartoon series.

Chemical spill said not major threat

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Coast Guard says an accidental spill of 150,000 gallons of water containing sodium chromate into Otter Creek poses no immediate threat to the area.

The East Toledo plant of Libbey-Owens-Ford discharged the cooling tank water, containing about 500 pounds of the chemical, when automatic controls designed to contain it malfunctioned.

The Coast Guard said it will dam the creek and filter the water before it flows into Maumee Bay on Lake Erie.

Awardwoman $10,000 for false arrest

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)— Linda Mitchell, 24, has been awarded a $10,000 judgment against Nadler Clothes in Butler County Common Pleas Court charging malicious arrest.

Mrs. Mitchell said she was arrested for shoplifting and spent the night in jail in March, 1970. She denied the charge and the grand jury ignored the case. She originally asked for $25,000.

Panthers nab district cage title

MT upsets eighth-ranked Cavs in classic defensive struggle

By ED SUMMERS
Record-Herald Staff Writer

The Miami Trace Panthers were crowned Southeastern Ohio District champions Saturday night after they shocked the eight-ranked Chillicothe Cavaliers 43-40 in a classic defensive struggle at Ohio University's Convocation Center.

The game, played before nearly 4,000 fans, saw the Panthers and Cavaliers lock horns in what had to be one of the finest defensive games of the season for either team.

"It was great. Really fantastic," a jubilant Jan Stauffer commented," the boys deserve all the credit. They really wanted it."

JUST HOW much the Panthers "wanted it" was evidenced by their hustle and teamwork against the pressing Cavaliers, especially in the frantic closing minutes of the contest when they pumped in seven points to seal their first-ever district championship. Miami Trace's tenacious zone defense in the second half was perhaps the key to the victory, keeping the ball away from the Cavaliers' big men in the middle and forcing Chillicothe into shooting from longer range.

It was Pete Jones 'hot hand' that the Panthers in the game in the first half. Pete pumped in 16 of the Panthers' 28 points in the first two periods, including a rebounded shot with 12 seconds remaining which gave Miami Trace a 28-27 lead which they never relinquished. Six-foot junior Dave Steinhauser, starting his first game ever as a forward, did a yeoman's job under the boards with the taller Ross Countians, pulling in height missed shots and canning nine points.

Center Dave Persinger, drawing his first tournament starting assignment came through with 12 rebounds and six points.

But perhaps the unsung hero of the games was senior guard Glenn Gifford, in his first starting role since suffering a serious wrist injury several weeks ago. Time and time again Gifford, seemingly unbothered by the pressure, squirmed and dribbled his way through the net-like Cavalier zone press which Chillicothe employed throughout the contest. Although Glenn, the smallest player on the court, never scored a point, his ball handling and hustling defensive play saved the Panthers in several crucial situations.

MUFF JONES, saddled with three fouls early in the second period, nevertheless turned in a fine defensive performance and added six points and five rebounds to the winning totals.

For the Cavaliers, who had tasted defeat only three times prior to the game, the loss was a sad ending to a fine season. The Cavaliers, led by All-Ohio candidate Mark Bayless, with 14 points and 11 rebounds, were never able to crack the Panthers' tough 1-2-2 zone defense in the second half although they were within one point of the Fayette Countains on three occasions.

Chillicothe controlled the opening tipoff and Bayless put the Cavaliers on the scoreboard with a 15-foot jumper with 39 seconds gone in the period. Pete Jones popped in a shot from the top of the key for the Panthers first score with 5:30 remaining and Steinhauser tossed in a rebound goal three minutes later to give Miami Trace its first lead at 6-5.

Jones then pumped in six straight points in the remaining time, but the Ross Countians countered with nine and took a 14-12 lead as the second quarter got underway.

Muff Jones left the contest on his third personal foul with 3:57 left in the period as Chillicothe built a five-point, 23-18 lead, its biggest of the night. However brother Pete came to the Panther rescue and hit eight of Miami Trace's next 10 points and gave them a 28-27 halftime lead.

The Panthers, who had opened in a man-to-man defense, switched to a 1-2-2 zone midway through the second period and held Chillicothe to only two baskets in the last four minutes of the half.

The Panther defense was nearly perfect in the opening minutes of the third period, holding Chillicothe scoreless for the first 3:50 seconds of play while Pete Jones and Persinger combined for six points to give Miami Trace a seven point 34-27 lead.

CENTER BILL RAY finally broke the scoring ice for the Cavaliers, tossing in a layup to key a six-point Chillicothe scoring binge which closed the gap 34-33 with less than two minutes remaining.

Steinhauser somehow managed to snatch a rebound away from the tall timber under the Panther bucket and hit a fall-away jumper with 59 seconds left to again increase the Miami Trace margin to three points, 36-33.

The Cavaliers had two more opportunities to score in the period but were forced into bad passes by the hustling Panthers.

The tension-filled final period got underway with Chillicothe controlling the tip. Dan Beverly put in a rebounded shot with 7:16 remaining and the score stood 36-35. The bucket was the only points scored by either team for the first 6:50 of the period.

Unimpregnable defenses by both teams and the Panthers' stalling tactics kept the fans on the edges of their seats as scoring opportunities slipped through the fingers of either team, during the next several minutes.

As Stauffer later explained, "the boys were tiring from fighting the constant pressing defenses employed by the Cavaliers and we decided to hold the ball for a good shot."

Whatever the reason, the strategy worked, as Miami Trace controlled the ball for nearly all the first six minutes before Muff Jones finally gave the Panthers a three-point lead on a fastbreak layup with 1:50 left.

Ray countered with a shot from the lane to cut the margin to one at 38-37, but a short jumper by Persinger again gave Miami Trace a 40-37 lead, with 1:20 remaining. Following a free throw by Ray six seconds later on Pete Jones fourth personal foul, both teams threw away scoring opportunities before the Panthers took over with 38 seconds remaining after a Cavalier turnover. Muff Jones was fouled by Cavalier Ted Gatliff as they collided in midair on the inbounds pass. Both players were shaken up on the play but Muff, Following a Panther timeout, calmly stepped to the charity stripe and bucketed both ends of a one and one situation, giving Miami Trace a 42-38 lead. A Chillicothe turnover following a jump ball again gave Miami Trace possession and with 18 seconds left Persinger was at the line with a bonus situation after being fouled by Ray. Dave missed the first shot, but Miami Trace managed to control the rebound.

With 10 seconds remaining Gatliff fouled Steinhauser in an attempt to steal the ball and the steel-nerved junior hit on his first attempt to open a five-point lead, 43-38.

CHILLICOTHE grabbed the missed second shot and the Panthers allowed Gatliff to drive the length of the floor for a layup. The Cavaliers managed to call a time out with a second left after they knocked the Panther inbound pass away but could do nothing more than again bat away the inbounds pass before time expired.

Although smaller Miami Trace outrebounded the Cavaliers by a 52-49 margin, led by Persinger with 12 and Pete Jones with nine.

Neither team shot well in the pressure filled contest, the Panthers hitting on 18 of 54 attempts for 33 per cent while Chillicothe could muster only 16 of 65 shots for 25 per cent. The Cavaliers hit 8 of 16 from the charity stripe and Miami Trace canned seven of 15.

The quick-handed Cavaliers pressed full-court the entire contest, but Panther ballhandlers committed only 14 miscues. The Cavaliers had 11 turnovers.

Miami Trace, a winner of 11 consecutive games, will collide with highly-touted Columbus South Friday evening in Class AAA regional tournament play at the Fairgrounds Coliseum in Columbus.

The Panthers, co-champions of the South Central Ohio League, will risk a 16-6 all-games record when they meet Columbus South (19-2) at 5 p.m. Friday.

Columbus South, ranked fifth in the Associated Press' final high school basketball poll, rose to the occasion with an 86-68 win over Mt. Vernon Saturday while the Panthers were shocking eighth-ranked Chillicothe in the Athens District tourney.

ALL THREE defending champions are still alive along Ohio's heartbreak highway. Cleveland East Tech in Class AAA, Columbus Ready in Class AA Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South in Class A are defending the titles they won a year ago in St. John Arena.

All three have rugged regional tasks facing them while trying to get back to Columbus March 22, 23 and 24 for the 51st Ohio High School Athletic Association state cage championships.

Newark, which smoothly handled Columbus East 48-40, will be in the 8:30 p.m. regional game Friday at the Coliseum against Findlay (16-6).

Columbus Ready and Bexley were the winners of the Class AA Central District tournament, gaining berths to the Steubenville Regional. Pat Penn's defending Class AA champs, now 19-3, face Wellsville (18-4) at 5 p.m. Friday, while Bexley (17-4) meets Steubenville Catholic (21-1) at 8:30 p.m.

Bob Howsam will head Cincy Reds

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— General Manager Bob Howsam was expected to be named President of the Cincinnati Reds today, replacing Francis L. Dale.

Howsam was summoned from the Reds training camp in Tampa, Fla., today to attend a board of directors meeting.

Dale was nationally known as a member of the Committee to Re-Elect the President, and is publisher of The Cincinnati Enquirer.

Dale, once considered one of the "Young Turks" among major league owners, is expected to remain on the board of directors and as an adviser to the ball club.

Sources said Louis Nippert, a prominent Cincinnati lawyer, is to become board chairman.

Nippert, an original member of the local syndicate which purchased the Reds from William O. DeWitt in 1966, acquired 51 per cent of the stock last May.

The 56-year-old Howsam signed a new, three-year contract with the Reds last December. He was expected to continue as general manager in a dual role.

Frankie Frisch dies of injuries

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Frankie Frisch, a member of baseball's Hall of Fame, died today of cardiac arrest at the Wilmington Medical Center.

Frisch, 74, was injured in an automobile accident Feb. 8 near Elkton, Md.

Frisch, who managed the St. Louis Cardinals' Gas House Gang of the 1930s had been in critical condition since the accident.

Cincinnati Swords sew up championship

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Swords celebrated their championship victory in the Western Division of the American Hockey League Sunday night in a subdued fashion.

Quiet, yet smiling, the two-year-old expansion team had a round of soda pop and departed.

"We're saving the champagne for the Calder Cup," said Joey Robertson after the Swords walloped their season-long nemisis, the Hershey Bears, 11-2.

Cobb places ninth in state mat meet

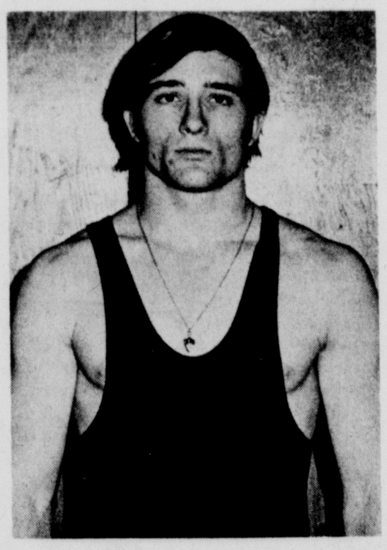
Gardner Cobb, Miami Trace's senior strongboy, notched a ninth place finish in the Class AAA branch of the annual Ohio high school wrestling tournament held Friday and Saturday at St. John Arena on the Ohio State University campus in Columbus.

Head coach Chuck Wallace, who tutored the talented Cobb through an outstanding three-year career on the Miami Trace mats, said a total of 119 Class AAA high school were presented in the state tourney.

Cobb, who completed the season with a glittering 21-2 overall record and is the owner of numerous Miami Trace standards, blanked Gary Braun, of Cleveland St. Joseph, by a 4-0 count in his opening match of the 185-pound class but lost 4-0 to Tim Pierce, of Troy, who was defeated by the eventual state champion from Youngstown Boardman.

TOUGH competition was pinpointed by the fact that only 15 pins were scored in a total of 273 matches and there were 10 overtimes.

Northeastern Ohio, the hotbed of high school wrestling, gained added prestige in the tourney as Elyria nabbed the Class AAA title. Elyria scored 36 points in claiming the Class AAA title, edging Akron Garfield by two points. Mentor finished third with 33½ points followed by Grove City (26), Cincinnati Oak Hills (24) and Columbus Westland (23).



GARDNER COBB

In Class A-AA, Ravenna Southeast walked off with state laurels by totaling 44 points, eight more than second place Oregon Cardinal stritch.

A totalof 33,008 attended the two-day meet and that figure broke last year's record by 5,000 persons.

Tony Perez all geared up for big year with Reds

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Tony Perez has "that feeling," and that could mean trouble for pitchers around the National League.

"I have that feeling, that feeling like I'm going to have a big year," the Cincinnati Reds first baseman said.

Perez had what was, for him, a disappointing season in 1972, although most players would consider it a good year.

He hit .283 for the National League champion Reds and drove in 90 runs, giving him six consecutive seasons with 90 or more runs batted in.

But, Perez hit only 21 home runs and, for the first time since 1966, fell short of playing 150 games because of nagging injuries to his hands.

"It's funny, I hit 21 home runs and everyone is teasing me about losing my power. Someone else hits 21 home runs, and they call him a long ball hitter," said Perez, whose career high in homers is 40.

Perez is determined to improve his homer production; so determined he reported to camp this year in the best shape of his career.

"I took up tennis this winter," said Perez, who played three to four hours of tennis a day all winter in San Juan, P.R.

"I also ran on the beach every day," he said.

Perez also played winter baseball and hit one of the longest home runs in the history of the ball park in Caracas, Venezuela, site of the Caribbean playoffs.

"I never saw anyone hit a longer home run than that," said Reds shortstop Dave Concepcion, who was in the stands that day. "It was high and deep. The centerfield wall is 390 feet away, and the ball went way, way over it."

Perez, a native Cuban who this winter visited his homeland for the first time in 10 years, says the hand injuries that kept him out of action part of last season are healed.

"I'm ready for the season to begin," he said.

The Reds, now 0-2 in the Grapefruit League, face Kansas City today at Fort Myers, Fla.

Cincinnati dropped its second straight game to the Detroit Tigers Sunday, losing 13-0, when Frank Howard hit a pinch three-run homer in the fifth inning off Mel Behney.

Johnny Bench made his first appearance of the season in the game. Bench, who underwent lung surgery in the off-season, drove in a run with a single in two trips to the plate and stole one base.

Mays slapped with fine for long visit with wife

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Not to be outdone by the marital headlines of New York Yankee pitchers Fritz Peterson and Mike Kekich and their respective spouses last week, one of the New York Met wives made a little news over the weekend.

Mrs. Mae Mays received an expensive visit from husband Willie while the Mets, who are looking for a center fielder anyway, put out baseball's version of an APB for the AWOL Willie.

The Yankees' official policy was hands off the Peterson-Kekcik hi-jinks. Mays wasn't so lucky, and Manager Yogi Berra slapped him with a fine estimated from $500 to $1,000 after the 41-year-old superstar missed connections on a flight back from his Atherton, Calif., home to the Mets' St. Petersburg, Fla., training camp and failed to show up for a Saturday workout.

"I made a mistake," Mays admitted after Berra socked him with the first major fine of his long career at a Sunday meeting. "He made his point and he was right. When I'm wrong, I'm wrong. I should have told him."

At first, Mays said his wife wasn't feeling well. Later, he amended his story, saying, "Mostly my wife's lonesome, but she'll join me next week."

At any rate, Mays' absence Saturday had the Mets sending a search party to his apartment a few miles from St. Petersburg. Asked why he hadn't phoned when his original flight back from California was canceled, Mays shrugged:

"I should have. It sounds silly, but I didn't know the number. I could have found it out, I agree, but I thought I could be back before anybody knew I was gone."

Indiana wins Big Ten in wild climax

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Big Ten basketball has had its most incredible championship windup in history.

Last-place Northwestern, grabbing only its second conference victory of the season, defeated top-dog Minnesota 79-74. The Gophers, whose downfall began with a home loss to Iowa earlier in the week, were ranked No. 3 nationally.

Northwestern's shocker knocked Minnesota out of a playoff with Indiana for the championship.

Indiana, downing Purdue 77-72, took its first outright Big Ten crown since 1958. The Hoosiers shared the title with Michigan State in 1967 and won the playoff to get the NCAA tournament ticket.

Now they are back in the NCAA again, carrying the emblem as champion. Their first NCAA action is against Marquette in Nashville Thursday.

Indiana, ranked ninth, clamped the title with an 11-3 record while Minnesota was reduced to runnerup with 10-4 and gets a NIT bid.

Senior Mark Sibley of Northwestern made his final collegiate game his greatest, scoring a career high of 36 points.

His cool free throwing shooting late in the game checked a Gopher surge led by Ron Behagen that had cut the Wildcat lead to four points.

"You only get out of life what you put into it," said Minnesota Coach Ed Musselman. "When a guy plays like Sibley played— he threw his heart out on the floor—you have to match him. He got the loose balls, made the drive-ins and was fouled at the right time.

"We fell behind 7-0 early and we tried to come back too fast," Musselman added. "They took us by surprise and never let up."

A crowd of 6,170 was Northwestern's largest of the season.

"And they saw our best game," said Coach Brad Snyder. "Everybody played hard, especially Sibley. I only wish we had played this well all year. When you shoot 54 per cent from the field a team just about has to win."

Sibley had some thoughts about 34-year-old Snyder whose job as coach has been considered shakey.

"As a team we probably won for ourselves, but I personally won for Brad," said Sibley. "A ball club doesn't stay together as long as we have without a good man at the helm. There will be some people taking some cheap shots at him. But I think he's a beautiful man."

Northwestern has finished at the bottom of the Big Ten the last three seasons.

Indiana, playing before its largest home crowd, 17,436, fell behind Purdue 8-0 early, but kept pressuring to win as Steve Downing scored 20 points and Jim Crews added 14, most of them from outside.

"The first half was the key," said Hoosier Coach Bob Knight. "I think we tied it at 14 and then they jumped ahead 20-14. From then until the end of the first half it was a real key stretch. If they could have added to their lead it could have been real tough..."

Coach Fred Schaus of Purdue said "Indiana had four fewer baskets than us, but they got 24 attempts at the free throw line and we got only eight... That was the difference."

Purdue, Illinois and Ohio State shared third place with 8-6 marks.

Candy LaPrince's 22 points powered Iowa over the Illini 93-76. Nick Conner and Jeff Dawson topped Illinois with 21 each.

Ohio State thrashed Michigan 102-87 behind the production of 24 points by Allan Hornyak and 20 by Wardell Jackson. Henry Wilmore with 16 and Campy Russell with 15 were high for the Wolverines.

Freshman Cedric Milton hit on two free throws in the final four seconds to give Michigan State a 79-78 overtime victory over Wisconsin after the game had been locked 65-65 in regulation play.

Leon Howard gunned Wisconsin with 24 points. Mike Robinson hit 19 for MSU to total 374 for the season. He repeated as Big Ten scoring champion with a 26.7 average.

Trevino winner of Doral Open

MIAMI (AP) — Lee Trevino sighed wearily.

"I aged 10 years on this one. So many guys got so close. I could have finished third or fourth," he said.

But, the man with the pressure-proof nerves didn't. He won, responding to a stretch challenge with a pair of birdies, and a crucial putt on the final hole.

Trevino, now winner of two tournaments in three weeks, blew a four-stroke lead before staging a dramatic rally for a one-stroke victory over Bruce Crampton and Tom Weiskopf in the Doral-Eastern Open Golf Tournament Sunday.

The $30,000 first prize boosted Trevino's money winnings to $98,543 and vaulted him into the No. 1 money-winning spot this year, ahead of Crampton, the leader since he took consecutive titles at Phoenix and Tucson early this season.

"Yeah, I'm the leading money winner," Trevino agreed, "But I'm taking two weeks off, and I won't be when I get back."

Crampton, an Australian veteran enjoying the best season of his 17-year career on the American tour, agreed. "I'm confident I'll get it back," he said.

He came very close to retaining it. Trevino finished with a 276 total, 12-under-par on the 7,065-yard Blue Monster course at the Doral Country Club.

Crampton bolted out of the pack with a seven-under-par 65 on the final round—his card included nine threes—and tied with Weiskopf for second at 277, one stroke behind Trevino. Weiskopf holed a 30-foot birdie putt on the final hole for a 67.

Elyria wrestling tourney champions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Elyria won its first state Class AAA wrestling championship by edging out Akron Garfield and Mentor in St. John Arena Saturday before 10,251 fans.

The Pioneers scored 36 points. Akron Garfield had 34 and Mentor 33½.

Cleveland Crusaders stop Winnipeg, 11-2

WINNIPEG (AP) — Ron Buchanan scored three goals and Bob Dillabough and Gary Jarrett added two apiece Sunday night as the Cleveland Crusaders overpowered Winnipeg 11-2 and moved into a first-place tie with New England in the World Hockey Association's East Division.

UCLA's powerful Bruins await Arizona State tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The UCLA Bruins begin throwing for "seven" this week and John Wooden likes the odds, as usual.

"My optimism going into the NCAA playoffs is about the same as last year—I wouldn't trade my chances with anyone," says the highly successful coach.

It will take more than a roll of the dice to beat the nation's top-ranked team. The Bruins have won six straight national titles and appear just as strong this year as in the past.

"We were down a little but we are coming back and getting sharp at just the right time," says Wooden, whose team currently has a record 71-game winning streak over 2½ seasons and has won 32 straight games in the NCAA Tournament.

Wit a first-round victory Saturday, Arizona State earned the dubious honor of meeting the mighty Bruins this Thursday in one of the West Regional semifinal games. The other matches Long Beach State against the University of San Francisco, champion in the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Like UCLA, winner of the Pacific-8 Conference, San Francisco drew a first-round bye. But there was plenty of action over the weekend—nine game from coast-to-coast.

In the West Regional, Western Athletic Conference champion Arizona State trounced Oklahoma City 103-78 and Long Beach, champion of the Pacific Coast Athletic Association, beat Big Sky winner Weber State 88-75.

In the Mideast, Marquette scored a 77-62 victory over Miami of Ohio, the Mid-American Conference champion, and Ohio Valley Conference winner Austin Peay nipped Jacksonville 77-75.

South Carolina eliminated Southwest Conference champion Texas Tech 78-70, and Southwestern Louisiana smothered Houston 102-89 in the Midwest Regional.

In the East, Syracuse took an 83-32 decision over Furman, the top team in the Southern Conference; Ivy League champion Penn edged St. John's N.Y. 62-61, and Providence registered an 89-76 triumph over St. Jo-seph's, Pa., the winner in the Middle Atlantic Conference.

Saturday's results set up the pairings for Thursday's semifinals in the four regions.

In the Midwest at Houston, it's South Carolina against Missouri Valley Conference titlist Memphis State and Southwestern Louisiana vs. Kansas State.

In the Mideast at Nashville, Tenn., Marquette faces Big Ten champion Indiana and Austin Peay will play Kentucky, winner in the Southeastern Conference. The West Regional will be held at UCLA's Pauley Pavilion in Los Angeles.

LEARNING HIS TRADE — David Houck, right, said by his union to be the only shipwright apprentice in California, gets a lesson in repairing a cabin on a ship from Ed Doney, left, and Dick Linville. Houck works beside older craftsmen, repairing and restoring the collection of old wooden vessels moored in California's Maritime Historic Park near Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco.

Shipwright apprentice learns a dying craft

By BOB YEAGER
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The creaks and groans of ancient wooden sailing ships are everyday shop talk to David Houck.

Houck, 29, is said by his union to be the only shipwright apprentice in the nation's most populous state — an aspirant in a dying craft whose practitioners once designed, built and mended proud wooden ships around the globe.

"There's so much to learn" Houck said of his unique job in Clifrornia's Maritime Historic Park near Fisherman's Wharf. "What I have to do is watch and try to get it all in my head."

He works beside older craftsmen repairing and restoring the collection of old wooden vessels in the park, a popular tourist attraction.

APPRENTICE programs are equally rare in other parts of the country, said Jim Tinkcom, training director of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, the shipwrights' national union.

"The moral of the story is don't buy a big wooden sailing ship unless your handskills are pretty good," he said.

Nominally, shipwrights still exist in the San Francisco area. Harry Dring, maintenance supervisor at the park, said about 70 belong to the shipwrights' union, Local 1149, the oldest union in the state.

The majority find their work in modern shipyards on steel-hulled commercial vessels.

"But if you told them you wanted to build and repair a large wooden sailing ship, they wouldn't know where to begin," Dring said.

Most wood-trained shipwrights today are in their 60s and 70s and "were raised — no matter how the liberals and intellectuals pooh-pooh it — according to the work ethic in a hard, exacting craft," he said.

THAT CRAFT must include an intimate knowledge of the network of planks and fittings that make up the hull of a wooden vessel.

"A shipwright has to be far more competent than an uptown carpenter nailing 2 by 4s together," Dring said. "An old ship is a mass of curving wood. Not only is it complex; it can't leak."

Threatened with total extinction of the shipwright's skills — and desirous of maintaining the six nautical heirlooms at the maritime park — the state began a search for a young apprentice. Houck started the three-year training program "not knowing a poop deck from a forecastle." He is under the tutelage of foreman Joe Beviacqua and three other shipwrights at the park.

BEVIACQUA is 68. The youngest of his journeymen is 51.

The dark-haired mustachioed Houck confesses that the age gap can be frustrating.

"They get a little impatient when I don't learn in a year what they have learned in 40 years," he said.

Houck's unique training experience draws on centuries of historical precedent.

Early efforts to improve shipbuilding were led by King James I, who in 1605 chartered a Shipwrights Guild with jurisdiction over all shipyards in England.

THE GUILD soon offered improvements of its own. Master Shipwright Phineas Pett introduced the use of scale models and mathematically developed plans, making possible the construction of identical vessels.

Wooden ships gave way to metal hulled counterparts at the turn of the century and the traditional skills that went into their design and construction began to fade.

They'll Do It Every Time

Speaking of Your Health...

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

She Has Painful Face Spasms

I have spasms of pain in the face. These happen almost always while I am at work.

I have seen a dentist and a doctor, but the pills they gave me don't seem to have any effect.

What more can I do?

Mrs. A. D., Mass.

Dear Mrs. D.:

Pain in the face and the head often represents a challenge for proper diagnosis.

The nerves of the face, the jaws, the head, ears, the eyes and neck are an intricate system of intercommunication. The fifth, or "trigeminal" nerve, is one of the 12 large nerves that go to the brain.

This fifth nerve is usually responsible for minor and severe pain sensations. So remarkable is it that even a gentle breath of air or a wisp of cotton can produce a sensatiion that is picked up by this nerve and brought to the brain center.

There are many causes that must be ruled out in your case to account for these sporadic episodes of explosive pain. The fact that they occur while at work may prove important, but may also be purely coincidental.

The sinuses, the bit of the teeth and the condition of the jaw joint, changes in the muscles and the vertebrae of the neck, vascular conditions, eye disorders, and allergic reactions to drugs and food may all be responsible.

You can see, therefore, that a casual visit to your dentist or to your doctor is not enough to scratch the surface of the exploration necessary to track down the source of your problem.

Neurological studies, X-rays of the sinuses in the head, studies of the occlusion, or "bite," of the teeth, and studies of vision and the balance of eye muscles can all contribute to a conclusive diagnosis that will finally determine the treatment and cure of your facial pain.

One very special condition known as "tic douloureux" is responsible for excruciating pain of the face. This, too, must be ruled out. Once the diagnosis is made, the newer medications can control the severity and the frequency of your attacks.

Sometimes when I sneeze hard a hemorrhage follows in my left eye. It lasts for a few weeks and then disappears.

Is this dangerous?

Mr. P. B., Tex.

Dear Mr. B.:

These are known as "conjunctival hemorrhages."

The conjunctiva is a thin, delicate covering of the outside of the eye. A forceful sneeze can break a tiny blood vessel and then a small amount of blood seeps under the conjunctiva.

It takes a long time for the blood to be absorbed. There is, however, no danger of impairment of vision.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH.....Cotton tip applicators are often too firm and may injure the ear canal. They should be used in the ear with the greatest caution.

Opening lead - king of hearts.

Here is a fascinating hand from Spotlight on Card Play by Robert Darvas and Paul Lukacs.

West leads the king of hearts, East playing the five, and South's problem is to give himself the best chance for the contract.

First, let's assume South wins with the ace and tries a diamond finesse. In that case East wins, returns a heart, and South finds himself kaput. He goes down one.

Next, let's assume South ducks the king of hearts, playing the three on it. (This play is known as the Bath Coup.) If West continues with a heart, South makes an extra trick and gets home quite easily, but if West is an experienced player, he will not play another heart, for he can reasonably conclude that South has the A-J.

Instead, West would shift to the queen of spades and continue the suit until South took the ace. Eventually South would go down one, losing a heart, three spades and a diamond.

Declarer's proper play at trick one is to drop his jack on West's king! West would be a mighty shrewd cookie to stop leading hearts after this play.

He would naturally assume that South's heart holding was the A-J alone, which would be consistent with East's having the 6-5-3 and signaling encouragement with the five.

West would almost surely lead another heart to force out the ace. South could now afford to win the truck and try a diamond finesse, this guaranteeing the contract whether the finesse won or lost.

It would be unfair to blame West for falling into the trap laid by South's extraordinary falsecard of the jack at trick one. Good plays occasionally pay off!

Weekend traffic crashes injure seven persons

Two Saturday traffic crashes sent a total of seven persons to Memorial Hospital for treatment of minor injuries, police and sheriff's departments reported. The two local law enforcement agencies investigated a total of eight traffic mishaps over the weekend in which five drivers were cited and property damage listed as heavy.

Four members of a Cedarville family were injured in a single car crash on Water Street, south of Temple Street, Saturday morning.

Police said Elizabeth A. Lawson, 30, driver of the car and three passengers, Marilyn M. Lawson, 9, Patricia N. Lawson, 7, and Rose Lawson, were all taken to the emergency room for treatment following the crash. All were released following treatment for minor cuts and bruises.

The Lawson car was southbound on Water Street when it ran off the right side and crashed into a utility pole. The 1967 model car was heavily damaged, officers said.

Mrs. Lawson was cited for reckless operation.

A two-car crash at the intersection of Ohio 41 and Parrott Station Road Saturday afternoon sent three members of a Westerville family to Memorial Hospital with injuries.

Released following treatment were Loise A. Ide, 27, Lori A. Ide, 6, and Phillip K. Ide, 7, all passengers in a car driven by Stephen C. Ide, 29. He was also injured but not treated at the time.

The accident occurred when an eastbound car driven by Theodore D. Craig, 27, Rt. 4, pulled from the stop sign on Parrott Station Road, into the path of the northbound Ide car, sheriff's deputies said.

Craig was cited for failing to yield the right of way. Both cars were extensively damaged.

Other crashes investigated were:

POLICE

SATURDAY, 2 p.m. — Elvin E. Jones, 47, Mount Sterling was cited for failure to yield the right of way in a collision with a car driven by Edith I. McNeil, 69, Rt. 3, on Columbus Avenue at the entrance to Carroll Halliday Inc.; damage extensive.

SUNDAY, 3:08 p.m. — Marvin Clames, 49, Franklin, was cited for failure to maintain an assured clear distance after a collision with the rear of a car driven by Cathy A. Newbrey, 21, of 2011 Heritage Dr.; damage moderate.

SHERIFF

SUNDAY, 1 a.m. — A car driven by Robert R. Patterson, 20, Atlanta, went out of control and hit a fence on Bloomingburg-New Holland Road, north of Washington-Waterloo Road, when he attempted to stop to avoid a dog in the road; damage moderate.

SUNDAY, 6:49 a.m. — Edward E. Murphy, 21, Columbus, lost control of his car on U.S. 62, just south of Washington C.H., and hit two mailboxes; damage moderate.

SUNDAY, 5:10 p.m. — James R. Matthews, 18, of 1225 N. North St., was cited for reckless operation after his car ran off Ohio 729 two miles south of Jeffersonville and damaged two rods of fence on the Eunice Merritt farm; damage moderate.

SUNDAY, 6:15 p.m. — A parked tractor-trailer rig rolled backwards on the Stop 35 lot, U.S. 35 and I-71, hitting a guardrail and knocking a hole in the garage wall; damage moderate.

Stereo equipment reported stolen

A 40-year-old Washington C. H. man was arrested on a petty larceny charge as police and sheriff's deputies investigated a variety of complaints over the weekend.

Police said Homer P. Anders, of 726 S. North St., was charged with petty larceny in a complaint filed by Dorothy Knisley, of 626 S. Fayette St. Saturday.

She claimed that Anders stole her husband's coat from her car parked behind the home. She told officers her children has chased Anders and retrieved the coat, valued at $10.

Allen Willoughby, 805 Lincoln Dr., reported the theft of a stereo tape player and 70 stereo tapes, all valued at $295 from his car. Police said the theft occurred Saturday night while the unlocked car was parked at Willoughby's home. Two tape cases were also taken.

A gasoline engine valued at $95 was stolen from a storage shed at the intersection of U.S. 62 and Greenfield-Sabina Road sometime during the past month. Sheriff's deputies said the engine was property of Robert's Electric, of 742 Highland Ave.

Five windows in a house under construction of 726 Columbus Ave. were shot out last weekend. Joe Denen of 128 E. Paint St., told police the windows were valued at $44.

Sharon Downard of 710 E. Paint St. reported th theft of a bicycle from her home Friday night. The bicycle was valued at $40.

Exhibitors set record at gun show

Balmy weather brought the flea marketeers out in unexpected numbers Saturday and Sunday for the Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collectors Association show at the Fairground here.

Since this was the last of the winter shows, few, if any, of the nomadic hobbyists were expected here for a flea market. However, the weather changed that and 84 set up a flea market outside Saturday and 46 more came in Sunday. This was far fewer than turn up for a summer flea markets, but was probably a record for a winter show.

Nearly 180 collectors packed the Mahan and Fine Arts buildings with a wide variety of displays. This month's show was to feature coins and antiques, and there were some fine collections of each, but Association President Kenneth Craig said that probably the most outstanding single exhibit was a Miquelet muzzle loading gun, which was used by many pioneers from about 1740 and 1800s. It was a percussion rifle with the spring outside and the second type of flintlock.

Spectators swarmed the two buildings and the flea market area around them both days.

The next show — the first of the summer shows which include the flea market — is scheduled for April 14 and 15.

The competition will be for "bench rifles," the guns made especially for target competition among the pioneers. Craig explained that they were too heavy for squirrel hunting and received their name because they were laid across a bench to steady them in competition.

WCH Jaycees attend state convention

Dick Anthony, president, and five other Washington C. H. Jaycees attended the all-state convention during the weekend in Akron. Accompanying Anthony were Wes Wilson, Ernie Wilson, Dale Burler, Dan Armbrust and Jim Benson.

The outstanding young citizen and outstanding young educator programs featured the Saturday banquet.

An environmental action program highlighted the quarterly meeting. Environmental specialists from throughout the country participated in the forums.

Bloomingburg Masonic lodge has inspection

BLOOMINGBURG — Thirteen past masters and several distinguished Masons attended the annual inspection of the Bloomingburg Masonic Lodge No. 449 Saturday evening.

Donald E. Grieves was the candidate for the inspection in the Master Mason degree by Malcolm H. Grady of Williamsport, the eighth district deputy grand master representing Grand Master Dale E. Fox. He assured the lodge it would receive a "very good rating."

Among the distinguished Masons attending the inspection were District Deputy Grand Master Royce L. Pauley of Jamestown, Virgil Lowe of Washington C. H., and Walter Graham and Howard Sheets of Fairborn, all three past deputy grand masters.

Officers of the lodge are Garry McConnaughey, worshipful master; Russell Oberschlake, senior warden; Daniel Terhune, junior warden; Harold McConnaughey, secretary; Roy Thompson, treasurer; Daniel Thompson, senior deacon; James T. Perrill, junior deacon; Clark Thompson, chaplain; Ronald Burke, senior steward; Jeffery Thompson, junior steward; Wilbur Rapp, tyler; Leonard Slager, marshall; and education officer, John Cook.

Refreshments were served to 105 members of the lodge here and visitors following the inspection.

Courts

JUVENILE COURT

Juvenile Court Judge Rollo M. Marchant suspended the driver's licenses of two Fayette County youths Friday in traffic hearings.

Wayne A. Armintrout, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Armintrout, Rt. 5, lost his driving privileges indefinitely and was ordered to attend a Defensive Driver Training Course. He was cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

John L. Tatman, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Tatman, 929 Millwood Ave., lost his driving privileges for 30 days and was also ordered to attend a Defensive Driver Training Course. He was cited by the Ohio Highway Patrol Feb. 17 for speeding.

BB pellet injures girl

A 12-year-old Bloomingburg girl was treated in Memorial Hospital for a wound on her forehead suffered when she was struck by a BB pellet Sunday afternoon.

Sheriff's deputies said Karla E. Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Johnson, and her younger brother were playing with an air rifle when he fired the gun. The pellet hit the girl in the left side of the forehead.

Her brother said he thought the gun was unloaded.

She was released after treatment in the emergency room.

Staunton-Olive PTO sets skating party

The Staunton-Olive Parent-Teacher Organization has scheduled a skating party at Roller Haven Wednesday evening to raise money to buy a piano for the Staunton School. The piano at the Olive School is considered in fair condition and still in use. The party, which will include cakewalks and other features, will be from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Chamber groups list activities

This week is a busy week for the Washington C. H. Area Chamber of Commerce and affiliated organizations, with several meetings on schedule.

Activity began Monday when Chamber and Community Improvement Corp. representatives met for a breakfast work session. They reviewed plans to attend the Ohio Chamber's annual Legislature Meeting Wednesday in Columbus. Various legislative and industrial leaders will confer at the meeting. Jerry Sheppard, Chamber president, and George Winkle, CIC president, will head the local delegation.

The Chamber educational committee meets at 4 p.m. Monday to discuss plans for Business - Industry - Education programs to be held for seniors at both Washington Senior and Miami Trace High Schools.

The Downtown Business Association will hold its monthly meeting at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Chamber office, according to chairman Jim Ward. Current and upcoming activities and promotions are on the agenda.

Physical fitness club to organize

The first 4-H Physical Fitness Club in Fayette County will organize at the Miami Trace High School Gymnasium at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The club will center its activities on wrestling with youngsters learning the basics of the sport.

Chuck Wallace, head wrestling coach at Miami Trace, will coordinate the program with assistance from several former wrestling team members. The youngsters will learn the value of exercise and good nutrition preparing them to meet the challenges of the future as well as today.

Boys from 9 to 19 are invited to join and learn first hand how to maintain their physical well being through sport, competition, sensible eating and exercise.

TORNADO WRECKAGE — Bobby Riley pokes through ruins of his radiator shop which was demolished by an early-morning tornado that struck the central Texas town of Burnet. Riley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Riley occupied the living quarters, the wreckage of which is at right, and were asleep when the twister hit. Mrs. Riley received only a slight cut on her head. Her husband was unhurt.

Texas tornado toll hits seven

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The twisters that tore through central Texas over the weekend have claimed seven lives with the deaths of two more persons Sunday.

The tornadoes caused millions of dollars of damage Saturday and severely cripled the Texas towns of Hubbard and Burnet, 150 miles apart between Dallas and Austin.

The weather was somewhat calmer today with warm temperatures pushing into the northeastern states and a late winter snow storm thumping the mountain areas of the West.

Record warm temperatures were recorded over much of the Ohio Valley and into the Great Lakes Sunday. Those temperatures moved over the lower Great Lakes region today. Eastern Ohio, western Pennsylvania and southwest New York had temperatures in the 60s early today.

A band of showers and thundershowers extended from the Florida Panhandle along the Atlantic coast to Long Island. A few showers dampened areas over the Ohio Valley and lower Great Lakes.

In the West, heavy snow hit the mountains of California, Arizona, Utah, Nevada, southern Idaho and southwest Wyoming. Ely, Nevada, took on 2 inches of snow while Pocatello, Idaho, and Reno each received 1 inch.

Southern California, Arizona and the Pacific Northwest coast were soaked with scattered showers and thunderstorms.

Sleet, hail and rain soaked coastals areas of southern California and snow up to 12 inches blanketed mountain areas.

In the Los Angeles suburb of Glendale, snow, ice and hail contributed to dozens of traffic accidents on the Ventura Freeway.

Heavy rains pounded some coastal roadways so hard that state police had to guide motorists through.

In the Midwest, rains and melting snow in Wisconsin caused river banks to overflow, blocking several roads and chasing many residents from their homes.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 13 at Butte, Mont., to 77 at Key West, Fla.

Ohio agency for job safety being proposed by Gilligan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A new division of Occupational Health and Safety to police Ohio's on-the-job safety laws is to be proposed this week to Gov. John Gilligan.

The proposal, prepared by two Ohio State University professors, is expected to be put in bill form and readied for introduction into the legislature by April 15.

Gilligan had requested the proposal as a way to get federal approval of the state's safety program and 50 per cent matching funds.

The proposed new division must first gain legislative approval, then approval by the U.S. Department of Labor, before the federal government will share in the cost.

OSU professor Robert C. Miljus said the federal government may phase out its four regional safety offices in Ohio if the state develops its own safety enforcement program.

Any bill that emerges from the proposal will include a penalty section, a source said. Miljus said there is presently no state penalty for violating industrial safety laws.

The Division of Safety and Hygiene, currently financed by a percentage of unemployment compensation paid by employers, will be delegated to "technical and education" functions under the proposal.

"The main thrust" of the new division will be enforcement, Miljus said.

Gilligan pledged action in the area in his state-of-the-state message to the 110th General Assembly. He said 300,000 Ohioans were injured each year in on-the-job accidents.

In other action this week, the House Finance-Appropriations Committee is expected to wrap up initial hearings conducted by various subcommittees on the administration's $9.7 billion biennial budget.

The House is expected to vote Tuesday on a bill that would provide up to six months in jail and a $1,000 fine for anybody tampering with any safety device.

Gray hearing winds down in senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee today expects to complete its hearing of public witnesses on the nomination of L. Patrick Gray III to be FBI director. Then will come an attempt to get testimony from White House counsel John Dean.

Scheduled witnesses include Edward Scheidt of Reston, Va., an FBI agent for 22 years before his retirement in 1953; Stephen I. Schlossberg, general counsel of the United Auto Workers, and Quinn Tamm, executive director of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

The committee is expected to meet in executive session Tuesday to vote on a motion by Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif., to ask Dean to testify about his role in the FBI's investigation of the break-in and bugging of Democratic offices in Washington's Watergate complex.

Tunney says he believes he has the votes to invite Dean. But President Nixon has said he will not permit Dean to testify, on grounds that any discussions Dean had in the capacity of heading a White House investigation of the Watergate affair or as the President's attorney should remain confidential.

John D. Ehrlichman, assistant to the President for domestic affairs, said Sunday that the White House has not wavered on the Gray nomination and called Tunney's actions political.

"The same kind of John Tunney politics is being played as he played in the ITT case and I think the outcome is going to be the same," Ehrlichman said on ABC's "Issues and Answers." "Senator Tunney is going to be repudiated by the Senate the same way he was in the ITT case."

Weather

Cloudy, windy and cooler with a chance of showers north and central, highs in the 50s and low 60s. Clearing and cooler tonight, lows in the mid 30s to the mid 40s. Sunny and warmer Tuesday, highs in the 60s.

Viet Cong promises more lists

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam today delivered a list of 108 American prisoners it will release in Hanoi on Wednesday; meanwhile, the United States again suspended the withdrawal of American troops to insure the Communists release all 286 Americans they still hold.

The Viet Cong promised a list on Tuesday of approximately 30 prisoners of war captured in South Vietnam who will be released in Hanoi on Thursday.

The U.S. delegation radioed the list from the North Vietnamese to Washington for notification of the prisoners' families. The list was to be made public by the Defense Department later today.

Bui Tin, the chief North Vietnamese spokesman in Saigon, said all those to be released on Wednesday were airmen shot down in late 1967 and 1968. He said they included Lt. Cmdr. John S. McCain III, son of the former commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific.

Those to be released on Thursday are expected to include Maj. Floyd Thompson, the POW who has been held longest, and Philip Manhard, the highest-ranking civilian POW.

Those turnovers will constitute the third phase of the POW release, leaving one group of about 156 to be freed by March 28, two months after the Jan. 28 start of the ceasefire. March 28 also is the deadline for the withdrawal of all American and other foreign allied forces.

A U.S. spokesman said troop withdrawals were suspended to "make damn sure we get all of the prisoners." He said he foresaw no problem and noted that both North Vietnam and the Viet Cong have said they will comply with the agreement. But "we want to make absolutely certain," he added.

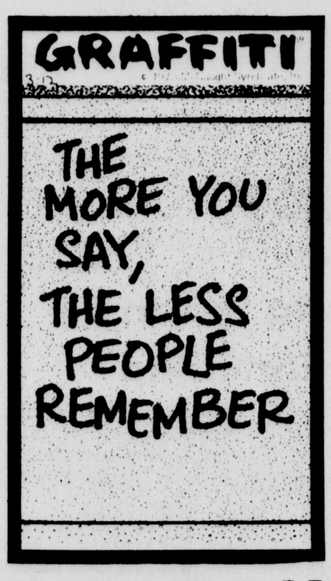
The spokesman said U.S. troop strength in Vietnam now totals 6,935 men, compared with 23,516 on Jan. 28. Foreign allied troops, primarily South Koreans, have dropped from 35,509 to 5,607.

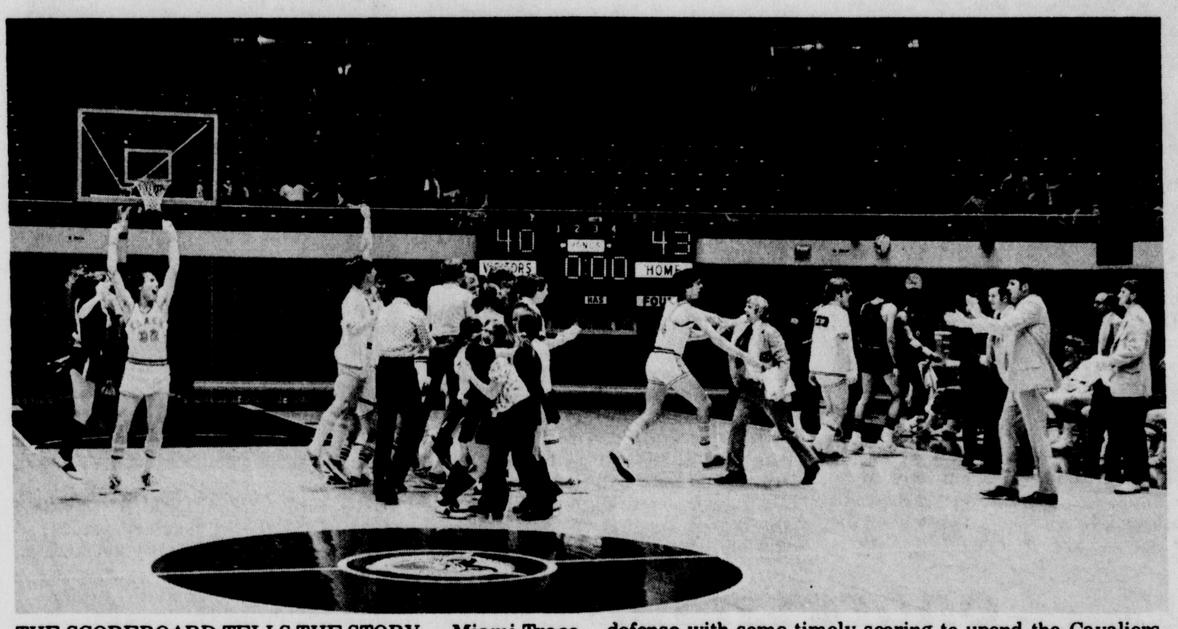
"We've withdrawn our troops at a steady flow, and we haven't been getting a steady flow of prisoners," the spokesman added.

The Communists have released 299 Americans in three groups, on Feb. 12, Feb. 18 and March 4-5. This is a little more than half the 585 American prisoners they admitted holding.

The United States also suspended troop withdrawals on Feb. 28 when the Communists delayed release of American prisoners for five days in a dispute over other provisions of the cease-fire agreement.

Meanwhile, the Vietnamese-American Joint Military Commission sent to the International Commission of Control and Supervision a request today for an on-site investigation of Communist charges that South Vietnamese forces have been attacking Duc Pho. It is an exchange point for Vietnamese prisoners on the northern coast 100 miles south of Da Nang.





THE SCOREBOARD TELLS THE STORY — Miami Trace cheerleaders, players and coaches race onto the floor after the final buzzer in the Panthers' electrifying 43-40 district championship win over eighth-ranked Chillicothe Saturday night at the Ohio University Convocation Center. The Jan Stauffer coached Fayette Countians parlayed a tough zone defense with some timely scoring to upend the Cavaliers, who defeated them earlier in the season. The Panthers will now face Columbus South in the opening round of the Regional Tournament at the Fairground Coliseum Friday. The win gave Miami Trace their first district crown in three attempts.

Ticket sales set for regional

Ticket plans for Friday night's game between Miami Trace and Columbus South in the Class AAA Regional basketball tournament at the Fairgrounds Coliseum in Columbus have been completed by school officials.

Delmar Mowery, athletic director at Miami Trace High School, said that Miami Trace has been alloted four sections of reserved seats and nine sections of general admission seats. The MT seats are located at the east end of the Coliseum.

The entire pre-sale of tickets for the tournament game will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The reserved seats, which are located in sections 1-4, are priced at $2.50 per person, while the general admission seats, situated in sections 5-13, are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Mowery noted that at the main entrance there will be both student and adult gates. Adults, holding student tickets, will not be admitted to the Coliseum, he said.

A pre-sale of adult and a limited number of student tickets will be held Tuesday and Wednesday only at the Washington Paint and Glass store, 124 N. Fayette St., Mowery said. A student ticket sale will also be held at Miami Trace High School on those days.

MIAMI TRACE has been alloted a total of 2,500 tickets. Only adult general admission and reserved seats will be on sale at the door, if available.

The Fairgrounds Coliseum has a seating capacity of 6,300.

A 25-cent fee will be charged to persons parking at the state fairgrounds.

Miami Trace (16-6) will meet fifth-ranked Columbus South (19-2) at 5 p.m. Friday. Newark (20-2) and Findlay (16-6) will play at 8:30 p.m. The two winners will meet at 7:30 p.m. Saturday for a trip to state basketball tournament at St. John Arena on the Ohio State University campus.

Persons attending the Miami Trace-Columbus South game will be cleared from the gymnasium prior to the Newark-Findlay game, Mowery said.

Bermuda governor, aide slain

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — More Scotland Yard detectives were due in Bermuda today to join the investigation of the murder of the island's British governor and his aide-de-camp. Police said they were questioning a number of persons but had made no arrests.

Gov. Sir Richard Sharples, 57, and Capt. Hugh Sayers, 25, were shot shortly before midnight Saturday. Their bodies were found outside the front door of Government House, the governor's residence.

Police said they did not know how many gunmen were involved in the slayings, which occurred after a small dinner party while the men were walking Sharples' pet great Dane, Horsa. The dog also was killed.

There were no security measures in effect at the time for the 15 acre park that surrounds the residence about a mile from Hamilton. Only the usual unarmed guard was on duty at the mansion.

A state of emergency was declared immediately, giving police the power to keep suspects from leaving the island. It appeared to have virtually no effect on the thousands of tourists jamming hotels.

Nearly all sporting events were cancelled Sunday; but other activities were normal, though many persons expressed grief or shock over the killings.

Sir Edward Richards, the government leader in the island's legislature, told a news conference he could not say if the murders were politically motivated.

Two Scotland Yard men who had investigated the murder of Bermuda's police commissioner last fall returned to the island Sunday. Det. Chief Supt. Bill Wright and Inspector Basil Hadrell had returned to Britain two weeks ago, and there has been no word of the results of their investigation into the killing of Commissioner George Duckett and the wounding of his 17-year-old daughter. They were shot during the evening outside their home six months to the day before the killing of the governor.

Officials said they had not established any link between the two incidents.

THIS SPRING-LIKE weather of the last few days of course won't last until summer, but it's a tipoff of what's to come before long . . . With the spring flowers will come grass . . . And with the grass will come the mowing . . . Superintendent John Spengler, of Washington Cemetery, already has the mowers in shape and ready for the caretaking crew to move in . . . There's one more thing to be done, however . . . The vases, pots, faded wreaths and blankets and artificial flower arrangements must be gathered up by the families to clear the way for the mowers . . . Spengler did not set any deadline for their removal .. . But he did say if they are not picked up they probably will be thrown away .. . The crews just can't take time to mow around or move grave memorials, he explained . . .

IT'S A SHAME such an active and imaginative mind should get off on the wrong track . . . It seemed like a good idea this youngster dreamed up . . . But it only got him in trouble again . . . So, the identity of the boy who stationed himself at the Fairground gate and started charging 25 cents per car going through was nabbed after he had put the touch on five cars . . . It could have been easy for him to get away with his little scheme because there is a 25-cent gate charge for the summer shows, but none for the winter shows . . . Freed American flies home from Red China; mother ill

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — John T. Downey, the last American prisoner of the Korean War, was freed from China today and flew home to see his seriously ill mother in Connecticut.

Peking let the CIA operative go after an appeal from President Nixon that he be allowed to join his 75-year-old mother, Mary Downey of New Britain. His release had been expected as a result of the visits to Peking by Nixon and Henry A. Kissinger but not until later this year. The other two Americans known to be held in China, Air Force Maj. Philip E. Smith and Lt. Cmdr. Robert J. Flynn, are scheduled to be freed on Thursday. Downey told Red Cross representatives that he was in the same cell block with them and both appeared to be in "excellent spirits and health."

Both Smith and Flynn were shot down on missions in Vietnam when they strayed over China. Downey, who has spent nearly 21 of his 42 years in Chinese prisons, looked pale but smiled continuously when he arrived at Clark Air Base from Hong Kong. He told newsmen he was "fine."

At Clark he found his brother William, a New York attorney, who arrived several hours earlier.

"I just want to say how grateful I am for being released," Downey told newsmen. "And I appreciate the Chinese government letting me go at this time, and President Nixon for his efforts on my behalf, and Dr. Kissinger. I'm very pleased to be out; and at the same time, I'm very anxious to get home and see my mother."

William Downey said a doctor had examined his brother on the flight from Hong Kong and "he checks out fine on a preliminary examination. He certainly feels and looks good."

Hopes for peace at Wounded Knee apparently gone

WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — The shooting of an FBI agent and an Indian declaration that no federal officials will be permitted to enter Wounded Knee have dampened hopes for a permanent peace.

Interior Department officials said they would not comment on issues until midafternoon today, and there was no indication that talks were scheduled with Indian leaders.

Meanwhile, a grand jury was to convene today in Sioux Falls, S.D., to investigate the Feb. 27 takeover of the historic village by about 200 Indian militants. Warrants were issued Sunday by a U.S. magistrate in Rapid City for the arrest of five leaders of the occupation.

The Sunday gunplay came less than 24 hours after federal forces pulled down their roadblocks and withdrew from a perimeter a few miles from the center of the village.

The shooting involved a small truck the Indians smeared with mud and dubbed their "tank." Several FBI vehicles maintaining surveillance on roads into the village saw the truck about five miles west of Wounded Knee, officials said.

The FBI agents, who said they believed the vehicle was stolen, pursued the van, and there was an exchange of gunfire. Agent Curtis Fitzgerald of Chicago was struck in the right arm and was evacuated by helicopter.

The car in which Fitzgerald was riding had six bullet holes in the windshield—one on the passenger side and five on the driver's side, the latter apparently made by another agent firing from inside the car.

Indians said bullets smashed the rear windows of the van and flying glass cut an Indian's hand.

"The FBI is trying to provoke the situation," said Dennis Banks, a leader of the American Indian Movement, which led the takeover.

Each side said the other fired first.

It appeared briefly that the incident would detonate the explosive situation that has existed since the takeover — 250 Indians, many of them armed, facing off against 300 federal lawmen armed with high-powered rifles and automatic weapons. Indian reinforcements have slipped into the village since the takeover.

FBI agents donned flak jackets and used binoculars to survey each vehicle that approached their checkpoints, which were set up Sunday several miles from here.

The crisis dissolved after the Justice Department in Washington said the shooting would not create an armed confrontation. Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst said agents would remain away from the immediate area of Wounded Knee and would not shoot unless their lives were endangered.

The Indians said four men identifying themselves as U.S. postal inspectors entered the village Sunday and were held in custody before being released. The Indians said three pistols were found on the men. It was later verified that two of the men were postal inspectors.

The government had no comment on the incident, but Banks said: "They didn't come here to protect no mail boxes."

Russell Means, an AIM leader, announced over a loudspeaker system Sunday that the village was "now the Oglala Sioux Nation, a sovereign state."

Means told a crowd of a few hundred, "If any foreign official of any foreign country, specifically the United States, tries to enter the village, it will be treated as an act of war and treated accordingly."

He also said, "If any spies enter the village, they will be treated like spies everywhere and will face a firing squad."

AIM leaders said they would issue visas to all nonresidents of their "sovereign nation".

Wider currency 'float' planned at money meet

BRUSSELS (AP) — Six of the Common Market nations agreed early today to a joint, partial float against the dollar, maintaining a schedule of exchange rates among each other but ending obligatory purchases of the dollar to support it.

The other three member nations—Britain, Ireland and Italy —are already floating their currencies against all others. They said they would join the joint float as soon as economic conditions permitted them to peg their currencies against the other Common Market monies.

West Germany also agreed to revalue the mark upward three per cent. There was speculation that the Japanese yen, the other strong currency, also would be revalued somewhat.

The decision by West Germany, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Denmark was easing the latest monetary crisis that closed foreign currency exchanges 10 days ago.

A communique after a meeting of finance ministers from the nine Common Market nations said the float would go into effect March 19, when the exchange markets reopen.

Four other nations with strong currency—Switzerland, Sweden, Norway and Austria— reportedly were considering joining the float even though they are not members of the Common Market.

By floating, the currencies are free to find their natural levels in terms of the dollar through pressures of supply and demand. No longer will the central banks have to buy huge quantities of dollars from speculators and the money managers to keep the dollar from sinking below a fixed level. However, West Germany's finance minister, Helmut Schmidt, said a central bank may continue under the agreement to support the dollar to prevent its own currency rate from going higher than desired.

The agreement calls for a maximum fluctuation of 2.25 per cent among the values of the six floating currencies. It is considered a key step toward eventual creation of a single European currency.

Belgian Finance Minister Willy DeClercq said the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Belgium will discuss possible revaluation of their currency later this week.

URGES SUPPORT FOR GAULLISTS — French President Georges Pompidou urges voters in a television address to spurn the Communists in national election. His entry into the campaign rhetoric was the clearest indication yet of how worried the Gaullists are that their 15-year rule over France may end.

Stock list posts gain

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices pushed upward today, riding the news of six Common Market countries, agreement on action against the international monetary crisis.

Analysts said they expected a generally bullish reaction from investors to the news of a joint float of currencies by the six countries. The plan, announced Sunday night, also calls for one of the six — West Germany — to revalue its mark 3/8 per cent upward.

The action is widely seen as a reasonable, if temporary, solution to world monetary troubles, brokers noted.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up a fraction, and gainers took a 3-2-to-2 edge on losers in trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Prices included Pan American World Airways, unchanged at 8¾; Memorex, ahead ¼ at 11¼; First National City Corp., down ½ to 77¾; Occidental Petroleum, up ⅛ to 12, and U.S. Industries, down ¼ to 15¾.

Deaths, Funerals

Arthur (Cy) Willison

Services for Arthur (Cy) Willison, 70, of 736 High St., will be held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Parrett Funeral Home, with the Rev. Gerald Wheat, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating.

Mr. Willison, a lifelong resident of Washington C. H., died at 11:42 a.m. Saturday in the Margaret Clark Oakfield Convalescent Center, where he had been a patient since Feb. 26.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert (Jake) Ellison. He was a cook in the Maddux Restaurant at one time and a retired employe of the Cudahy Packing Co. He attended the Presbyterian Church. Surviving is a sister, Mrs. Minnie Fackler, 718 High St.

Burial will be in Washington Cemetery. Friends may call any time at the funeral home.

Mrs. Ida Watkins

BAINBRIDGE — Services for Mrs. Ida Watkins, 80, of Rt. 10, Chillicothe, will be held at 1 p.m. Tuesday in Beulah Chapel, with the Rev. Theodore Mendendall and Rev. Elmer Hurles officiating. Mrs. Watkins, with widow of Charles H. Watkins, who died in 1951, died at 11:50 a.m. Saturday in Greenfield Municipal Hospital.

Born in Wayne, W. Va., she had resided near Chillicothe most of her life. She was the daughter of James C. and Nancy Crockett Bond, and was a member of the Bethel Church of the Nazarene at Brunswick, Ga.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Howard (Flossie) Schiller, Rt. 1, Washington C. H., Mrs. Russell (Nancy) Ross, Leesburg, Mrs. Clarence (Goldie) Pollock, Greenfield, Mrs. James E. (Betty Jean) Burnem, Brunswick, Ga., and Mrs. Mary White, of Chillicothe; four sons, James, of Sabina, Frank, of Chillicothe, Fred, of Waverly, and John, Bainbridge; 36 grandchildren and 42 great-grandchildren, and a brother, Henry Bond of Ironton. Three sons and one daughter are deceased.

Friends may call at the Smith Funeral Home until noon Tuesday.

HARRY A. BUTCHER — Services for Harry A. Butcher, 76, of Bloomingburg, were held at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Church of Christ in Christian Union with the Rev. Charles Williams officiating. Mr. Butcher, owner of Pop's Fixit Shop in Bloomingburg, died Wednesday.

Two hymns were sung by James Bick and Leroy Crabtree with Mrs. Kenneth Bonecutter at the organ.

Pallbearers for burial in Bloomingburg Cemetery were Larry, Terry, Steven and Fredric Butcher. Donald Whitmer and Russell Harding.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Following is the Ohio weather summary from the National Weather Service.

A low pressure area that brought showers and thundershowers to the state overnight was forecast to move northeastward out of the state today.

Skies were expected to begin clearing this afternoon over southern counties and across the rest of the state this evening or tonight.

Cooler air was expected to continue spreading through the state today, although temperatures were expected to remain above normal.

Temperatures Tuesday will begin climbing again as warmer air from the south begins to push back into the lower Great Lakes region.

Temperatures across Ohio at dawn today were generally in the upper 40s and low 50s under overcast skies.

Mild Wednesday through Friday with showers Wednesday and Thursday. Highs generally in the 60s. Lows in the 40s.

Young mayor resigns post

NEWCOMERSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Newcomerstown Mayor Ron Hooker, who became the second-youngest mayor in the nation when he was elected in 1971 at the age of 19, has resigned, according to City Council President Charles Holdsworth.

Holdsworth said Saturday Hooker had submitted his resignation effective March 15, citing the burden of his full-time teaching job at St. Joseph's in Dover.

Hooker was not available for comment on the resignation or a report that a feud in the police department was a factor in his decision.

Hooker has said recently he wants to go to law school next fall and has no plans to continue in politics.

Congressmen costlier to maintain

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — It costs taxpayers an average of $188,000 a year to keep a representative in Washington and pay for his office staff. Senators come somewhat higher, about $30,000 each.

Those basic costs include the $42,500 annual salary of each of the 100 senators and 438 representatives and delegates, plus staff payrolls.

Each House member is allowed about $165,000 per year to pay up to 16 employes in his Washiington and district offices.

A senator's clerical allowance varies according to the size of his state, ranging from $327,000 to $586,000 per year, with no ceiling on the number of employes but a top on the salary of his No. 1 staffer. Currently the top is $35,900 for the Senate and about $32,600 for the House.

Not all members use their total allowance. The unused balance reverts to the Treasury.

Neither do all members use all of the allowances for fringe benefits, which are not included in the average cost of keeping up a congressional office.

Basic costs in the legislative appropriation bill enacted last year included $62 million for salaries of House members' office staffs and $20.4 million for the salaries and travel allowances of members. The appropriation for senators' office staffs was $34.2 million and $4.7 million for senators' salaries and mileage.

Fringe benefits which add to the over-all cost of running Congress include:

—Franked, or free, mail for official correspondence. The estimated cost for fiscal year 1973 was $21.2 million for both branches.

—Stationery allowances of $4,250 per year per member for the purchase of office supplies at reduced rates. Not all members use this allowance. Some draw it in cash.

—Telephone and telegraph allowances amounting to the equivalent of 40,000 minutes of long-distance talking or 160,000 words of telegrams for every two years, plus unlimited longdistance calls in evening hours and all day on weekends, on leased government lines for representatives. The long-distance allowance is the same for all members, whether they live in Virginia or California.

—Travel allowances of 18 round trips home per session for House members and 45 for senators. This is in addition to foreign travel available to most members for official business, and for trips to home states or districts for staffers.

—Members are allowed free office space in federal buildings in their home states or districts, or limited rental allowances and office expenses if free space is not available. Monthly district-office rental for House members may go as high as $350 in some cases.

Life insurance, health insurance and retirement annuities are available for any member desiring them and paying part of the cost, up to eight per cent of monthly pay for the retirement program. The pensions are generous, ranging up to $36,000 a year for members of Congress who have served 32 years or more.

OBES cuts still slated by Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Bureau of Employment Services still plans to lay off approximately 200 employes, despite a court order last week that ordered the OBES to reinstate 200 employes it had layed off earlier.

Stan Wyman, OBES public information director, said Sunday the OBES would be forced to furlough about 200 employes and that the number may be increased because of financial losses incurred by the bureau in the court ruling.

Franklin County Common Pleas Court Judge Fred Shoemaker ordered the jobs of 200 reinstated and that they be awarded back pay for the nine days they were laid off.

Shoemaker's order, however, did not prohibit OBES from making future layoffs. It only said such action must be made in compliance with state civil service statutes.

"What people must realize is we still must make cutbacks in the bureau to make up for our loss of federal revenues," Wyman said. "The longer we keep more people on the payroll than we can afford, the further we go in debt, and the more cutbacks we have to make."

A state Senate hearing on the firings has been scheduled for Tuesday.

Deny Boyle set for testimony in Prater case

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — An attorney for ousted United Mine Workers Union President W.A. "Tony" Boyle says no arrangements have been made for Boyle to testify at the trial of alleged Yablonski slayer William J. Prater.

Attorney Plato Cacheris said Sunday night in a telephone interview from his Washington, D.C., home that he had been contacted about two weeks ago by an assistant to the special prosecutor in the case, Richard Sprague.

"Somebody from Sprague's office called me about two weeks ago and said they'd like Mr. Boyle there," Cacheris said. "I suggested Sprague, himself, call me back about it."

"He hasn't," Cacheris added, "and there has been no subpoena and no further conversation. Sprague is just playing games with the news media for the publicity."

Auto larceny charge filed

Auto theft charges were filed against a 40-year-old Washington C. H. man after he allegedly stole a car from a Jeffersonville gasoline station Friday evening.

Sheriff's deputies said William H. Burke, 40, of 318 S. Fayette St., was charged with the theft of a 1965 model car owned by Phillip Leavenworth, Cleveland. Burke was arrested Saturday evening after deputies recovered the stolen auto in Jeffersonville.

He is scheduled to appear in Municipal Court Monday afternoon on the complaint.

Gaullists win majority in French vote

PARIS (AP) — French voters have given the Gaullists another five years in control of the National Assembly but have reduced the government coalition's majority to less than 60 seats.

The outcome was much more favorable to the Gaullists than had been expected. President Georges Pompidou was so worried by the strong leftist showing in public opinion polls and the first round of voting last Sunday that he made a last-minute television appeal to the voters Saturday. Pompidou himself was not up for re-election.

The economic achievements of the Gaullists over the past 15 years plus the basic conservatism of many Frenchmen pulled the government through. But the result was a warning that the left's calls for a better deal for the poor and for more equalization of economic gains had sympathetic echoes throughout the country.

"It is correct that these elections reflect a will for renewal by a large number of voters," Premier Pierre Messmer admitted.

The Gaullist majority in the assembly took a monumental dive from the 284-seat margin won in the 1968 landslide. But that occurred after the May student riots scared the French voters badly. The Gaullists could take some comfort from their new majority's being considerably better than the one-vote edge they won in the last "normal" elections in 1967.

Significantly, the heaviest losses were suffered by the Union for the Defense of the Republic, the Gaullist party. It fell from 293 seats to 181, making it more dependent on its partners, Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing's Independent Republicans and Jacques Duhamel's Democratic Center party.

Catholic bishop dies

POMATA, Peru (AP) — The Most Rev. Edward L. Fedders, a Maryknoll Missioner who was born and reared in Covington, Ky., and later was named a Bishop in the Catholic Church, died while saying Mass Sunday, officials reported.

Bishop Fedders, in his late 50s, was saying Mass at a church in Pol Pomata, one of the areas in the prefecture of Juli, Peru, where he presided.

Bishop Fedders entered the Maryknoll order in 1934 after education in elementary and secondary schools in Covington and Cincinnati.

He was ordained a priest in 1944, and went to Peru three months later.

He became a bishop in 1963.

Funeral arrangements were not immediately announced.

Sheriff's badge is in the family

By ROGER PETTERSON
Associated Press Writer

PARSONS, W. Va. (AP) — The sheriff's badge in Tucker County in West Virginia's forsted northern mountains has been transferred from a trim uniform dress to a trim uniform jacket. Last time it was vice versa.

Sheriff Mary Jane Hedrick has been succeeded by her husband Carl and she is returning to the family farm. Her husband was sheriff of the 7,000-person county from 1964 to 1968 and, according to Mrs. Hedrick, began to put the county's bank account in the black.

He couldn't succeed himself, so Mrs. Hedrick was talked into running.

"The more we talked about it, the more excited I became," she says of her decision to go up against well-known male candidates and win.

In November, her husband was easily elected, continuing the family name in Tucker County government.

SHERIFF MARY JANE has returned to her three school-age children and care of her house, but she is happy she did her civic duty and held the full time post.

The U.S. Forest Service owns 42 per cent of the county and that land doesn't contribute taxes to the county treasury. There are a few small industries, but the number of plants — and jobs — is dwindling.

Keeping money in the county's bank accounts under those conditions is tough, and the Hedricks feel they've done a good job.

"You've got to make every dollar count," says the 37-year-old former lady sheriff.

The sheriff's duties here are more tax collection and bookkeeping than law enforcement, but "I wouldn't have been affraid to put on a gun if the need had arisen," she added. She and her one deputy — who had threatened to quit back in 1968 if there wasn't a Hedrick in office — were responsible for the jail and she worked with female prisoners and juveniles.

"Petticoat government" is what she calls Tucker County. Along with the sheriff, ladies have also served as county clerk, circuit court clerk, county commissioners and president of the Board of Education.

MOST MEN could not support a family on the low salaries paid in county offices, she says. She received $4,000 a year as sheriff, and the real family income is from their farm.

Would she run again to succeed her husband a second time?

"It would depend on the conditions at that time and who the other candidates are," she said.

"Women should have equal rights, but I think there's a place for them," she says. "Some things I think men should do. Women . . . should not lose our place as women."

No matter which Hedrick is wearing the badge, "In our marriage, we have equal rights . . . we respect each other."

PARSONS is also a hotbed of environmentalism, numbering among its residents the heads of the state Izaak Walton League and of the state chapter of the Sierra Club. The Hedricks are leaders of a group fighting the proposed construction of a U.S. Corps of Engineers dam at Rowlesburg on the Cheat River.

The 560-member Cheat River Conservancy contends the dam would flood nearly all of the county's usable farm land and a good chunk of what taxable property remains. The Hedricks' farm would also be taken.

"We believe that the project will cause more damage than good to the natural environment of Tucker County and West Virginia," Mrs. Hedrick recently told a senate appropriations committee. "Our county government will lose tax revenue, our school system will suffer from tax loss."

INSTEAD of a pistol or a can of mace, Mary Jane has carried reams of statistics and reports to enforce her group's belief that the dam would mean the economic end of Tucker County.

A massive power company dam proposed for the Canaan Valley on the eastern side of the county is opposed by many environmentalists but former Sheriff Hedrick supports this reservoir.

"It would mean a lot of employment . . . quite a lot of development," she says, and a good dose of tax money for the county coffers.

'Babar' opera sellout

NEW YORK (AP) — The second pair of programs in the Little Orchestra Society's series of concerts for young people was sold out four months in advance.

The program is "Babar the Elephant," an opera for children by Nicolai Berezowsky. It is based on the Babar children's books by the late Jean de Brunhoff and Laurent de Brunhoff.

The opera version was commissioned by the Little Orchestra Society and first performed in 1953.

Social Security book ads rapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Magazine publisher Ralph Ginzburg, who spent eight months in federal prison last year for mailing obscene materials, is in hot water with the government again.

The Social Security Administration is calling for federal and New York State investigations into Ginzburg's new manual entitled, "Stake Your Claim! How to work the Social Security Gold Mine."

The agency contends the promotional ads, carried in about 300 newspapers and a dozen mass-circulation magazines, are "replete with misleading references and innuendoes." Ginzburg says the ad campaign cost $1 million.

More women have blues or admit it oftener

NEW YORK (AP) — Twice as many women as men dial a special New York telephone number to reach a sympathetic ear, a crisis-intervention center reports.

H. Leslie Christie, executive director of Help Line Telephone Center, said women callers out-number men two to one, and he said 50 per cent of the calls are from persons under 30, most of them female.

Help Line, which averages 50,000 calls a year, was started in Feburary 1970 by Marble Collegiate Church at the direction of Dr. Norman Vincent Peale.

Christie said about 35 per cent of the calls concern mental-health problems, while 16 per cent involve marital and family difficulties.

Canada has some 70,000 miles of pipe lines.

Opinion And Comment

Campaign spending reform

One school of thought on presidential and congressional campaign spending holds that the law should control how the money is spent but place no limit on the total amount. Others propose a ceiling on the total outlay, without regulation of what the money goes for.

The reform legislation enacted last year essentially follows the first of the two lines: while cents-per-voter limitations were placed on spending for print and broadcast media exposure, and billboards, there was no curb on such things as direct mail and grassroots organizations. In consequence, presidential candidates were limited to spending 14.2 million dollars apiece on the media, but spent many millions more on other things. President Nixon's campaign effort wound up costing somewhere between 40 and 46 million, and Sen. George McGovern's forces spent a little over 31 million.

A different approach is proposed by Sen. John O. Pastore of Rhode Island in his bill to amend the 1972 federal election law. Pastore would limit the total amount of spending by candidates for president and for the Senate and House of Representatives. He would allow each candidate to spend 25 cents per voter and would place no restriction on how this sum was spent. Thus it would theoretically be possible for a candidate to spend every penny on the media; as a practical matter it would at any rate very likely increase those outlays.

Under this formula each presidential campaign organization would have $34,910,500 to spend as it pleased. The amount permissible for congressional campaigns would depend on the number of voters in a state or district; a Senate candidate in Vermont, say, would be limited to $77,250, while a candidate in Texas would be allowed to spend $1,920,250.

There should be renewed consideration of the whole broad matter of campaign spending reform. Last year's act was an advance but there is plainly need for further improvement, especially as regards sources and accountability. Pastore's bill should be taken as the springboard for another round of debate.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Bargaining on Soviet exit visas

WASHINGTON — In the President's office the other day that tireless grandmother, Prime Minister Golda Meir of Israel, was given, along with promises of continuing aid, a warning of conflict ahead. Tht Government of the United States, she was told, cannot dictate the emigration policy of the Soviet Union.

The Administration wants to give the Soviet Union "most-favored nation" tariff treatment together with credits through such agencies as the Export-Import Bank. Opening the way to greatly expanded trade, this was the heart of the agreement reached in Moscow last May.

That agreement is now clouded by a controversy that has its roots deep in domestic politics. Although the Administration has not yet sent up a Soviet trade bill, the opposition is waiting with a trap to sidetrack it. This is an amendment by Sen. Henry M. (Scoop) Jackson denying the concessions unless the Soviets stop applying an exit tax on Soviet Jews emigrating to Israel.

Jackson's girl Friday, Dorothy Fosdick, says he already has 60 signers, well over a majority. In the last Congress 76 senators endorsed a similar amendment. With this roadblock looking so large, Moscow will find a way to call off the exit tax.

HOWEVER, those in the White House directly concerned are less optimistic. They point out that this is intervention in the domestic affairs of the Soviet Union and, moreover, it is not alone the Jews who want out. Other minorities, the Catholics in Lithuania, for example, would be quick to take advantage of any relaxation of exit-visa controls.

The key figure is Leonid Brezhnev, No. 1 in the Kremlin. He told the Americans in Moscow in May that the charge levied against Jews leaving the Soviet Union — the equivalent of the cost of their education, as high sometimes as $25,000 — was an error. He described it as a "bureaucratic bungle."

But he went on to say that, since it had received such wide publicity with angry denunciation from Jews around the world, his government could hardly seem to yield to U. S. dictation. What, as one Soviet official put it, if we should say to you that we cannot reach agreement on any matter unless you desegregate all the schools in Mississippi and give the blacks free access to higher education?

Look, say the proponents of the Jackson amendment, that is all very well as a theoretical case, but the economic plight of the Soviet Union is so dire that Brezhnev will find a face-saving formula to end the exit charge. The Kremlin may be on the verge of such a formula and, therefore, it is wrong with so much bargaining power in Washington to bring the matter up at all.

THE ORDER to bomb North Vietnam and mine Haiphong harbor came only days before the Nixon mission to Moscow. Would Moscow cancel the visit? It could happen, as Henry A. Kissinger, the President's adviser on national security affairs, and others most in the know understood.

But it went through on schedule. In the background was the Nixon spectacular in China, which Moscow could hardly ignore. And so it will be in the controversy over the exit visas.

There is, it seems to me, room for doubt. The agreements signed in Moscow were largely to the advantage of Washington. The Berlin agreement, impossible without Moscow's sanction, was a plus for the West. A certain amount of East-West pacification, though, would have taken place without the Moscow accords.

All important for Moscow was trade — the need for grain to overcome the food shortage; the need for computers and every form of advanced technology to boost a halting economy. If this is ruled out by denial of the concessions such as "most-favored nation" that go to America's trading partners, little or no reward is left for the Soviet Union.

So, others in the Soviet hierarchy, perhaps rivals, can say: What was all the fuss about and where has it got us?

A bit of history may be instructive. Nikita Khrushchev was invited to America by President Eisenhower, who was seeking to ease off the cold war. Then came the shooting down over Sverdlovsk of the U-2 spy plane and Eisenhower's fumbling response. It marked Khrushchev's end and the end of the initiative.

Could this same thing happen again? With all the factors weighed in, conspicuously the Sino-Soviet quarrel, the odds are against it. But a categorical "no" is hard to come by.

WASHINGTON REPORT

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHA

Representative To Congress
6th District, Ohio

WASHINGTON — Recently the Veterans Administration proposed budget cutbacks for several of its programs. By planning to eliminate some $160 million from the budget, VA medical care and research, hospital construction, outreach, education and employment programs would have been adversely affected.

But, the most astonishing cutback of all would have been for disability compensation. Some disability ratings would have dropped to less than half their original amount. For example, a veteran's disability rating for loss of a leg would have meant a loss of $169 per month in compensation.

I was shocked by these proposals, especially since Americans were preparing to welcome home some of their most dedicated and long-suffering veterans of recent times, the Vietnam POWs, at the time these cuts were announced. Fortunately, the public outcry against these cutbacks and strong congressional pressure forced the VA to withdraw these incredible proposals.

THE THREAT of future cutbacks is not over, however, and Congress will soon be considering legislation to avert any such reductions and to protect the interests of our veterans. Under the present law, the VA has the authority to revise the schedule for rating disabilities and to promulgate such schedule changes. Legislation has been introduced in both the House and the Senate which would bar any change in veterans disability payments without congressional consent.

It is important to note that cutting back on disability compensations would have hit the younger Vietnam veterans the hardest. About 10 years ago, Congress froze the rates for any veteran who had held his disability rating for 20 years. Consequently, most World War II veterans and many veterans of the Korean conflict are protected and would not have been affected by such reductions.

The sheer inequity of such a cutback would be that a young Vietnam veteran, returning from one of the most controversial wars in American history with a combat disability, would not be protected for an identical disability. Instead, he would receive substantially less.

OTHER INEQUITIES would also surface with such disability reductions. The gap in veterans benefits lies at the 50 per cent level. A veteran with a 50 per cent rating receives $149 a month for himself, which is only $33 more per month than the 40 per cent disabled veteran. However, at 50 per cent disability and above, a veteran also receives additional compensation for his dependents and certain other benefits.

Most of the proposed disability reductions would have brought the ratings below this 50 per cent mark.

This cannot be allowed to happen under any circumstances. Furthermore, I do not believe that fiscal responsibility warrants cutbacks in other veterans programs either.

ONE PARTICULARLY important area of concern for veterans of all wars is the effect increases in Social Security or Railroad Retirement benefits have on recipients of VA pensions. In the past, Congress has made such adjustments as are necessary to protect VA pensions when such increases have been approved. Since both Social Security and Railroad Retirement benefits were increased last year, Congress must once again consider this matter. I have recently introduced legislation which would insure that no VA pensions would be reduced or terminated as a result of these increases.

There are 200,000 disabled Vietnam veterans. There are many thousands more who, in returning from Vietnam, face many readjustment problems such as education and employment.

While America is engaged in a serious battle with inflation, our armed service veterans must not bear the brunt of this conflict, and I will oppose any arbitrary and irresponsible efforts to sacrifice their hard earned and needed benefits in the name of economy.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The auto is now a bigger cause of mortality among deer than people. It is estimated that 120,000 deer and 1,200 other big game animals are killed in highway traffic mishaps each year. That's more than twice the toll of human lives.

Your fingernails are made of the same kind of material as your hair. So are the hoofs of animals, the claws of birds, and the scales of snakes.

People are more likely to be fatally violent against themselves than anyone else. A 30-year study in Cleveland found that 4,065 persons died by homicide during that time and an additional 5,807 committed suicide. But during those three decades the homicide rate rose by more than 500 per cent, from 7 per hundred thousand people in 1940 to 38 per hundred thousand in 1970.

Romance may bloom best among the young, but marriage still flowers among the old. Each year there are some 35,000 marriages in the United States among persons 65 or older. Why do they marry? They say it's for companionship and economy — and love.

Quotable notables: "I got all the schooling any actress needs. That is, I learned to write enough to sign contracts." — Hermoine Gingold.

When you forget: One of the things people complain about as they get older is that their memory isn't as good as it used to be. Studies show that shortterm memory lapses usually come at two stages, one around 40 and the other around 60.

Know your language: Some of our best known products get their names from the geographical place they were first produced, such as Cologne, from Cologne, Germany, bouillion, from a former duchy in Belgium, and the tuxedo, the dinner jacket which first was worn on the lavish estates of Tuxedo Park, N.Y. How about the word denim? It comes from "serge de Nimes — cloth of Nimes — because it originated in that French textile center during the Middle Ages.

It was Somerset Maugham who observed: "Love is the dirty trick nature played on us to achieve the continuation of the species."

A major complaint

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP) — The city's community relations desk received 65,200 inquiries in 1972 as compared with 64,744 in 1971. Hal Pawson, director of public relations in charge of the desk, said, "Road maintenance was the major complaint."

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Making her an offer she ought to refuse

DEAR ABBY: Greg and I have been married for six years (no children) and I thought we were getting along rather well when suddenly, after a trivial argument, he walked out and didn't come home that night. I was frantic.

The next day I called him at work and his receptionist said he was busy and would call me back. He never called. And he didn't come home that night either. I phoned his office again and got the same treatment.

Finally I went to his office and waited for him outside. He said he was fed up with married life and he was coming for his clothes that night, which he did.

All he said was he would stay married to me if I agreed to let him come and go with no questions asked. Also, if he felt like taking me somewhere he would, but I wasn't to ask HIM. Finally, he didn't want to see my face around his place of business.

I have seen a priest and a lawyer. They both said I should either accept Greg on his terms, or let him go. I am 35 but people say I look 25. He's 32, and looks 45. What do you think?

BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: I think your husband's terms are absurd. If I were you I'd say "bye, bye" while I still "looked 25."

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine told me that her husband has a very coarse and heavy beard, so he shaves every night before he goes to bed so his stubbles doesn't irritate her tender face when they cuddle during the night.

When I told my husband how sweet and considerate I thought that was, he said, "He sounds like a first-class jerk to me."

You see, I told my husband that story for a reason, but he didn't get the hint. Maybe if you print this, he'll catch on.

TENDER FACE

DEAR FACE: Sometimes the best approach is the direct approach. Quit hinting, and tell your porcupine what's on your mind.

DEAR ABBY: I am a school teacher with a serious bronchial condition. The doctor told me I should not even be where others are smoking. Well, I put a sign up in my apartment reading "Thanks for not smoking."

Everyone who has come to visit my has respected that request, and I really appreciated it. Last week I had a few guests who had never visited me before. When one of them saw the sign, she said, "Don't think I am staying here and not smoking. Give me an ashtray!"

When I told her I didn't have any ashtrays she asked for a dish. I refused. I served coffee, and she and the others smoked and used their cups for ashtrays.

Abby, I couldn't believe it. I didn't want to hurt them, but I hurt myself. That night I couldn't sleep and the next day I couldn't use my voice to speak to my students.

So what can I do about rude, inconsiderate people who smoke regardless?

INSULTED IN SOUTHBRIDGE

DEAR INSULTED: You can tell THEM (not me) that you cannot tolerate smoke, so they will have to make a choice between your company and their cigarets. But say it like you mean it!

Your Ohio Income Tax

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth in a series of releases dealing with the most frequently asked questions about the new Ohio personal income tax prepared by the Ohio Department of Taxation.

Q. — Are there any provisions regarding a part-year resident with respect to filing an Ohio individual income tax return?

A. — Yes, a part-year resident is defined as a taxpayer who during a portion of the tax year was not a legal resident of Ohio and did not earn income in Ohio during that time. The taxpayer is thus entitled to deduct from his federal adjusted gross income the amount of income earned out of Ohio while a legal resident of another state. This deduction is shown on Line 2, Part C, Line 3 of the long form for Ohio.

Q. — Is there a minimum age or amount earned before a person has to file the Ohio income tax return?

A. — There is no minimum age or income requirement, however, every taxpayer who files the Ohio income tax return is entitled to the $500 personal exemption. In addition, if the personal exemption equals or exceeds the Ohio adjusted gross income the return does not have to be filed, unless a refund is due.

Q. — If a child, who qualifies as a dependent of his parents for purposes of the parents' federal income tax return, is a taxpayer for Ohio income tax purposes, may the child claim the $500 personal exemption for himself on his Ohio income tax return and the parents also claim the $500 dependent exemption for the child on their Ohio income tax return?

A. — Yes. Under the Ohio law a person is entitled to the exemption for himself if he is a taxpayer, and the parent is entitled to an exemption for each person qualifying as a dependent under federal income tax law.

Q. Is bank interedt taxable for the Ohio income tax, even if the bank pays the intangible tax?

A. — Yes, bank interest is taxable in Ohio because the income would be included in the taxpayer's federal adjusted gross income and in order to take the deduction for the intangible tax the taxpayer must be liable for and pay the intangible tax himself.

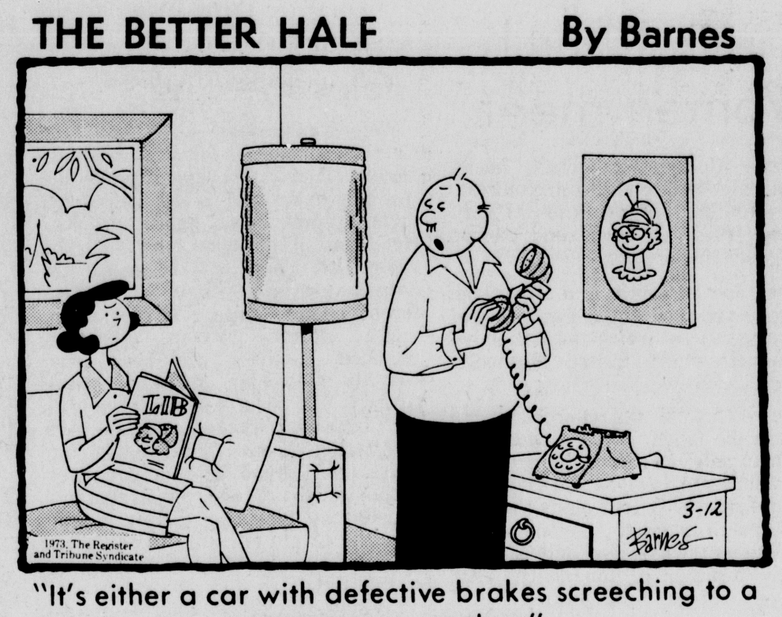
Q. — Do partnerships file an Ohio income tax return?

A. — No, partnerships are not subject to the Ohio income tax, but must file a copy of the federal partnership return (1065) with the State of Ohio. However the amount of income reported by each partner on their federal return will also be taxable in Ohio according to the special instructions regarding allocation and apportionment of business income. Note: For special instructions on allocation and apportionment write to: State of Ohio, Department of Taxation, P.O. Box 2476, Columbus, Ohio 43216.

Q. — What is the difference between the non-resident credit and the part-year deduction?

A. — The non-resident credit is used where the taxpayer is a legal resident of another state and earns income in Ohio. The credit is computed as explained on Page 13 of the instruction booklet and is computed using Schedule B on Page 27 of the instruction booklet.

THE BETTER HALF By Barnes



"It's either a car with defective brakes screeching to a stop or your mother."

All watercraft in Ohio must be registered

The Department of Natural Resources has announced locations throughout the state where 1973 boat and outboard motor registrations can be obtained.

In Fayette County, registrations can be obtained from Harold Stewart, Stew's Automotive, 717 Western Ave., in Washington C. H. Hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 8 a.m. to 12-noon on Saturday.

All watercraft operating in Ohio waters must have an Ohio identification number displayed on each side of the bow of the watercraft. Registration papers must be available on board at all times when the watercraft is in use.

The watercraft registration number is different than outboard motor numbers which are issued to each owner at the time of registration with a tag bearing that number. The tag showing the outboard motor number must be on the motor in a place where it can easily be seen.

Annual fees for watercraft and outboard motor registration are: outboard hull, rowboat, canoe, barge or raft, $1; sail boat, $3; inboard with motor under 100 horsepower, $7.50; inboard with motor 100 horsepower and above, $10; outboard motor, $3 and duplicate registration, $1. Licensing agents receive an additional 35-cent fee for each registration issued.

Boaters are reminded that 1972 registrations expired March 1, and are urged to obtain their 1973 registration early to avoid the summer rush.

Any questions concerning watercraft regulations in Ohio should be directed to the Department of Natural Resources, Division of Watercraft, 1350 Holly Ave., Columbus, Ohio 43212.

Weight Watchers Day is Thursday

"Weight Watchers" Day is coming to Washington Court House Thursday. The public is invited to attend a free open meeting at the Washington Court House Junior High School. Located on the corner of North and Temple Streets. The program is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Major losers from the Washington Court House area will receive awards. Included among the major losers will be members of "Weight Watchers" who have lost 100 pounds or more.

A "Goodbye Fat-Hello Fashion" Show will feature successful members of "Weight Watchers" from this area as models. Fashions for this event will be supplied by The Martha Washington Shop and by Soldan's; both outstanding retail outlets in Washington Court House.

"Weight Watchers" area director, Adrianne Levine, who has lost and kept off 37½ pounds for over 5 years will address those in attendance at the Junior High School.

The evening will be topped off when Barbara Chandler, of Cincinnati "Weight Watchers" first 200-pound loser, tells her often hilarious and sometimes heart-breaking story of how she came to change her entire life by virtue of her enormous weight loss.

Class times and locations and information on how "Weight Watchers" classes work will be available to all who attend. Copies of "Weight Watchers" Magazine will be given out free to the first 50 guest to arrive. Also, free recipes and the "Weight Watchers" newspaper will be given out to all who want them.

Austin Church Women meet

Austin United Methodist Church Women met in the church annex for the covered-dish dinner and all-day sewing, when lap robes and cancer pads were made.

Mrs. Joe McQuiniff and Mrs. Gene Cockerill reported on the World Day of Prayer services, which they attended in the Frankfort United Methodist Church.

The women of the church are to provide the lunch at the annual consignment sale which will be held this year at the Austin Grain Co. The sale set for April 7 is sponsored by the men of the church each year. Anyone having anything for the sale may call 998-4261, or any member of the church. All proceeds will go to the church.

The next meeting will be April 12 in the church annex. Mrs. Tom Starr will present the program and Mrs. Wardie Taylor will be in charge of refreshments.

Present were Mrs. Chancey Overly, Mrs. Joe McQuiniff, Mrs. James Starr Sr., Mrs. Forrest Miller, Mrs. Esta McQuiniff, Mrs. Tom Starr, Mrs. Don Sever and daughter, Amy, and Mrs. Gene Cockerill.

Christian Circle holds meeting

Woman's Christian Circle, South Side Church of Christ, held a business session Thursday evening preceding the Youth Revival being held each night in the church sanctuary. Ken Henderson, Lexington, Ky. is the evangelist. There will be a service Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon before closing Sunday night.

Mrs. Dorothy Morton, president, presided. A letter was read from Grundy Mountain Mission Home, Grundy, Va., regarding the three girls the Circle had adopted and sent gifts for birthdays and Christmas a few years ago. The mother had been given permission to take one, and an aunt had adopted the other two, the letter said. Now the Circle is trying to contact a similar home at Wooster to help on special days.

Cleaning the kitchen and the annual mother-daughter banquet were discussed.

Following the revival session, refreshments were served in Fellowship Hall.

The next meeting will be April 12 at the home of Mrs. Robert Dreubaugh, with Mrs. Milton Dodds and Mrs. Jerry Sears assisting. Mrs. Sears will give the devotions and Mrs. Carl Anders will preset a program on "Flower Arranging."

Washington Garden Club makes plans for Fair

The Washington Garden Club met at Anderson's Restaurqnt for dinner preceding the regular March meeting. Mrs. Jim Hutchinson made the table centerpiece arrangement.

The vice president, Mrs. Dale Merritt, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Eugene Cook. Roll call was answered by each member telling in one minute some unusual incident which happened recently in her garden.

The secretary, Mrs. T.N. Willis, reported on recent club activities and the treasurer, Mrs. William Summers, reported club finances. Chairman of the ways and means committee, Mrs. Robert H. Wilson, reported results of recent club sales and made plans for another in the near future.

Tree committee chairman of Region 16, Mrs. Jean T. Craig, reported that several youth group leaders and individuals have placed orders for the spruce seedlings offered jointly by the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs and the State Department of Natural Resources at nominal cost. They are for planting near Arbor Day, the last Friday in April. The club ordered 25 to be given to a youth group.

The County contact chairman, Mrs. Donald Meredith, reported on the March meeting of the garden club Council of Presidents, and read some of the changes made in the schedule for artistic arrangements for the Fayette County Fair flower show.

For the first time, the public viewing the arrangements may vote (by ballot) their opinion of which they think should be the winner in each class, whether it agrees with the OAGC judge's decision or not. Also for the first time, the Fair flower show committee will give added ribbons to the arrangements showing the most originality, creativeness, distinction and beauty as prescribed by the standards in the OAGC handbook.

Fayette Garden Club will provide the educational exhibit for the Fair flower show.

A gardening book was presented to Mrs. Matthew McDonald, of Bainbridge, in appreciation for her hospitality at her country home recently and a book has been ordered for the Carnegie Public Library.

Several members are planning to attend the open meeting of Posey Garden Club at 1 p.m. Wednesday, March 21, in the Madison Mills United Methodist Church for the demonstration by Mrs. Mary Baughn of basket weaving, using natural materials.

Mrs. Orville Hurtt presented the evening program on preparing daffodils for exhibit. Daffodils is the common name, narcissus is the botanical name, and includes all daffodils, jonquils and narcissus. She explained and demonstrated the parts of the flower, such as cornona or trumped, perianth or circle of petals, sepals, segments, pedicel and pose or way the flower is held on the stem. She also described the classification for exhibiting in flower shows, based on the description of the above terms for each individual specie.

All of the information is given in the OAGC handbook, and is required to be memorized by gardeners attending judges and exhibitors school, one of which will be held in 1974. School four will be held in June this year and will stress roses.

Other members attending the dinner meeting were Mrs. Herbert Dawes, Mrs. Walter Wilson, Mrs. Edwin Hidy, Mrs. Eulalia Wade and Mrs. Earl Horney.

Mrs. Bethards WCTU hostess

Mrs. Florence Bethards was hostess when the New Martinsburg Women's Christian Temperance Union met in her home. They first knotted a comfort and then conducted the meeting.

The Crusade Psalm was read for the opening and Mrs. Bethards reported on a meeting in Hillsboro which took in several counties on "Share in Prayer" at the Baptist Church. It was planned by Highland County of which Mrs. Nell Fenner, president, Mrs. Cloyce Copley, Mrs. Alice Bush and Mrs. Bethards attended.

"Responsibilities of Discipleship and the Joy of Witnessing" was the topic for devotions presented by Mrs. Bush and Mrs. Ima Jean Cassell. Other appropriate readings were presented.

A letter from the VA Hospital Chillicothe, thanking the ladies for the 21 dozen of cookies taken to the patients and 24 bibs was read.

The mid-year workshop will be held at the Southern Hotel in Columbus April 3, 4 and 5.

Refreshments were served.

Festive Foods

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

Mushrooms have always been a "chic" food, a symbol of the great cuisine. They star in some of the world's most famous dishes, but more and more American homemakers have discovered that mushrooms — fresh, canned or frozen — give festive flavor to meat loaves, sauces, stews, appetizers and a long list of vegetables.

If you enjoy sprucing up foods with attractive garnishes, you'll want to know how to flute mushrooms. Fluted mushrooms are the perfect decorative touch for roasts, steaks and chops. You can flute either large or small fresh mushrooms. Here's how:

FLUTED MUSHROOMS

Rinse mushrooms in cold water; pat dry with a paper towel.

You may remove the stem, but it's easier to hold the mushrooms if the stem is still in place. (Needless to say, don't ever peel cultivated mushrooms. That's a lot of extra work and a sinful waste of mushroom flavor.) Do, however, remove a thin slice from the bottom of the mushroom stem if it looks at all dry or brownish.

Hold a small sharp paring knife motionless in your right hand, with the cutting edge turned away from your body. Wrap your fingers around the handle of the knife and steady the mushroom cap with the thumb of your right hand. Select a spot about halfway down the knife blade as the cutting edge.

Holding the knife in your right hand motionless, bring the crown — the very middle — of the mushroom to the knife edge. Press very lightly against the mushroom skin, turning the cap as you cut away a thin strip of skin. If you've turned the mushroom cap correctly you will have cut a swirling, very shallow groove. Repeat these cuts, spacing them evenly and, if you're lucky, you'll have a handsome fluted mushroom.

Mushroom fluting takes practice, so it's smart to practice fluting when you're cooking a dish that calls for chipped mushrooms. That way you can chop up and use all your botched-up mistakes.

The most famous use for fluted mushrooms is broiled and set on a platter of meat, but raw fluted mushrooms are delicious pick-ups for dips of one kind or another, so next time you're serving hors e'oeuvre, flute the mushrooms. Refrigerate until needed.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY, MARCH 13

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

Certain events can act as guideposts for the future. Keep attuned to new trends and don't miss a trick.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Personal relationships at their most congenial. In fact, a resourceful friend may even help you to attain a long cherished desire.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

Face possible changes with equanimity. With YOUR know-how and ingenuity, you can cope. Romance in high favor.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Keep on your toes now. Sudden intrusions or interruptions will call for unusual diplomacy in handling.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

A potentially fine day. Through sheer force of personality, you can break down opposition and get what you want.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

An excellent day for both business and personal interests. Even if you have to make some compromises, it will be profitable in the long run.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

You may not size up occupational situations as accurately as usual. Better double-check! On the personal side, romance and travel favored.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Some seeimingly ungovernable moments indicated, but you can handle with your native intelligence and astuteness. Just be sure to keep emotions under control.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

A good day for attaining one of your cherished goals. Someone behind the scenes is working in your interests.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

A fine day for teamwork. Many useful ideas will result from an exchange of views with associates. Some good news indicated in the p.m.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

A down-to-earth attitude needed. Don't let yourself be drawn into a whirlwind of rumor and speculation — now rife in many quarters.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Don't let surface glitter beguile you now. Search for facts before accepting any proposition — no matter how rosy it sounds.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely intelligent individual, a quick thinker and an idealist, with a flair for the unusual. You have a vivid imagination, a strong will and an outstanding sense of justice. You are one of the zodiac's true humanitarians, and a life of service is almost sure to be in the cards for you. You are creative, too, and could especially succeed in literature, music, painting or interior decoration. Business is not really your forte but if it appeals to you, you COULD make a success of real estate. New methods aid learning Spanish language

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Spanish is fast becoming America's second language and "hablo espanol" may become a more familiar response than "I don't speak Spanish."

The need to communicate with a growing population of Spanish-speaking people and the importance of other languages in travel and business are providing impetus for many Americans to attend language schools where new methods of teaching are helping to simplify learning.

In fact a language school explosion has resulted. So says Irene E. Gorman of Palo Alto, Calif., former security analyst and school teacher, in explaining the rapid growth of the 26 language schools she heads as president — all directed by women — and the plans to open 10 additional schools this winter. The schools use a system based on one devised by linguist Maurice Sullivan when he was charged with training American officers in German for the Nuremberg trials.

"People are studying Spanish for a variety of needs," she observed. "Doctors, attorneys, professors, nurses, pilots, stewardesses, real estate operators are using Spanish in their work."

POLICEMEN and government agency people in California are studying it to deal with Spanish-speaking people. Rudy Vallee studied it to incorporate Spanish songs into his act. Even the Japanese are learning Spanish to cope in bi-lingual areas. Kathy Crosby studied Spanish because she has a house in Mexico — and she went on to learn German in two months before she went to Olympic games. For his role in "The Cop," Richard Crenna studied French.

Many business firms are enrolling employes, Miss Gorman explained. Sears Roebuck has begun projects in Spanish and French for buyers and management people who work with foreign nations. Some businesses are giving language breaks for study instead of coffee breaks. And apparently one is never too old to learn — there are many septuagenarians in the classes.

Languages taught at the Sullivan Language Schools are limited to Spanish, French, German or English, which satisfy the needs of 90 per cent of applicants. The scientific approach used to develop the courses — now being introduced in some public schools — takes many years of evaluation.

Sullivan's original method of teaching during the trials was with wire recorders, forerunners of today's tape recorders. In 1958 with a grant from the Carnegie Foundation, he engaged in a pilot study to relate his method to teaching machines which are now used at the schools.

"THE SYSTEM requires nothing to be memorized, no conjugation of verbs, no lists of vocabulary," Miss Gorman explained.

Employes buy Evendale plant

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Employes of Avco Corp.'s Precision Products Division plant in suburban Evendale, Ohio, have purchased the plant for an undisclosed price.

George J. Mealey, general manager of the plant, heads the new corporation called Cincinnati Electronics Corp.

Mealey said major existing contracts were part of the purchase and there will be no changes in jobs, pay or benefits.

The plant produces military electronics equipment including ground and airborne tactical communications, space electronics, radar, antennae, infrared systems and electronic counter-measures hardware.

'Forgotten' levy up for special vote

NEW RICHMOND, Ohio (AP)— Voters in New Richmond, Ohio Tuesday will consider a renewal of the city's 3.5 mill operating levy.

Officials said they forgot to place the issue on the November ballot and asked for a special election.

Estimates rise on U.S. steel products use

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Industry Week magazine says because of "a growing concern among steel users over the availability of steel," customers are "unexpectedly trying to put 3.5 million to 4 million net tons of steel into inventory in the first half of this year."

This, combined with revised estimates of auto production and a predicted cut in imports, is causing forecasters again to raise their estimates of U.S. steel consumption, shipments and production for 1973, IW said.

The new predictions are that consumption this year will total 111 to 114 million net tons, mill shipments 100 to 102 million tons and raw steel production 145 to 150 million net tons—all records.

The previous forecast for shipments of 96 million net tons has been raised to at least 100 million tons, said IW.

The magazine said if production does hit 150 million tons this year, the nation's mills would be "bumping up against effective capacity, which is believed to be 155 million tons a year. The record year for raw steel production was 1969: 141.3 million net tons."

The record for shipments also was set in 1969 with 93.9 million net tons. Total consumption hit a record 105 million tons in 1972, 1969 and 1968.

IW estimated raw steel production for the week ended March 10 at 2,923,000 net tons, compared with 2,919,000 for the preceding week.

"This rate of output is equivalent to an annual total of about 152 million net tons."

'Bull' Connor dies at 75; 2nd stroke

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Former Police Commissioner Eugene "Bull" Connor, who once used used fire hoses and police dogs to control civil rights demonstrators, will be buried here Tuesday.

Connor, 75, died Saturday. He had been unconscious since Feb. 26 when he suffered a stroke, his second in seven years. The first left him partially paralyzed and confined to a wheelchair.

Connor was elected police commissioner in Birmingham in 1937 and was re-elected five times before losing office in 1962, when voters eliminated the city commission form of government.

Connor refused to give up his office because his term was not due to expire until 1965. He was ousted by the Alabama Supreme Court May 23, 1963, and a mayor and city council government went into effect.

Civil rights demonstrations began in April 1963; and within three weeks, 400 demonstrators, including the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., had been arrested.

Fire hoses were turned on crowds, and police dogs inflicted numerous injuries during the demonstrations.

Connor, when criticized for using dogs, replied: "That's what we trained those dogs for—to enforce the law."

Study launched against cancer

DETROIT (AP) — The American Cancer Society has given a $48,000 research grant to a Detroit doctor studying why the human body rejects transplants but not malignancies such as cancer.

Dr. James J. Lightbody Jr. of Children's Hospital and Wayne State University said early research indicates the body tries to attack malignancies but is stopped by an internal "blocking factor." This factor apparently does not work with transplants, thus allowing the body to reject them, he said.

Lightbody is trying to discover the "blocking factor," which he theorizes is located outside the blood system and can be turned off and on as needed.

Snow fences tocomedown

County Engineer Charles P. Wagner, convinced winter is over, instructed his work crews to begin taking down snow fence this week. This is one of several mostly routine jobs facing street, road and highway crews in Fayette County this week.

County crews will also be working on Railroad Street in Jeffersonville, fill grading on the Fishback and Bloomingburg-New Holland Roads and picking up litter along all roads.

Gene Fitzpatric, Fayette County superintendent of the Ohio Department of Highways, said his men will be sealing cracks on Ohio 729, north of Jeffersonville, and on U.S. 22-E. Dragging berms, cutting brush and picking up litter are also on the worksheet. Fitzpatric added that some trees may be cut later in the week.

Bill Duncan, acting City Street Superintendent, said his crews will patch and berm streets and clean catch basins.

Dismiss charge against evangelist

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A public intoxication charge against evangelist Leroy Jenkins was dismissed by Municipal Court Judge Frank Reda Friday for lack of evidence.

Jenkins was arrested at a Columbus street corner last Sept. 16. Reda said the court found that the defendant's conduct at the time of arrest "does not satisfy the court beyond a reasonable doubt."

During 1973, approximately $138 million worth of cars were loaned to U. S. schools for driver education courses by local dealers.

Prospective sailors must beat odds

WASHINGTON (AP) — To get into the Navy these days, a recruit has to beat the odds.

The Navy recently began requiring its recruiters to use something called "Odds For Effectiveness" (OFE) tables to help judge whether a young man would make a good sailor.

Passing score is at least 69 on a scale of 100, computed from such factors as the candidate's school background, mental-test results, and police record, if any.

This approach is part of the Navy's efforts to upgrade the quality of men in its ranks, and has been spurred by a series of shipboard disorders and by congressional allegations that the Navy has been lax in discipline.

Meanwhile, the Navy has extended indefinitely a special program under which it already has weeded out nearly 3,500 troublemakers and "marginal or nonproductive performers."

The "Odds For Effectiveness" scoring is based on six years of research with about 11,000 enlistees.

"The OFE scores are the chances in 100 that an applicant, if enlisted, will render effective service—that is, complete enlistment and be recommended for re-enlistment," the Navy said.

The formula for calculating a man's score weighs (1) the number of school years he has finished, (2) any suspensions or expulsions from school, (3) his marks in the Navy's standard mental test, and (4) any nontraffic arrests.

For example, if a man reaches 155 out of a possible 220 on his entrance exam, has graduated from high school, was never suspended or expelled from class and had a clean police record, he would be graded as having 90 chances in 100 of becoming an effective sailor.

But if this man, with his entrance-test score of 155, had been suspended from school twice and arrested once, his OFE score would be 71, barely passing. And if he had been arrested twice, his score would be reduced to a below-acceptable 63.

Navy officials said a man who scores lower than the minimum 69 can still be accepted into the Navy, but only if the recruiter's commanding officer or some higher authority grants a written waiver after a reevaluation.

Canadian senators are required to retire at age 75.

Ohio perspective

Socialist Workers content with gains

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Socialist Workers party in Cleveland is predominantly young, heavily radical and enthusiastically involved in the political process.

All of their political efforts are aimed, say SWP leaders, at an eventual socialist revolution. But in the meantime, it's traditional politics with a difference.

The difference, said SWP mayoral candidate Roberta Scherr, is simply that SWP candidates don't expect to win. And they don't expect socialism "to be voted into office" either.

"I don't have any illusions about winning," Ms. Scherr said. "Most people are Republicans and Democrats, and we don't expect that most people will vote for socialism."

Because electoral victory is not expected for the moment, SWP leaders take solace in a socialist vote as a change in tradition and strong evidence of a permanent convert.

Both Republicans and Democrats are scorned by the SWP as "basically representing the same interests" and "both presenting the illusion of democracy."

Socialism is the real alternative, Ms. Scherr said, and 'running an election campaign is one of the best ways of reaching mass sentiment."

It also offers a chance to correct "a lot of mistaken ideas about socialism," she said. "Most people think of socialism or communism as it exists in the Soviet Union. I don't think that's true. I think that's a betrayal of what socialism stands for."

As a socialist mayor, Ms. Scherr said she would use the office as a rallying point for public feeling — "organizing rallies and mass demonstrations."

She would push, she said, for a 100 per cent tax on companies which fail to curb pollution, for "a lower work week and a sliding scale of wages" to eliminate unemployment and for control of police in the black community "by the black community."

She would lobby for women's rights and for gay liberation, she said. She would continue to propose "socialist alternatives."

But there would be a limit to what she could do, she said. Any fundamental change "will take a socialist revolution.

"It will take a mass social upheaval," she said. "What I'm proposing is only a step toward that. I don't think socialism will be elected into office."

But "of course, we want to win," she added.

"But I would rather 50 people joined the Young Socialist Alliance during the campaign than get ..." She stopped, smiling as she thought about the figure she'd started to say.

"Wait a minute. How many votes would it take?

"But winning people to our ideas. That is the important thing."

State park fee boosts under study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A public hearing is slated next month on proposed fee increases for some facilities at Ohio state parks.

The proposed increases by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources would affect boat dock rentals, deluxe camping area fees, golf greens and cabins, according to Department Director William Nye.

The hearing is slated for 9:30 a.m. April 4 at the Ohio Departments Building, Nye said.

Included in the proposal are the following increases:

—A $1 increase in room rates at Hueston Woods, Salt Fork, Punderson and Burr Oak state parks.

—Raising from $40 to $42 a year boat dock rentals on boats 14 feet long or less.

—A 25 per cent boost in the $2.25 Class A camping fee.

—A 35-cent-per-night increase in camping site electrical rates.

—50-cent increases in 18-hole golf course fees at Hueston Woods and Portsmouth state parks. But reductions of 50 cents to $1 in nine-hole green fees at Salt Fork, Punderson and Hueston Woods parks.

Warren County authoress robbed

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Hazel S. Phillips, 76, author and director emeritus of the Warren County Museum was found locked in the closet of her home Sunday after it was burglarized.

She told police three masked men entered her home Saturday night and demanded money. They ransacked the place after finding only eight dollars in her purse.

Police said the men placed her in her wheelchair before locking her in the closet. She was found Sunday by a friend.

Damage and the value of items taken was not estimated.

Stryker blaze loss $200,000

STRYKER, Ohio (AP) — Fire destroyed a harness shop, a beauty parlor and damaged a post office substation early today in this Williams County community in northwestern Ohio, authorities said.

There was no official damage estimate, but deputies and firemen said it appeared it might run as high as $200,000 from the blaze that destroyed Paul's Harness Shop and the adjoining beauty parlor.

As many as 50 men from eight fire departments controlled the 1 a.m. blaze. Cause of the fire was not known.

There were no injuries.

Mushroom firm rips order

SOUTH LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — The owner of Fred Mushroom Products has charged that the U.S. Food and Drug Administration was being "autocratic" when it ordered a total recall on all the firm's products.

The FDA Sunday ordered the national recall of all products produced by the 43-year-old manufacturing firm over the past four or five months.

"FDA tests show the presence of botulinum txoin, type B spores in samples of four-ounce cans of Fred Mushroom Code No. SW 364," an agency spokesman said.

"The recall includes all of the firm's canned mushroom products on the market," the FDA said.

"The truth of the matter has not been brought out," charged Corwin Fred, who said disease was "an industry problem." Fred said the United Canning Corp. at East Palestine, Ohio, had a similar problem earlier this month.

"They only found the botulism in one or two cans," said Fred.

"We have had some problems down at the plant with the new automatic can filling machine. We admit that.

"But we think the recall should be limited to the products that came off the machine," he said. A total recall of all products, including those in glass, and steak and sauces "doesn't make any sense.

"We are trying to negotiate this with the FDA," Fred said, noting his firm would lose about $200,000 if all products are involved.

"But they're pretty autocratic on something like this. We admit there was a problem, but it wasn't our fault. The problem has been rectified and we will continue to can."

He said whole and button canned mushrooms should be exempt too.

The firm packages about 3.5 million pounds of mushrooms annually and does a business of around $3 million.

Fred said the new machine eliminated the jobs of 100 women packers. The problem was in the part of the machine that actually filled cans with sliced mushrooms.

Fred said that mushrooms parts sometimes remained in the machine most of the day. The result was that when these parts were placed in cans, they required a longer cooking time to kill the bacteria.

"It's a mistake," Fred said. "We didn't know about the filler and the industry didn't know about it either.

"No one has become sick or died. We throw these pieces away now," he said, "we didn't know that this would develop into a problem."

Indiana man held in Lebanon slaying

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — A Brockville, Ind., man was held under $100,000 bond today on first-degree murder charges stemming from a drive-in movie shooting Saturday night. The shooting followed an argument over a car door accident.

Douglas W. Willis, 23, is accused of the fatal shooting of Paul C. Cole, 34, of Sharonville, Ohio.

Jeffersonville pharmacist attends seminar

Fred E. St. Clair of Davis Drugs, Jeffersonville, attended a one-day postgraduate seminar on"Legend and OTC Therapy: Interactions and Contraindications," sponsored by the Ohio State Pharmaceutical Association and the Hamilton County Pharmaceutical Association with the cooperation of the Council of Ohio Colleges of Pharmacy,at Holiday Inn, Cincinnati, March 4.

"Responsibility and Liability in Recommending OTC Drugs" was discussed by Dr. Rupert Salisbury, attorney an associate professor of pharmacy and assistant dean at the Ohio State University College of Pharmacy.

"Antiinfective Therapy" and "Peptic Ulcer Therapy" was discussed by James A. Visconti, Ph. D., R. Ph., director of the Drug Information Center at the Ohio State University Hospital and associate professor of pharmacy at the College of Pharmacy.

Thomas A. Gossel, Ph.D., R. Ph., assistant professor of pharmacology at Ohio Northern University College of Pharmacy, addressed the group on "Diabetes Therapy."

J. Richard Wuest, Pharm. D., R. Ph., assistant professor of pharmacy at the University of Cincinnati College of Pharmacy where he teaches the Pharmacy Practices courses, spoke to the seminarians on "Hypertension Therapy."

All four speakers participated in a panel discussion on " OTC Problems Faced in Practice."

A $10,000 silver saddle enclosed in a glass case is on display in the lobby of New York's fashionable restaurant, the "21 Club."

German girl in Indiana must marry

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—A young German girl must find an American husband by March 22 or be deported. And she's willing to pay for blood tests, license, justice of the peace and, if necessary, "even the divorce."

Micki Topper, a 22-year-old fraulein who came to the United States from West Berlin last Sept. 29 as a tourist, says she will do just about anything to stay here.

She even placed an advertisement in a Fort Wayne newspaper saying, "German girl must get married or be deported." And it may work.

The 5-foot-1 brunette, who sports vital statistics of 36-25-36, says she has been deluged with phone calls and now has "dozens" of suitors.

"I never thought I would be so popular," she said Sunday. "I may have to start making appointments."

Miss Topper said most of her callers are in their 20s, but she had one suitor who was 50 years old.

She said she is serious about the marriage offer and plans to be a "good wife and try to work things out."

"I can't believe it," she said. "I've gotten so many calls. They all sound so nice."

Reject proposal for flood levees on Ohio border

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The U.S. Corps of Army Engineers has rejected two flood control plans near Greencastle and Lawrenceburg, Ind. at the Ohio line.

Maj. Gen. William L. Starnes, division engineer, Ohio River Division, said in Cincinnati, the decision followed a feasibility study requested by the U.S. Senate Public Works Committee Dec. 4, 1974.

Two plans were selected were to utilize the elevated levees for Interstate 275 at the confluence of the Great Miami and Ohio rivers for flood protection.

Starnes said neither plan would be economically feasible since the land in question is relatively undeveloped. The corps offered flood plain planning for restrictions if desired.

Plans for meat boycott in April sweep country

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two women who started a chain-letter appeal for a national meat boycott the first week of April say it has drawn such an overwhelming response that they're convinced it will work and drive meat prices down.

In the three weeks since the pair formed an organization called Fight Inflation Together (FIT), they estimate 3,000 persons have written them pledges promising to abstain from eating meat every Tuesday and Thursday and the entire first week of next month.

They say FIT clubs have been started in about 40 cities and they hear of more every day.

"Our phone doesn't stop ringing," one founder, June Foray Donovan, an actress and voice of television cartoon characters, said Friday. "It's sweeping the country."

"We've got a tiger by the tail," said the other, Arline Mathews, a commercial artist. "It's moving so fast it's amazing."

The pair got the idea while talking on the telephone and sent out letters to friends, enclosing form letters to be sent to at least five friends out of state.

"People all over the country tell us they've been wanting to do something and didn't know how," said Mrs. Donovan.

FIT is nonpartisan and nonpolitical, its only aim being to reduce meat prices, the founders said.

"It's irrelevant to us who is culpable," said Mrs. Donovan. "We believe in the domino theory. If we attack at the retail level it's eventually going to have a chain reaction and get at whoever is the culprit."

Mrs. Donovan is the voice of Rocky the Flying Squirrel in the Bullwinkle cartoon series on television, as well as Granny in the Tweetie and Sylvester cartoon series.

Chemical spill said not major threat

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Coast Guard says an accidental spill of 150,000 gallons of water containing sodium chromate into Otter Creek poses no immediate threat to the area.

The East Toledo plant of Libbey-Owens-Ford discharged the cooling tank water, containing about 500 pounds of the chemical, when automatic controls designed to contain it malfunctioned.

The Coast Guard said it will dam the creek and filter the water before it flows into Maumee Bay on Lake Erie.

Awardwoman $10,000 for false arrest

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)— Linda Mitchell, 24, has been awarded a $10,000 judgment against Nadler Clothes in Butler County Common Pleas Court charging malicious arrest.

Mrs. Mitchell said she was arrested for shoplifting and spent the night in jail in March, 1970. She denied the charge and the grand jury ignored the case. She originally asked for $25,000.

Youth Activities

BLOOMINGBURG BROWNIES

The Bloomingburg Brownie Troop 28 repeated the Brownie Promise and recited the Pledge of Allegiance at the last meeting. Carmen West collected the Brownie Gold and Mrs. Dean called the role. The troop practiced its program for Juliette Lowe and played games and sang songs.

Refreshments were served by Pam Huff.

Panthers nab district cage title

MT upsets eighth-ranked Cavs in classic defensive struggle

By ED SUMMERS
Record-Herald Staff Writer

The Miami Trace Panthers were crowned Southeastern Ohio District champions Saturday night after they shocked the eight-ranked Chillicothe Cavaliers 43-40 in a classic defensive struggle at Ohio University's Convocation Center.

The game, played before nearly 4,000 fans, saw the Panthers and Cavaliers lock horns in what had to be one of the finest defensive games of the season for either team.

"It was great. Really fantastic," a jubilant Jan Stauffer commented," the boys deserve all the credit. They really wanted it."

JUST HOW much the Panthers "wanted it" was evidenced by their hustle and teamwork against the pressing Cavaliers, especially in the frantic closing minutes of the contest when they pumped in seven points to seal their first-ever district championship. Miami Trace's tenacious zone defense in the second half was perhaps the key to the victory, keeping the ball away from the Cavaliers' big men in the middle and forcing Chillicothe into shooting from longer range.

It was Pete Jones 'hot hand' that the Panthers in the game in the first half. Pete pumped in 16 of the Panthers' 28 points in the first two periods, including a rebounded shot with 12 seconds remaining which gave Miami Trace a 28-27 lead which they never relinquished. Six-foot junior Dave Steinhauser, starting his first game ever as a forward, did a yeoman's job under the boards with the taller Ross Countians, pulling in height missed shots and canning nine points.

Center Dave Persinger, drawing his first tournament starting assignment came through with 12 rebounds and six points.

But perhaps the unsung hero of the games was senior guard Glenn Gifford, in his first starting role since suffering a serious wrist injury several weeks ago. Time and time again Gifford, seemingly unbothered by the pressure, squirmed and dribbled his way through the net-like Cavalier zone press which Chillicothe employed throughout the contest. Although Glenn, the smallest player on the court, never scored a point, his ball handling and hustling defensive play saved the Panthers in several crucial situations.

MUFF JONES, saddled with three fouls early in the second period, nevertheless turned in a fine defensive performance and added six points and five rebounds to the winning totals.

For the Cavaliers, who had tasted defeat only three times prior to the game, the loss was a sad ending to a fine season. The Cavaliers, led by All-Ohio candidate Mark Bayless, with 14 points and 11 rebounds, were never able to crack the Panthers' tough 1-2-2 zone defense in the second half although they were within one point of the Fayette Countains on three occasions.

Chillicothe controlled the opening tipoff and Bayless put the Cavaliers on the scoreboard with a 15-foot jumper with 39 seconds gone in the period. Pete Jones popped in a shot from the top of the key for the Panthers first score with 5:30 remaining and Steinhauser tossed in a rebound goal three minutes later to give Miami Trace its first lead at 6-5.

Jones then pumped in six straight points in the remaining time, but the Ross Countians countered with nine and took a 14-12 lead as the second quarter got underway.

Muff Jones left the contest on his third personal foul with 3:57 left in the period as Chillicothe built a five-point, 23-18 lead, its biggest of the night. However brother Pete came to the Panther rescue and hit eight of Miami Trace's next 10 points and gave them a 28-27 halftime lead.

The Panthers, who had opened in a man-to-man defense, switched to a 1-2-2 zone midway through the second period and held Chillicothe to only two baskets in the last four minutes of the half.

The Panther defense was nearly perfect in the opening minutes of the third period, holding Chillicothe scoreless for the first 3:50 seconds of play while Pete Jones and Persinger combined for six points to give Miami Trace a seven point 34-27 lead.

CENTER BILL RAY finally broke the scoring ice for the Cavaliers, tossing in a layup to key a six-point Chillicothe scoring binge which closed the gap 34-33 with less than two minutes remaining.

Steinhauser somehow managed to snatch a rebound away from the tall timber under the Panther bucket and hit a fall-away jumper with 59 seconds left to again increase the Miami Trace margin to three points, 36-33.

The Cavaliers had two more opportunities to score in the period but were forced into bad passes by the hustling Panthers.

The tension-filled final period got underway with Chillicothe controlling the tip. Dan Beverly put in a rebounded shot with 7:16 remaining and the score stood 36-35. The bucket was the only points scored by either team for the first 6:50 of the period.

Unimpregnable defenses by both teams and the Panthers' stalling tactics kept the fans on the edges of their seats as scoring opportunities slipped through the fingers of either team, during the next several minutes.

As Stauffer later explained, "the boys were tiring from fighting the constant pressing defenses employed by the Cavaliers and we decided to hold the ball for a good shot."

Whatever the reason, the strategy worked, as Miami Trace controlled the ball for nearly all the first six minutes before Muff Jones finally gave the Panthers a three-point lead on a fastbreak layup with 1:50 left.

Ray countered with a shot from the lane to cut the margin to one at 38-37, but a short jumper by Persinger again gave Miami Trace a 40-37 lead, with 1:20 remaining. Following a free throw by Ray six seconds later on Pete Jones fourth personal foul, both teams threw away scoring opportunities before the Panthers took over with 38 seconds remaining after a Cavalier turnover. Muff Jones was fouled by Cavalier Ted Gatliff as they collided in midair on the inbounds pass. Both players were shaken up on the play but Muff, Following a Panther timeout, calmly stepped to the charity stripe and bucketed both ends of a one and one situation, giving Miami Trace a 42-38 lead. A Chillicothe turnover following a jump ball again gave Miami Trace possession and with 18 seconds left Persinger was at the line with a bonus situation after being fouled by Ray. Dave missed the first shot, but Miami Trace managed to control the rebound.

With 10 seconds remaining Gatliff fouled Steinhauser in an attempt to steal the ball and the steel-nerved junior hit on his first attempt to open a five-point lead, 43-38.

CHILLICOTHE grabbed the missed second shot and the Panthers allowed Gatliff to drive the length of the floor for a layup. The Cavaliers managed to call a time out with a second left after they knocked the Panther inbound pass away but could do nothing more than again bat away the inbounds pass before time expired.

Although smaller Miami Trace outrebounded the Cavaliers by a 52-49 margin, led by Persinger with 12 and Pete Jones with nine.

Neither team shot well in the pressure filled contest, the Panthers hitting on 18 of 54 attempts for 33 per cent while Chillicothe could muster only 16 of 65 shots for 25 per cent. The Cavaliers hit 8 of 16 from the charity stripe and Miami Trace canned seven of 15.

The quick-handed Cavaliers pressed full-court the entire contest, but Panther ballhandlers committed only 14 miscues. The Cavaliers had 11 turnovers.

MT faces Columbus South in AAA Regional tourney

Miami Trace, a winner of 11 consecutive games, will collide with highly-touted Columbus South Friday evening in Class AAA regional tournament play at the Fairgrounds Coliseum in Columbus.

The Panthers, co-champions of the South Central Ohio League, will risk a 16-6 all-games record when they meet Columbus South (19-2) at 5 p.m. Friday.

Columbus South, ranked fifth in the Associated Press' final high school basketball poll, rose to the occasion with an 86-68 win over Mt. Vernon Saturday while the Panthers were shocking eighth-ranked Chillicothe in the Athens District tourney.

ALL THREE defending champions are still alive along Ohio's heartbreak highway. Cleveland East Tech in Class AAA, Columbus Ready in Class AA Gnadenhutten Indian Valley South in Class A are defending the titles they won a year ago in St. John Arena.

All three have rugged regional tasks facing them while trying to get back to Columbus March 22, 23 and 24 for the 51st Ohio High School Athletic Association state cage championships.

Newark, which smoothly handled Columbus East 48-40, will be in the 8:30 p.m. regional game Friday at the Coliseum against Findlay (16-6).

Columbus Ready and Bexley were the winners of the Class AA Central District tournament, gaining berths to the Steubenville Regional. Pat Penn's defending Class AA champs, now 19-3, face Wellsville (18-4) at 5 p.m. Friday, while Bexley (17-4) meets Steubenville Catholic (21-1) at 8:30 p.m.

Bob Howsam will head Cincy Reds

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— General Manager Bob Howsam was expected to be named President of the Cincinnati Reds today, replacing Francis L. Dale.

Howsam was summoned from the Reds training camp in Tampa, Fla., today to attend a board of directors meeting.

Dale was nationally known as a member of the Committee to Re-Elect the President, and is publisher of The Cincinnati Enquirer.

Dale, once considered one of the "Young Turks" among major league owners, is expected to remain on the board of directors and as an adviser to the ball club.

Sources said Louis Nippert, a prominent Cincinnati lawyer, is to become board chairman.

Nippert, an original member of the local syndicate which purchased the Reds from William O. DeWitt in 1966, acquired 51 per cent of the stock last May.

The 56-year-old Howsam signed a new, three-year contract with the Reds last December. He was expected to continue as general manager in a dual role.

Frankie Frisch dies of injuries

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Frankie Frisch, a member of baseball's Hall of Fame, died today of cardiac arrest at the Wilmington Medical Center.

Frisch, 74, was injured in an automobile accident Feb. 8 near Elkton, Md.

Frisch, who managed the St. Louis Cardinals' Gas House Gang of the 1930s had been in critical condition since the accident.

Cincinnati Swords sew up championship

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Swords celebrated their championship victory in the Western Division of the American Hockey League Sunday night in a subdued fashion.

Quiet, yet smiling, the two-year-old expansion team had a round of soda pop and departed.

"We're saving the champagne for the Calder Cup," said Joey Robertson after the Swords walloped their season-long nemisis, the Hershey Bears, 11-2.

Cobb places ninth in state mat meet

Gardner Cobb, Miami Trace's senior strongboy, notched a ninth place finish in the Class AAA branch of the annual Ohio high school wrestling tournament held Friday and Saturday at St. John Arena on the Ohio State University campus in Columbus.

Head coach Chuck Wallace, who tutored the talented Cobb through an outstanding three-year career on the Miami Trace mats, said a total of 119 Class AAA high school were presented in the state tourney.

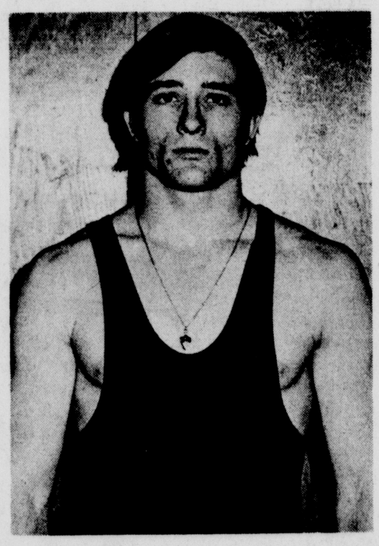
Cobb, who completed the season with a glittering 21-2 overall record and is the owner of numerous Miami Trace standards, blanked Gary Braun, of Cleveland St. Joseph, by a 4-0 count in his opening match of the 185-pound class but lost 4-0 to Tim Pierce, of Troy, who was defeated by the eventual state champion from Youngstown Boardman.

TOUGH competition was pinpointed by the fact that only 15 pins were scored in a total of 273 matches and there were 10 overtimes.

Northeastern Ohio, the hotbed of high school wrestling, gained added prestige in the tourney as Elyria nabbed the Class AAA title. Elyria scored 36 points in claiming the Class AAA title, edging Akron Garfield by two points. Mentor finished third with 33½ points followed by Grove City (26), Cincinnati Oak Hills (24) and Columbus Westland (23).

In Class A-AA, Ravenna Southeast walked off with state laurels by totaling 44 points, eight more than second place Oregon Cardinal stritch.

A totalof 33,008 attended the two-day meet and that figure broke last year's record by 5,000 persons.



GARDNER COBB

Tony Perez all geared up for big year with Reds

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Tony Perez has "that feeling," and that could mean trouble for pitchers around the National League.

"I have that feeling, that feeling like I'm going to have a big year," the Cincinnati Reds first baseman said.

Perez had what was, for him, a disappointing season in 1972, although most players would consider it a good year.

He hit .283 for the National League champion Reds and drove in 90 runs, giving him six consecutive seasons with 90 or more runs batted in.

But, Perez hit only 21 home runs and, for the first time since 1966, fell short of playing 150 games because of nagging injuries to his hands.

"It's funny, I hit 21 home runs and everyone is teasing me about losing my power. Someone else hits 21 home runs, and they call him a long ball hitter," said Perez, whose career high in homers is 40.

Perez is determined to improve his homer production; so determined he reported to camp this year in the best shape of his career.

"I took up tennis this winter," said Perez, who played three to four hours of tennis a day all winter in San Juan, P.R.

"I also ran on the beach every day," he said.

Perez also played winter baseball and hit one of the longest home runs in the history of the ball park in Caracas, Venezuela, site of the Caribbean playoffs.

"I never saw anyone hit a longer home run than that," said Reds shortstop Dave Concepcion, who was in the stands that day. "It was high and deep. The centerfield wall is 390 feet away, and the ball went way, way over it."

Perez, a native Cuban who this winter visited his homeland for the first time in 10 years, says the hand injuries that kept him out of action part of last season are healed.

"I'm ready for the season to begin," he said.

The Reds, now 0-2 in the Grapefruit League, face Kansas City today at Fort Myers, Fla.

Cincinnati dropped its second straight game to the Detroit Tigers Sunday, losing 13-0, when Frank Howard hit a pinch three-run homer in the fifth inning off Mel Behney.

Johnny Bench made his first appearance of the season in the game. Bench, who underwent lung surgery in the off-season, drove in a run with a single in two trips to the plate and stole one base.

Mays slapped with fine for long visit with wife

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Not to be outdone by the marital headlines of New York Yankee pitchers Fritz Peterson and Mike Kekich and their respective spouses last week, one of the New York Met wives made a little news over the weekend.

Mrs. Mae Mays received an expensive visit from husband Willie while the Mets, who are looking for a center fielder anyway, put out baseball's version of an APB for the AWOL Willie.

The Yankees' official policy was hands off the Peterson-Kekcik hi-jinks. Mays wasn't so lucky, and Manager Yogi Berra slapped him with a fine estimated from $500 to $1,000 after the 41-year-old superstar missed connections on a flight back from his Atherton, Calif., home to the Mets' St. Petersburg, Fla., training camp and failed to show up for a Saturday workout.

"I made a mistake," Mays admitted after Berra socked him with the first major fine of his long career at a Sunday meeting. "He made his point and he was right. When I'm wrong, I'm wrong. I should have told him."

At first, Mays said his wife wasn't feeling well. Later, he amended his story, saying, "Mostly my wife's lonesome, but she'll join me next week."

At any rate, Mays' absence Saturday had the Mets sending a search party to his apartment a few miles from St. Petersburg. Asked why he hadn't phoned when his original flight back from California was canceled, Mays shrugged:

"I should have. It sounds silly, but I didn't know the number. I could have found it out, I agree, but I thought I could be back before anybody knew I was gone."

Indiana wins Big Ten in wild climax

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Big Ten basketball has had its most incredible championship windup in history.

Last-place Northwestern, grabbing only its second conference victory of the season, defeated top-dog Minnesota 79-74. The Gophers, whose downfall began with a home loss to Iowa earlier in the week, were ranked No. 3 nationally.

Northwestern's shocker knocked Minnesota out of a playoff with Indiana for the championship.

Indiana, downing Purdue 77-72, took its first outright Big Ten crown since 1958. The Hoosiers shared the title with Michigan State in 1967 and won the playoff to get the NCAA tournament ticket.

Now they are back in the NCAA again, carrying the emblem as champion. Their first NCAA action is against Marquette in Nashville Thursday.

Indiana, ranked ninth, clamped the title with an 11-3 record while Minnesota was reduced to runnerup with 10-4 and gets a NIT bid.

Senior Mark Sibley of Northwestern made his final collegiate game his greatest, scoring a career high of 36 points.

His cool free throwing shooting late in the game checked a Gopher surge led by Ron Behagen that had cut the Wildcat lead to four points.

"You only get out of life what you put into it," said Minnesota Coach Ed Musselman. "When a guy plays like Sibley played— he threw his heart out on the floor—you have to match him. He got the loose balls, made the drive-ins and was fouled at the right time.

"We fell behind 7-0 early and we tried to come back too fast," Musselman added. "They took us by surprise and never let up."

A crowd of 6,170 was Northwestern's largest of the season.

"And they saw our best game," said Coach Brad Snyder. "Everybody played hard, especially Sibley. I only wish we had played this well all year. When you shoot 54 per cent from the field a team just about has to win."

Sibley had some thoughts about 34-year-old Snyder whose job as coach has been considered shakey.

"As a team we probably won for ourselves, but I personally won for Brad," said Sibley. "A ball club doesn't stay together as long as we have without a good man at the helm. There will be some people taking some cheap shots at him. But I think he's a beautiful man."

Northwestern has finished at the bottom of the Big Ten the last three seasons.

Indiana, playing before its largest home crowd, 17,436, fell behind Purdue 8-0 early, but kept pressuring to win as Steve Downing scored 20 points and Jim Crews added 14, most of them from outside.

"The first half was the key," said Hoosier Coach Bob Knight. "I think we tied it at 14 and then they jumped ahead 20-14. From then until the end of the first half it was a real key stretch. If they could have added to their lead it could have been real tough..."

Coach Fred Schaus of Purdue said "Indiana had four fewer baskets than us, but they got 24 attempts at the free throw line and we got only eight... That was the difference."

Purdue, Illinois and Ohio State shared third place with 8-6 marks.

Candy LaPrince's 22 points powered Iowa over the Illini 93-76. Nick Conner and Jeff Dawson topped Illinois with 21 each.

Ohio State thrashed Michigan 102-87 behind the production of 24 points by Allan Hornyak and 20 by Wardell Jackson. Henry Wilmore with 16 and Campy Russell with 15 were high for the Wolverines.

Freshman Cedric Milton hit on two free throws in the final four seconds to give Michigan State a 79-78 overtime victory over Wisconsin after the game had been locked 65-65 in regulation play.

Leon Howard gunned Wisconsin with 24 points. Mike Robinson hit 19 for MSU to total 374 for the season. He repeated as Big Ten scoring champion with a 26.7 average.

Trevino winner of Doral Open

MIAMI (AP) — Lee Trevino sighed wearily.

"I aged 10 years on this one. So many guys got so close. I could have finished third or fourth," he said.

But, the man with the pressure-proof nerves didn't. He won, responding to a stretch challenge with a pair of birdies, and a crucial putt on the final hole.

Trevino, now winner of two tournaments in three weeks, blew a four-stroke lead before staging a dramatic rally for a one-stroke victory over Bruce Crampton and Tom Weiskopf in the Doral-Eastern Open Golf Tournament Sunday.

The $30,000 first prize boosted Trevino's money winnings to $98,543 and vaulted him into the No. 1 money-winning spot this year, ahead of Crampton, the leader since he took consecutive titles at Phoenix and Tucson early this season.

"Yeah, I'm the leading money winner," Trevino agreed, "But I'm taking two weeks off, and I won't be when I get back."

Crampton, an Australian veteran enjoying the best season of his 17-year career on the American tour, agreed. "I'm confident I'll get it back," he said.

He came very close to retaining it. Trevino finished with a 276 total, 12-under-par on the 7,065-yard Blue Monster course at the Doral Country Club.

Crampton bolted out of the pack with a seven-under-par 65 on the final round—his card included nine threes—and tied with Weiskopf for second at 277, one stroke behind Trevino. Weiskopf holed a 30-foot birdie putt on the final hole for a 67.

Elyria wrestling tourney champions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Elyria won its first state Class AAA wrestling championship by edging out Akron Garfield and Mentor in St. John Arena Saturday before 10,251 fans.

The Pioneers scored 36 points. Akron Garfield had 34 and Mentor 33½.

Cleveland Crusaders stop Winnipeg, 11-2

WINNIPEG (AP) — Ron Buchanan scored three goals and Bob Dillabough and Gary Jarrett added two apiece Sunday night as the Cleveland Crusaders overpowered Winnipeg 11-2 and moved into a first-place tie with New England in the World Hockey Association's East Division.

UCLA's powerful Bruins await Arizona State tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The UCLA Bruins begin throwing for "seven" this week and John Wooden likes the odds, as usual.

"My optimism going into the NCAA playoffs is about the same as last year—I wouldn't trade my chances with anyone," says the highly successful coach.

It will take more than a roll of the dice to beat the nation's top-ranked team. The Bruins have won six straight national titles and appear just as strong this year as in the past.

"We were down a little but we are coming back and getting sharp at just the right time," says Wooden, whose team currently has a record 71-game winning streak over 2½ seasons and has won 32 straight games in the NCAA Tournament.

Wit a first-round victory Saturday, Arizona State earned the dubious honor of meeting the mighty Bruins this Thursday in one of the West Regional semifinal games. The other matches Long Beach State against the University of San Francisco, champion in the West Coast Athletic Conference.

Like UCLA, winner of the Pacific-8 Conference, San Francisco drew a first-round bye. But there was plenty of action over the weekend—nine game from coast-to-coast.

In the West Regional, Western Athletic Conference champion Arizona State trounced Oklahoma City 103-78 and Long Beach, champion of the Pacific Coast Athletic Association, beat Big Sky winner Weber State 88-75.

In the Mideast, Marquette scored a 77-62 victory over Miami of Ohio, the Mid-American Conference champion, and Ohio Valley Conference winner Austin Peay nipped Jacksonville 77-75.

South Carolina eliminated Southwest Conference champion Texas Tech 78-70, and Southwestern Louisiana smothered Houston 102-89 in the Midwest Regional.

In the East, Syracuse took an 83-32 decision over Furman, the top team in the Southern Conference; Ivy League champion Penn edged St. John's N.Y. 62-61, and Providence registered an 89-76 triumph over St. Jo-seph's, Pa., the winner in the Middle Atlantic Conference.

Saturday's results set up the pairings for Thursday's semifinals in the four regions.

In the Midwest at Houston, it's South Carolina against Missouri Valley Conference titlist Memphis State and Southwestern Louisiana vs. Kansas State.

In the Mideast at Nashville, Tenn., Marquette faces Big Ten champion Indiana and Austin Peay will play Kentucky, winner in the Southeastern Conference. The West Regional will be held at UCLA's Pauley Pavilion in Los Angeles.

LEARNING HIS TRADE — David Houck, right, said by his union to be the only shipwright apprentice in California, gets a lesson in repairing a cabin on a ship from Ed Doney, left, and Dick Linville. Houck works beside older craftsmen, repairing and restoring the collection of old wooden vessels moored in California's Maritime Historic Park near Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco.

Shipwright apprentice learns a dying craft

By BOB YEAGER
Associated Press Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The creaks and groans of ancient wooden sailing ships are everyday shop talk to David Houck.

Houck, 29, is said by his union to be the only shipwright apprentice in the nation's most populous state — an aspirant in a dying craft whose practitioners once designed, built and mended proud wooden ships around the globe.

"There's so much to learn" Houck said of his unique job in Clifrornia's Maritime Historic Park near Fisherman's Wharf. "What I have to do is watch and try to get it all in my head."

He works beside older craftsmen repairing and restoring the collection of old wooden vessels in the park, a popular tourist attraction.

APPRENTICE programs are equally rare in other parts of the country, said Jim Tinkcom, training director of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, the shipwrights' national union.

"The moral of the story is don't buy a big wooden sailing ship unless your handskills are pretty good," he said.

Nominally, shipwrights still exist in the San Francisco area. Harry Dring, maintenance supervisor at the park, said about 70 belong to the shipwrights' union, Local 1149, the oldest union in the state.

The majority find their work in modern shipyards on steel-hulled commercial vessels.

"But if you told them you wanted to build and repair a large wooden sailing ship, they wouldn't know where to begin," Dring said.

Most wood-trained shipwrights today are in their 60s and 70s and "were raised — no matter how the liberals and intellectuals pooh-pooh it — according to the work ethic in a hard, exacting craft," he said.

THAT CRAFT must include an intimate knowledge of the network of planks and fittings that make up the hull of a wooden vessel.

"A shipwright has to be far more competent than an uptown carpenter nailing 2 by 4s together," Dring said. "An old ship is a mass of curving wood. Not only is it complex; it can't leak."

Threatened with total extinction of the shipwright's skills — and desirous of maintaining the six nautical heirlooms at the maritime park — the state began a search for a young apprentice. Houck started the three-year training program "not knowing a poop deck from a forecastle." He is under the tutelage of foreman Joe Beviacqua and three other shipwrights at the park.

BEVIACQUA is 68. The youngest of his journeymen is 51.

The dark-haired mustachioed Houck confesses that the age gap can be frustrating.

"They get a little impatient when I don't learn in a year what they have learned in 40 years," he said.

Houck's unique training experience draws on centuries of historical precedent.

Early efforts to improve shipbuilding were led by King James I, who in 1605 chartered a Shipwrights Guild with jurisdiction over all shipyards in England.

THE GUILD soon offered improvements of its own. Master Shipwright Phineas Pett introduced the use of scale models and mathematically developed plans, making possible the construction of identical vessels.

Wooden ships gave way to metal hulled counterparts at the turn of the century and the traditional skills that went into their design and construction began to fade.

Speaking of Your Health...

She Has Painful Face Spasms

I have spasms of pain in the face. These happen almost always while I am at work.

I have seen a dentist and a doctor, but the pills they gave me don't seem to have any effect.

What more can I do?

Mrs. A. D., Mass.

Dear Mrs. D.:

Pain in the face and the head often represents a challenge for proper diagnosis.

The nerves of the face, the jaws, the head, ears, the eyes and neck are an intricate system of intercommunication. The fifth, or "trigeminal" nerve, is one of the 12 large nerves that go to the brain.

This fifth nerve is usually responsible for minor and severe pain sensations. So remarkable is it that even a gentle breath of air or a wisp of cotton can produce a sensatiion that is picked up by this nerve and brought to the brain center.

There are many causes that must be ruled out in your case to account for these sporadic episodes of explosive pain. The fact that they occur while at work may prove important, but may also be purely coincidental.

The sinuses, the bit of the teeth and the condition of the jaw joint, changes in the muscles and the vertebrae of the neck, vascular conditions, eye disorders, and allergic reactions to drugs and food may all be responsible.

You can see, therefore, that a casual visit to your dentist or to your doctor is not enough to scratch the surface of the exploration necessary to track down the source of your problem.

Neurological studies, X-rays of the sinuses in the head, studies of the occlusion, or "bite," of the teeth, and studies of vision and the balance of eye muscles can all contribute to a conclusive diagnosis that will finally determine the treatment and cure of your facial pain.

One very special condition known as "tic douloureux" is responsible for excruciating pain of the face. This, too, must be ruled out. Once the diagnosis is made, the newer medications can control the severity and the frequency of your attacks.

Sometimes when I sneeze hard a hemorrhage follows in my left eye. It lasts for a few weeks and then disappears.

Is this dangerous?

Mr. P. B., Tex.

Dear Mr. B.:

These are known as "conjunctival hemorrhages."

The conjunctiva is a thin, delicate covering of the outside of the eye. A forceful sneeze can break a tiny blood vessel and then a small amount of blood seeps under the conjunctiva.

It takes a long time for the blood to be absorbed. There is, however, no danger of impairment of vision.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH.....Cotton tip applicators are often too firm and may injure the ear canal. They should be used in the ear with the greatest caution.

Opening lead - king of hearts.

Here is a fascinating hand from Spotlight on Card Play by Robert Darvas and Paul Lukacs.

West leads the king of hearts, East playing the five, and South's problem is to give himself the best chance for the contract.

First, let's assume South wins with the ace and tries a diamond finesse. In that case East wins, returns a heart, and South finds himself kaput. He goes down one.

Next, let's assume South ducks the king of hearts, playing the three on it. (This play is known as the Bath Coup.) If West continues with a heart, South makes an extra trick and gets home quite easily, but if West is an experienced player, he will not play another heart, for he can reasonably conclude that South has the A-J.

Instead, West would shift to the queen of spades and continue the suit until South took the ace. Eventually South would go down one, losing a heart, three spades and a diamond.

Declarer's proper play at trick one is to drop his jack on West's king! West would be a mighty shrewd cookie to stop leading hearts after this play.

He would naturally assume that South's heart holding was the A-J alone, which would be consistent with East's having the 6-5-3 and signaling encouragement with the five.

West would almost surely lead another heart to force out the ace. South could now afford to win the truck and try a diamond finesse, this guaranteeing the contract whether the finesse won or lost.

It would be unfair to blame West for falling into the trap laid by South's extraordinary falsecard of the jack at trick one. Good plays occasionally pay off!

Weekend traffic crashes injure seven persons

Two Saturday traffic crashes sent a total of seven persons to Memorial Hospital for treatment of minor injuries, police and sheriff's departments reported. The two local law enforcement agencies investigated a total of eight traffic mishaps over the weekend in which five drivers were cited and property damage listed as heavy.

Four members of a Cedarville family were injured in a single car crash on Water Street, south of Temple Street, Saturday morning.

Police said Elizabeth A. Lawson, 30, driver of the car and three passengers, Marilyn M. Lawson, 9, Patricia N. Lawson, 7, and Rose Lawson, were all taken to the emergency room for treatment following the crash. All were released following treatment for minor cuts and bruises.

The Lawson car was southbound on Water Street when it ran off the right side and crashed into a utility pole. The 1967 model car was heavily damaged, officers said.

Mrs. Lawson was cited for reckless operation.

A two-car crash at the intersection of Ohio 41 and Parrott Station Road Saturday afternoon sent three members of a Westerville family to Memorial Hospital with injuries.

Released following treatment were Loise A. Ide, 27, Lori A. Ide, 6, and Phillip K. Ide, 7, all passengers in a car driven by Stephen C. Ide, 29. He was also injured but not treated at the time.

The accident occurred when an eastbound car driven by Theodore D. Craig, 27, Rt. 4, pulled from the stop sign on Parrott Station Road, into the path of the northbound Ide car, sheriff's deputies said.

Craig was cited for failing to yield the right of way. Both cars were extensively damaged.

Other crashes investigated were:

POLICE

SATURDAY, 2 p.m. — Elvin E. Jones, 47, Mount Sterling was cited for failure to yield the right of way in a collision with a car driven by Edith I. McNeil, 69, Rt. 3, on Columbus Avenue at the entrance to Carroll Halliday Inc.; damage extensive.

SUNDAY, 3:08 p.m. — Marvin Clames, 49, Franklin, was cited for failure to maintain an assured clear distance after a collision with the rear of a car driven by Cathy A. Newbrey, 21, of 2011 Heritage Dr.; damage moderate.

SHERIFF

SUNDAY, 1 a.m. — A car driven by Robert R. Patterson, 20, Atlanta, went out of control and hit a fence on Bloomingburg-New Holland Road, north of Washington-Waterloo Road, when he attempted to stop to avoid a dog in the road; damage moderate.

SUNDAY, 6:49 a.m. — Edward E. Murphy, 21, Columbus, lost control of his car on U.S. 62, just south of Washington C.H., and hit two mailboxes; damage moderate.

SUNDAY, 5:10 p.m. — James R. Matthews, 18, of 1225 N. North St., was cited for reckless operation after his car ran off Ohio 729 two miles south of Jeffersonville and damaged two rods of fence on the Eunice Merritt farm; damage moderate.

SUNDAY, 6:15 p.m. — A parked tractor-trailer rig rolled backwards on the Stop 35 lot, U.S. 35 and I-71, hitting a guardrail and knocking a hole in the garage wall; damage moderate.

Stereo equipment reported stolen

A 40-year-old Washington C. H. man was arrested on a petty larceny charge as police and sheriff's deputies investigated a variety of complaints over the weekend.

Police said Homer P. Anders, of 726 S. North St., was charged with petty larceny in a complaint filed by Dorothy Knisley, of 626 S. Fayette St. Saturday.

She claimed that Anders stole her husband's coat from her car parked behind the home. She told officers her children has chased Anders and retrieved the coat, valued at $10.

Allen Willoughby, 805 Lincoln Dr., reported the theft of a stereo tape player and 70 stereo tapes, all valued at $295 from his car. Police said the theft occurred Saturday night while the unlocked car was parked at Willoughby's home. Two tape cases were also taken.

A gasoline engine valued at $95 was stolen from a storage shed at the intersection of U.S. 62 and Greenfield-Sabina Road sometime during the past month. Sheriff's deputies said the engine was property of Robert's Electric, of 742 Highland Ave.

Five windows in a house under construction of 726 Columbus Ave. were shot out last weekend. Joe Denen of 128 E. Paint St., told police the windows were valued at $44.

Sharon Downard of 710 E. Paint St. reported th theft of a bicycle from her home Friday night. The bicycle was valued at $40.

Ohioan hospitalized in motorcycle crash

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Larry Darr, of Mansfield, Ohio, was one of three motorcyclists hospitalized with broken bones during the 200-mile Daytona Classic Sunday.

Also hospitalized was Mark Brelsford of Woodside, Calif., reigning U. S. champion.

Exhibitors set record at gun show

Balmy weather brought the flea marketeers out in unexpected numbers Saturday and Sunday for the Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collectors Association show at the Fairground here.

Since this was the last of the winter shows, few, if any, of the nomadic hobbyists were expected here for a flea market. However, the weather changed that and 84 set up a flea market outside Saturday and 46 more came in Sunday. This was far fewer than turn up for a summer flea markets, but was probably a record for a winter show.

Nearly 180 collectors packed the Mahan and Fine Arts buildings with a wide variety of displays. This month's show was to feature coins and antiques, and there were some fine collections of each, but Association President Kenneth Craig said that probably the most outstanding single exhibit was a Miquelet muzzle loading gun, which was used by many pioneers from about 1740 and 1800s. It was a percussion rifle with the spring outside and the second type of flintlock.

Spectators swarmed the two buildings and the flea market area around them both days.

The next show — the first of the summer shows which include the flea market — is scheduled for April 14 and 15.

The competition will be for "bench rifles," the guns made especially for target competition among the pioneers. Craig explained that they were too heavy for squirrel hunting and received their name because they were laid across a bench to steady them in competition.

WCH Jaycees attend state convention

Dick Anthony, president, and five other Washington C. H. Jaycees attended the all-state convention during the weekend in Akron. Accompanying Anthony were Wes Wilson, Ernie Wilson, Dale Burler, Dan Armbrust and Jim Benson.

The outstanding young citizen and outstanding young educator programs featured the Saturday banquet.

An environmental action program highlighted the quarterly meeting. Environmental specialists from throughout the country participated in the forums.

Bloomingburg Masonic lodge has inspection

BLOOMINGBURG — Thirteen past masters and several distinguished Masons attended the annual inspection of the Bloomingburg Masonic Lodge No. 449 Saturday evening.

Donald E. Grieves was the candidate for the inspection in the Master Mason degree by Malcolm H. Grady of Williamsport, the eighth district deputy grand master representing Grand Master Dale E. Fox. He assured the lodge it would receive a "very good rating."

Among the distinguished Masons attending the inspection were District Deputy Grand Master Royce L. Pauley of Jamestown, Virgil Lowe of Washington C. H., and Walter Graham and Howard Sheets of Fairborn, all three past deputy grand masters.

Officers of the lodge are Garry McConnaughey, worshipful master; Russell Oberschlake, senior warden; Daniel Terhune, junior warden; Harold McConnaughey, secretary; Roy Thompson, treasurer; Daniel Thompson, senior deacon; James T. Perrill, junior deacon; Clark Thompson, chaplain; Ronald Burke, senior steward; Jeffery Thompson, junior steward; Wilbur Rapp, tyler; Leonard Slager, marshall; and education officer, John Cook.

Refreshments were served to 105 members of the lodge here and visitors following the inspection.

BB pellet injures girl

A 12-year-old Bloomingburg girl was treated in Memorial Hospital for a wound on her forehead suffered when she was struck by a BB pellet Sunday afternoon.

Sheriff's deputies said Karla E. Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Johnson, and her younger brother were playing with an air rifle when he fired the gun. The pellet hit the girl in the left side of the forehead.

Her brother said he thought the gun was unloaded.

She was released after treatment in the emergency room.

Staunton-Olive PTO sets skating party

The Staunton-Olive Parent-Teacher Organization has scheduled a skating party at Roller Haven Wednesday evening to raise money to buy a piano for the Staunton School. The piano at the Olive School is considered in fair condition and still in use. The party, which will include cakewalks and other features, will be from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Chamber groups list activities

This week is a busy week for the Washington C. H. Area Chamber of Commerce and affiliated organizations, with several meetings on schedule.

Activity began Monday when Chamber and Community Improvement Corp. representatives met for a breakfast work session. They reviewed plans to attend the Ohio Chamber's annual Legislature Meeting Wednesday in Columbus. Various legislative and industrial leaders will confer at the meeting. Jerry Sheppard, Chamber president, and George Winkle, CIC president, will head the local delegation.

The Chamber educational committee meets at 4 p.m. Monday to discuss plans for Business - Industry - Education programs to be held for seniors at both Washington Senior and Miami Trace High Schools.

The Downtown Business Association will hold its monthly meeting at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Chamber office, according to chairman Jim Ward. Current and upcoming activities and promotions are on the agenda.

Physical fitness club to organize

The first 4-H Physical Fitness Club in Fayette County will organize at the Miami Trace High School Gymnasium at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The club will center its activities on wrestling with youngsters learning the basics of the sport.

Chuck Wallace, head wrestling coach at Miami Trace, will coordinate the program with assistance from several former wrestling team members. The youngsters will learn the value of exercise and good nutrition preparing them to meet the challenges of the future as well as today.

Boys from 9 to 19 are invited to join and learn first hand how to maintain their physical well being through sport, competition, sensible eating and exercise.
